Roosevelt Cuts Gold in Dollar Today

READY TO SIGN BILL AND ISSUE PROCLAMATION

Final House Action Paves Way.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—With the monetary bill scheduled to be signed tomorrow President Roosevelt, it was learned tonight, has completed a proclamation reducing the gold content of the dollar to a valuation of 60 cents.

The understanding in official circles is that the President will issue the proclamation establishing the "Roosevelt dollar" immediately after signing the bill tomorrow.

The house today accepted the senate amendments to the bill without any objection being raised thereto, thus eliminating the necessity of sending the measure to a conference committee of the two houses. The circumstances of the house acquiescence emphasized the complete control of legislation exercised by the President.

Senate Amendments Satisfactory.

"The President called me on the telephone this morning," Speaker Rainey told reporters, "and said the senate amendments are entirely satisfactory to him."

The speaker passed the word to Democratic Floor Leader Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, with the result that shortly after the house met the bill as passed by the senate was perfunctorily accepted by the house. Speaker Rainey signed it during the afternoon. Inasmuch as the senate was not in session today it cannot be signed by Vice President Garner until tomorrow noon, but soon after that hour it will be on its way to the White House.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau completed preparations late this afternoon to establish the new monetary system and begin operations with the two billion dollar stabilization fund to keep the dollar from appreciating in foreign exchange. He has numerous executive orders ready to issue in order to effect the monetary new deal.

Leaves Gold in Bank V[illegible]

The government will t[illegible] the 3 billion 600 million gold in the federal re[illegible] but will leave the gold ph[illegible] n the banks.

As soon as the President proclaims the devaluation of the dollar the four billions of gold, as now valued, in the possession of the government will be revalued at six and two-thirds billions. By this financial sleight of hand the government will pick a paper profit of two and two-thirds billions out of thin air.

Of this gold value increment two billion dollars will be placed at once at the disposal of the secretary of the treasury with which to buy and sell foreign exchange and government securities and do other things which altogether will make the treasury something akin to a central bank and 42 year old Secretary Morgenthau the most powerful financial dictator in the world.

International Poker Game.

With 2 billion dollars' worth of blue chips stacked in front of him, young Mr. Morgenthau will proceed to sit into the greatest international poker game in history.

Facing him will be Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, with stacks of blue chips in front of him valued at 1 and three-quarters billion dollars. With his chips Mr. Morgenthau will manipulate the dollar in foreign exchange. With his chips Mr. Chamberlain will manipulate the pound sterling.

It is going to be a Gargantuan contest, the outcome of which will be watched by the entire world with intense interest. What the administration hopes will happen is that before the contest shall have progressed very far the British will find it to their advantage to accede to the President's desire to effect an international agreement on the stabilization of currencies on a new basis of valuation. The upshot may be a reconvening of the London economic conference which broke down when the President, last July, refused to enter into a currency stabilization agreement.

When asked whether a currency war with Britain is imminent, Mr. Morgenthau replied:

Titmouse as Sir Lancelot Surprises Self

(Picture on page 3)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAMBRIDGE, England, Jan. 29.—All England tonight is singing the praises of Percy Titmouse, Esq.; praises somewhat tinged with envy.

Out from the turrets of old Cambridge Titmouse rode toward Norfolkshire. He traveled the ancient highway which once rang with the proud hoofbeats of Sir Lancelot's charger.

No panoply nor pomp marked Titmouse's going; no clanking of armor or bits or stirrups. No guidon snapped in the breeze from uptilted lance as when Sir Lancelot rode.

Mind Was on Beer.

For Titmouse drove an auto described by one conservative witness as "a smallish car in the lower price class." It was, in fact, a ten horse power machine. As he passed the pleasant hedges Titmouse was thinking of beer; he was thinking of business, as he is a brewer's man who travels about seeing that pubs, inns, taverns, and taprooms are supplied with foaming libations.

Then, just this side of Ely, he found a lady in distress beside the historic road. Two men in livery waved him down near a large auto that would not budge from the spot where it balked.

"I say," said Mr. Titmouse with nonchalance, "having trouble? I might be able to do a bit. I might carry a message or something."

Recognizes Lady in Distress.

Suddenly Titmouse lost his nonchalance. He recognized the lady in distress as Mary, queen of England, consort of George V, "of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions beyond the seas, King, defender of the faith and emperor of India."

Her majesty, who was journeying from Sandringham palace to Cambridge to do some shopping, desired to continue. So Mr. Titmouse gallantly wheeled his car about, assisted her majesty and her lady in waiting, Lady Ethel Ann Desborough, to enter, and returned. A crowd had gathered in front of the shop where the queen was to do her buying.

Be Gone! Says Policeman.

A policeman was on duty. When the little Titmouse car drew up in the parking place he imperiously waved it away.

Then he, too, looked again and changed his wave to a salute.

He opened the door, Queen Mary and Lady Ethel alighted and entered the shop, and Mr. Titmouse drove away.

"Well," said the knight of the old Cambridge road, "Her majesty was very grateful and expressed her thanks personally."

It was all Sir Lancelot—horse, armor, and all—could have done.

BREAK IN ZERO WAVE WILL BRING RELIEF TO CHICAGOLAND TODAY

Though subzero temperatures still lingered in suburban districts and nearby towns, Chicagoans were promised relief from the severe cold wave today. Weather Forecaster C. A. Donnel predicted that the zero wave would be definitly broken today and that temperatures of 15 or 20 degrees above zero would prevail by late afternoon.

A return to normal temperatures of about 25 degrees was forecast for tonight and Wednesday morning, completely ending the frigid wave which gripped Chicago Sunday afternoon and sent the mercury to the second lowest mark registered this winter. The lowest official reading was 7 degrees below zero at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

Subzero temperatures still prevailed last night in nearby towns, the lowest being 12 below at Libertyville.

Eighty-eight fire alarms were received by the fire department during yesterday. By 9 o'clock last night 13,484 homeless men had been furnished with a cot and blankets at the 19 shelters operated by the Illinois emergency relief commission. During the day the commission's kitchens served 28,446 meals.

U. S. to Send Millions of City Idle to Farms

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A million idle Americans and their families, whose economic futures look so dark that they may never again be able to earn a living, will soon be transplanted by the federal government to government subsidized farms and communities, Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief director, revealed today.

Behind the plan to uproot relief roll families from their homes and move them into communities or farm areas launched by the government is the Utopian dream of radical brain trusters, led by Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, for the planned society of the future. Many of the families which are to be moved will come from Illinois and Indiana, Mr. Hopkins indicated.

Sees Big Cities Dwindling.

Great cities like Chicago are doomed to dwindle within the next 50 years because of this decentralization of industries and communities which the government plans to stimulate, Mr. Hopkins said. Plucking families which appear to be hopelessly mired in idleness out of their city tenements the government will spend millions of dollars moving them to new communities.

Some will be settled on small plots of submarginal land which the government soon will start buying through a 25 million dollar easy money fund. On these plots the transplanted city and farm workers will be given an opportunity to raise most of their food but not to engage in commercial farming in competition with existing farms. In all probability the government will underwrite them for the first few years, spending the money which otherwise would go out through relief doles, Mr. Hopkins said.

Work Projects to Be Provided.

Work would be created in nearby government forests or in new small communities either built up by the government itself or by the natural decentralization of industry.

Those given work in forests and on government grazing lands will be paid by the government for part time reforestation, clearing, and similar work.

Those for which work is to be created in new communities present a more difficult problem, Mr. Hopkins said. The government may actually have to subsidize new small community industries which would then go into competition with the huge established businesses.

LOUIS NEEDS A BARREL AFTER TAX OFFICE VISIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 29.—Unable to produce the coin of the realm for which the tax collectors were dunning him, Louis Deshouillieres, 70, today paid his impost in a novel though slightly uncomfortable way — especially for January. Tired of the tax officials' threats, he dressed in his Sunday best today and went to the tax office.

"I understand you won't wait any longer," he told the tax collector, who growled that he was right. "All right, here you are," he said, peeled off his coat, vest and pants and stalked out.

Shivering in his underwear, he tried to get home unobtrusively, but newspaper photographers caught him and tomorrow he will have a picture of his heavy woolens in all the papers.

INDIANANS BEAT WRIT BY HOUR; GUNMAN RAGES

Extradition of Three Pals Granted.

BULLETIN.

John Dillinger, captured Indiana desperado, who was spirited out of Douglas, Ariz., at 12:14 o'clock this morning (Chicago time) in an American Airways plane, will arrive at an air field in or near Chicago (probably the Chicago airport) about 4:45 o'clock this afternoon, according to latest word. The journey from Douglas is about 2,019 miles. Squads of Chicago police, heavily armed, will meet the plane and escort Dillinger and his Indiana guards to East Chicago, Ind., where they will turn the desperado over to Indiana police. The Indiana detail will then take Dillinger to the county jail at Crown Point or the prison at Michigan City to be held for trial.

BULLETIN.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 30 (Tuesday.)—(AP)—The American Airways regular night plane bearing John Dillinger, midwest gang leader, and four Indiana officers, arrived in El Paso at 2:24 a. m., Central Standard time.

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Indiana officers beat a habeas corpus writ by an hour today when they loaded John Dillinger, screaming and kicking, into an airplane and started home with him.

At 7:15 o'clock tonight Superior Judge Fred W. Pickett signed an order, returnable at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow, calling on Arizona officers to produce Dillinger, Harry Pierpont, Russel Clark, and Charles Makley in court to show why they should not be released.

But Dillinger was well on his way back to Indiana to stand trial for the murder of Policeman Patrick O'Malley in a bank robbery at East Chicago Jan. 15. Attorney John L. Van Buskirk went to the county jail to serve the writ, only to find the Indiana officers had taken advantage of an extradition order signed by Gov. B. B. Moeur earlier in the day and had flown away with the boss desperado.

Will Delay Return of Three.

It was said, however, that the writ would serve to delay extradition of the other mobsters held here at least until afternoon in spite of the fact that Gov. Moeur tonight signed orders for their extradition. He also ordered Mary Kinder extradited.

Action of Gov. Moeur in giving Indiana officials a requisition for the return of Dillinger thwarted the plan of the bandit-killer and his three confederates to go voluntarily to Wisconsin, where they are charged with the robbery of the American Trust and Savings bank in Racine on Nov. 20.

All four of the gangsters signed extradition waivers presented to them this morning by the Wisconsin officials, but Clarence Houston, Pima county attorney, refused point blank to turn any of the prisoners, captured here last week, over to Wisconsin.

Wisconsin Off List.

"To hell with Wisconsin," he declared. "I wouldn't hand the gang over to that state's officials under any consideration."

Indiana officials, led by Capt. Matt Leach of the state police, also want Pierpont, Makley, and Clark. This trio took part with seven others in the Michigan City prison break last September, but Leach has promised to turn Pierpont over to Ohio authorities. All three are wanted also at Lima, O., for the murder of Sheriff Jess Sarber, slain when they freed Dillinger.

As soon as he learned that the four gangsters had signed the extradition waivers permitting their removal to Wisconsin, Capt. Leach sent one of his men by plane to the state capital at Phoenix to urge Gov. Moeur to grant extradition papers to Indiana.

The papers for Dillinger were brought back here by plane, and with a speed which bewildered local authorities, the gang leader was whisked from jail to the airport. Twenty minutes later Dillinger had been placed, handcuffed, in a plane, accompanied by Carroll Holley, undersheriff of Lake county, Ind., and Nicholas Makar, East Chicago police chief, and started eastward. Robert G. Estill, Lake county prosecutor, and Hobart Wilgus, East Chicago detective, followed in a second plane.

"Where's my mouthpiece?" Dillinger shrieked as he was placed aboard the plane. "He told me this was the

STATE WITNESS AGAINST TOUHY GANG VANISHES

Another One Shows Fear on Stand.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

The disappearance of one state's witness and the apparent fright of another, a woman, on the witness stand yesterday momentarily halted the trial in Judge Michael Feinberg's court of Roger Touhy and three of his gangsters who are charged with the kidnaping of John Factor, wealthy speculator.

James Wagner, proprietor of a River road saloon north of Des Plaines, where Touhy and his men had been accustomed to assemble, was the witness who disappeared. His wife told the court that her husband, who had been taken under guard to the Palmer house for safekeeping by the state last Friday, left the hotel about 4 p. m. Sunday and did not return. He told her he was going to get some reading matter, she said.

Warned Not to Testify.

Wagner had been expected to testify concerning a meeting of the Touhy gang in his saloon a few hours before Factor was kidnaped last July 1. He had been subpoenaed as a witness on Jan. 13 and, according to reports, had received a warning not to testify. He and his family were moved to the Palmer house, where they stayed until Wagner disappeared.

Wagner had been known as a friend of Touhy and his gang. His disappearance may have been voluntary, investigators for the state admitted. The trial was halted while Judge Feinberg issued a writ of attachment for Wagner's arrest.

Woman Balks on Stand.

A few minutes previously there had been another halt in the proceedings when Mrs. Clara Czech, housekeeper of the Glenview house in which Factor was confined for the first 24 hours after his abduction, refused to identify Roger Touhy and the other defendants —Edward McFadden, Gustav Schaefer, and Albert Kator—as occupants of the house during the period from June 17 to June 30, when she had cooked meals in the place.

Last October Mrs. Czech had positively identified the gangsters and her change of testimony was unexpected to the state. Prosecutor Wilbert F. Crowley asked for a recess and told the court that the state had been "taken by surprise" by Mrs. Czech's refusal to identify the defendants. He asked the judge to recall her to the stand as a court's witness in order that the state might cross-examine her as to her reasons for changing her testimony.

Her Disappearance Recalled.

The prosecutor recalled that Mrs. Czech disappeared for two weeks last December and was found by the state in Wisconsin. She was brought back at that time and has been kept in a hotel since then under a state's attorney's guard.

Over the objections of Defense Attorney William Scott Stewart, Judge Feinberg recalled Mrs. Czech to the stand as the court's witness, the state thus being relieved of the responsibility of vouching for her answers and being permitted to cross-examine her.

Mrs. Czech, a gray-haired woman, somewhat bewildered and obviously frightened, confessed that she had identified the Touhy gangsters in a sworn statement last October.

Nervous Then, She Says.

"But I was very nervous then," she said. "I didn't know what I was doing."

"Have you talked to any one about this case?" she was asked.

"Nobody," she insisted.

"Are you afraid, Mrs. Czech?" was the next question.

She hesitated, then replied somewhat defiantly that she was not. She continued in her refusal to give positive identifications of the defendants, however, and was finally excused.

Mrs. Czech's unwillingness to testify and the disappearance of Wagner revived all the reports that every sort of influence would be used by the powerful Touhy gang to assist their leader and his three co-defendants, who are fighting for their lives in this trial. The guard about the courtroom was tightened.

Henrichsen on the Stand.

W. A. [Buck] Henrichsen, a former county highway policeman, who joined the Touhy gang as a beer truck driver in 1926, had been the main witness of the day previous to these two developments.

The war between the Touhy gang and the Capone syndicate for control of the northwest part of Cook county was depicted clearly to the jury during Henrichsen's examination. The defense introduced the subject as a part of its contention that the Factor kidnaping charge was falsely brought against the Touhys through the influence of the Capone gang.

The former policeman proved an agreeable witness, no matter which side was examining him. He pictured the Touhys, at Attorney Stewart's behest, as peaceable business men imposed upon by the Capone gang, but under redirect examination by the state, he admitted that the Touhys were fully as tough as their rivals.

TESTIMONY IN DETAIL

Taking the stand for the state at the opening of the morning session, Henrichsen testified that he had been under guard at the Oak Park Arms hotel in Oak Park since he had been arrested Jan. 9 by Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney.

"Do I have to point?" he inquired apprehensively when asked to identify Roger Touhy in court. Instructed to do so, he extended his finger hesitatingly, and with a look of apology, at his former boss.

Henrichsen left his job as a highway policeman about seven years ago to drive a beer truck for Touhy, he testified. He received a salary of $100 a week in summer and from $50 to $60 a week in winter. Later he became a guard over Touhy's two children. He told how he watched the children at play, standing guard with a shotgun.

Acts as Renting Agent.

On several occasions he acted as a renting agent for Touhy, he said, renting houses which were to be turned into small breweries, and, in one instance, he rented a place in Park Ridge which, he said, he understood was "a house for keeping men," apparently using this euphemistic phrase to avoid use of the word "kidnaped."

In June, 1933, he testified, he rented the Glenview house identified by Factor as the place where he was first kept by his kidnapers. Henrichsen was asked to do this by one "W. Burns" who was introduced to him by Touhy, he said. Burns was later identified as McFadden, one of the defendants.

On the afternoon of last June 30, Henrichsen said, only a few hours before Factor was kidnaped at the Dells roadhouse, the Touhy gang assembled for a conference in Roger Touhy's home near Des Plaines. Present, he testified, were Touhy, Kator, Schaefer, "Ice Wagon" Connors, Tim Tribbles, later slain in a shooting match outside the Chicago Teamsters' union headquarters on Ashland avenue; Willie Sharkey, since a suicide; "Porky" Dillon, and others.

Adjourn to Wagner Saloon.

The gangsters, after some discussion in which Henrichsen did not take part, adjourned for a later meeting at Wagner's saloon, the witness said. He went home while this meeting was still in progress, he said.

During the next four or five days the Touhy gangsters were absent from their usual haunts, he testified. Somewhat mystified, Henrichsen went from place to place looking for his friends but did not find them until July 5 when they were again about as usual.

There was no mention of the Factor kidnaping by any of the Touhys, Henrichsen testified. He read about the kidnaping in the newspapers but had no suspicion, he declared, that his fellow gangsters might be implicated.

On July 12, he declared, Sharkey borrowed his automobile, a convertible cabriolet, and was absent for several hours. The state's inference here was that Henrichsen's car was used by Sharkey to collect the $70,000 ransom from Dr. Herman M. Soloway on that date. Dr. Soloway, Factor's physician, said the two men to whom he gave the money were in a car of that type.

Touhy Gives Him $1,000.

Two days later, without warning, Touhy handed him $1,000 in ten and twenty dollar bills, Henrichsen testified, and remarked: "Buy yourself a new car." [The Factor ransom was paid in bills of those denominations.]

"I was tickled to death," said Henrichsen, "and I went home and told my wife."

"Did Touhy say where he got the money?" Prosecutor Crowley asked. Henrichsen answered in the negative.

"You knew that he had been hard pressed for money just before then, didn't you?" inquired Prosecutor Crowley, but Judge Feinberg upheld the defense objection to this question.

On July 15 Touhy informed Henrichsen that "the squads were riding around" and warned him to remain in hiding, he testified. Touhy himself departed with some of his aids for a Wisconsin trip which ended in their arrest on July 19 at Elkhorn. Henrichsen made a number of trips about the country to avoid arrest, he revealed, but was finally captured Jan. 9.

The state was barred from asking questions which would have brought out that these trips by Henrichsen were financed by Tommy Touhy, brother of Roger.

THE CROSS-EXAMINATION

In his cross-examination of Henrichsen, Attorney Stewart began to develop his theory that Factor was kidnaped by the Capone syndicate and the Touhys blamed for it.

Obviously nervous because of the scowls from the defense side of the counsel table where sat the four men who had formerly been his associates in the gang, Henrichsen displayed an almost pathetic eagerness to please the defense attorney by his answers.

Q.—Did you ever see John Factor in the Glenview house? A.—No.

Q.—Did you ever hear any mention by the Touhys of any intent to kidnap Factor? A.—No.

Q.—Did you ever notice anything to indicate that they had kidnaped him? A.—No.

A series of questions asked by Stewart brought admissions from the witness that when he first started working for Touhy, the latter employed no guards and none of his men went armed while distributing beer in their territory.

"Do you remember an occasion in 1932 when Murray Humphries saw Roger Touhy in Roger's basement?" Stewart asked.

"I was there but I didn't hear any of the conversation," responded Henrichsen.

Threat from Humphries.

"Didn't you hear Humphries tell Roger that he had his choice of doing business with Nitti [Frank Nitti, a Capone gang leader] or being shot in the head?" persisted the attorney.

"He says he heard none of the conversation," ruled Judge Feinberg when the state objected.

"But you knew then that the war was on, didn't you?" continued Stewart, and the witness answered, "Yes."

From that point on, Henrichsen admitted under questioning, Roger Touhy employed guards for himself and his family, and the Touhy gangsters went armed. On at least two occasions Touhy was nearly lured into ambush where men lay in wait for him to kill him, Henrichsen said.

Displaying his anxiety to "say the right thing" for the defense, Henrichsen readily agreed that the $1,000 gift to him was "an ordinary thing," and that Touhy had given him amounts of money previously to purchase trucks or automobiles.

"A Respectable Business Man."

Attorney Stewart then sought to bring out through Henrichsen's testimony a happy picture of Touhy as a respectable small town business man, boon companion of the mayor, member of the Elks in good standing, loving husband and devoted father.

The witness readily agreed that the Touhy beer business had been peacefully carried on until the threat of Capone invasion, said Touhy had been highly esteemed in Des Plaines and mentioned a number of business men, including the mayor of the town, who he said were friends of Touhy.

Nevertheless Attorney Stewart's "building up" of Touhy as a man of standing in Des Plaines at times occasioned ripples of amusement from the courtroom crowd. Asked to name some of Touhy's business friends, Henrichsen mentioned several, including one Jack Eaton, whom he identified as "grand exalted ruler of the Elks."

Stewart Offers Correction.

Judge Feinberg cast an inquiring eye at the witness when this statement was made, and Attorney Stewart hastened to remark:

"Don't denote Judge Feinberg. That's his title. You mean 'exalted ruler.'"

[The defense attorney himself was in error on this point, court attaches remarked. Judge Feinberg is past exalted ruler of Chicago lodge No. 4 of the Elks. Grand exalted ruler is the title of the national head of the organization.]

Henrichsen continued to give the names of Des Plaines business men who were friends of Touhy, and mentioned a man named Lorton as one of the gang leader's intimates.

"What does Lorton do for a living?" inquired Stewart.

"He sells cemetery lots," replied the witness. Even the glum-faced Touhy grinned in the general laughter that followed.

ELDER BREMER ILL FROM STRAIN OF NO WORD FROM GANG

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Frantic and ill as 13 days after his son's kidnaping, he was still without word from the abductors, Adolph Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker and brewer, issued today another public appeal to the captors of Edward G. Bremer.

"Please communicate with us," he said in a signed statement. "We want our son back. We are ready to negotiate and the money is ready if you will only tell us where to meet you."

The elder Bremer showed signs of breaking. Fear grew that kidnapers may have slain the 37 year old bank president, but his father still asserted he would return unharmed. Police and federal agents withdrew to facilitate a contact with the abductors.

ANOTHER TURN FOR STATE

After the cross-examination was over Prosecutor Crowley kept Henrichsen on the stand for redirect examination. The prosecutor attacked Attorney Stewart's picture of the Touhy gang as respectable business men.

"As a matter of fact, no Touhy man would go over the North avenue dividing line into Capone territory and no Capone man would dare come into Touhy territory, wasn't that the rule?" the prosecutor asked Henrichsen.

"That's right," said the witness.

Q.—Touhy and Capone just split up the county to suit themselves? A.—I guess so.

Q.—What would happen if any one came into Touhy territory? A.—I couldn't say.

Q.—If any one came in would he still be alive? A.—I guess not.

Just Touhy's Territory.

Q.—Who gave Roger Touhy the right to his territory? A.—I don't know. He just had it.

Q.—If the Touhys and Capones met it meant a shooting, didn't it? A.—Yes.

In response to other questions Henrichsen named Willie Sharkey, Albert Kator and others as "gunmen" for the Touhy gang, while he was just a "driver," he said.

"Touhy was the boss of his territory?" Prosecutor Crowley asked.

"He was the boss," the witness agreed emphatically.

"You're not unfriendly to Touhy right now, are you?"

"Well, we left friends," was Henrichsen's reply.

MRS. WAGNER TESTIFIES

Mrs. Adaline Wagner, wife of James Wagner, the vanished state's witness, took the stand at the afternoon session after the flurry over Mrs. Czech's refusal to identify the Touhy gangsters. Mrs. Wagner, a slender blonde in a blue dress, was questioned by Prosecutor Crowley.

Q.—Where do you live? A.—In Mount Prospect.

Q.—Where did you live in May, 1933? A.—On the North River road [north of Des Plaines.]

Q.—At that time did you live near the Touhy home? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you know the defendant, Touhy? A.—Yes, we were neighbors.

Q.—Can you point him out?

Mrs. Wagner, apparently remembering the disappearance of her husband, hesitated for some moments before she finally pointed a finger at Touhy.

Q.—Did you know any of Touhy's friends? A.—Yes, I knew Mr. Schaefer.

Q.—Did you know any of his other friends? A.—Yes [pointing at Kator], Louie was the name I knew him by.

Q.—Did you know McFadden? A.—Yes, but not so well.

Touhy Becomes a Visitor.

Q.—When did you open your place for business on the North River road? A.—May 2.

Q.—Did Touhy come often to your place? A.—Not so much during May but after that he came two or three times a week.

Mrs. Wagner said she saw the other defendants with Touhy at various times during June. She said she had heard of "Porky" Dillon but did not know him. She was then questioned about events immediately preceding the Factor kidnaping early on the morning of last July 1.

Q.—Were you home on June 30, 1933? A.—I did not get home until 5:30 p. m.

Q.—Did you see any men down in the bar in the basement? A.—I did not go to the basement.

Q.—Did you see Buck Henrichsen? A.—His wife came and called for him.

Sees Three Cars Leaving.

Mrs. Wagner again seemed reluctant to go on with her testimony, but she finally volunteered the information which Prosecutor Crowley was trying to get from her.

"I saw three cars pulling away when I looked out the window," she said. "I remember seeing Roger Touhy leave."

Q.—Where are you living now? A.—At the Palmer house since Friday.

Q.—Was your husband living there with you? A.—Yes.

Q.—When did you last see him? A.—Sunday afternoon.

Q.—About what time? A.—About 4 o'clock he went to get a couple of books and he did not come back.

Defense Attorney Stewart said he did not wish to cross-examine Mrs. Wagner and she was excused. Prosecutor Crowley then asked Judge Feinberg for a writ of attachment for the missing Wagner. It was issued and after this slight delay the trial was resumed.

TWO DEFENSE WITNESSES

Defense Attorney Stewart informed the judge that among his witnesses were an agent and a former agent of the federal department of justice who wished to be heard as soon as possible so they might return to their homes. Though the state has not yet completed its evidence Judge Feinberg instructed Stewart to put the two witnesses on the stand as a matter of convenience and they were then called as court's witnesses.

Through their testimony Attorney Stewart sought to show that Factor had never told the agents he had identified the four Touhy gangsters as his kidnapers. The attorney also used their evidence to point out that, though the defendants were brought to Chicago first after their capture at Elkhorn, they were tried for the kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., wealthy brewer, in St. Paul federal court before they were placed on trial in Chicago for the Factor kidnaping.

Federal Agent Questioned.

The first of these two witnesses was D. L. Smith, federal agent formerly assigned to Chicago, but now stationed in Alabama. He was questioned by Attorney Stewart.

Q.—You worked on both the Hamm and Factor cases for the government, did you not? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you came in contact with Factor during those investigations? A.—I saw him in our office.

Q.—Did Factor ever tell you he identified any of these defendants? A.—No.

Q.—After Factor had an opportunity to look at Touhy and the other defendants in this case, they were ordered sent to St. Paul to be tried in the Hamm case. Is that correct? A.—Yes, they were taken back to Elkhorn, where they were arrested, and then to St. Paul.

Quizzed on Kidnap House.

Q.—During your investigations did you learn of any house where Factor was supposed to have been held prisoner? A.—I learned of a house, but never saw it.

Q.—Where was that house? A.—Out in Glenwood; I don't know the number. [This apparently was a slip of the agent's tongue or memory since Factor has identified a Glenview house as the one where he was held captive].

Q.—You talked to Schaefer in jail and told him he was fortunate he was not identified in the Factor case. Isn't that true? A.—No, I didn't discuss identification in the least.

Prosecutor Crowley waived cross-examination of Smith.

Former Agent on Stand.

The second witness put on the stand by Attorney Stewart was R. T. Amos, who has resigned as a government agent and now lives in California. Amos testified that the Touhy gangsters had no objection to being taken to Chicago after their arrest in Elkhorn. He said that their removal to St. Paul for the Hamm kidnaping trial was the result of orders issued by Melvin H. Purvis, agent in charge of the Chicago office of the federal bureau of investigation.

Q.—[By Attorney Stewart.] Did you give these defendants some bottles of beer when they were at the detective bureau? A.—I should say not.

Q.—Were you present when they were given some bottles? A.—No.

Judge Feinberg questioned this line of examination and Attorney Stewart replied: "The materiality of this will appear later on." He refused to comment further on his remark.

Amos was dismissed from the stand and court was adjourned for the day. The prosecution indicated that today it will introduce evidence on the police trap that failed to catch two of Factor's kidnapers when they sought to collect additional ransom near La Grange.

SPENCER BROWN ORDERED FREED IN $1,000,000 THEFT

Downstate Judge Rules on Double Sentence.

"Dr." Spencer Brown, who is serving a sentence of one to ten years in Joliet prison for his part in the $1,000,000 robbery of the Werner Brothers safety boxes in 1928, was ordered freed yesterday by Circuit Judge Clyde H. Thompson at Pontiac. The court held that Brown had been deprived of an opportunity of serving his sentence because Cook county authorities turned him over to the government after his conviction and the government held him in a federal prison for 70 months.

The same point had been advanced in Brown's behalf before Judge Michael Feinberg in Chicago in September, 1932, and Judge Feinberg ruled that Brown must pay his debt both to the federal government and the state of Illinois and that Illinois had only temporarily relinquished its right to hold him when he went to Leavenworth prison. Brown was then taken to the Joliet prison.

Explains Jurisdiction.

Asked how he came to take jurisdiction over a Cook county convict, Judge Thompson said a petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed before him by the law firm of Stone & Wright of Bloomington, Ill. Asked why the law firm selected him, he said he supposed it was because they didn't want to go before Judge Taylor in their own county because Judge Taylor was formerly a partner of Stone.

Mr. Stone of the law firm said neither he nor his partner had handled similar cases before. He said they accepted the case after Brown had communicated with the firm from prison.

Posed as "Dentist."

Spencer Brown was a chemist and maker of false teeth before he began his criminal career. Posing as a dentist, he furnished alibis for several criminals before his own record became known. He was alleged to have been the master mind back of the Werner Brothers robbery, and when arrested his "office" at 1617 North Wells street was raided.

Police found he had been cooking nitroglycerin for safe blowers. They traced to him $24,000 of bonds taken in the Werner Brothers robber. At his home in Antioch, Ill., police found some stolen war savings stamps to which a chemical treatment had been applied to alter their serial numbers. It was for this offense that he was sentenced to Leavenworth.

He was convicted before Judge Marcus A. Kavanagh on March 21, 1924, the charge being receiving stolen property. He was then surrendered to deputy United States marshals and, while an appeal was pending, he was tried in the federal court before Judge Adam C. Cliffe. The state court's sentence meanwhile was affirmed, and in June, 1925, Judge Cliffe sentenced him to eight years in federal prison. He was released in 1932.

Upon his rearrest in Illinois a mittimus calling for his state imprisonment was found at the detective bureau. Brown sought freedom before Judge Feinberg. He went to prison, however, and was serving his sentence until yesterday.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Dan Jackson, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Herbert Schmidt, and Virgil Flerg, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Walter Engel, Charles Christoakos, and Alex Kusna, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary; Stanley Tatela, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Grover C. Niemeyer.

POLICEMAN SHOT IN QUARREL WITH ANOTHER OFFICER

Policeman Frank Minsa, 43 years old, 4742 South Artesian avenue, was shot in the head and seriously wounded last night by Policeman James Lawler, 5743 South Turner avenue, during an altercation in a gasoline filling station at 6701 South Western avenue. Supervising Captain John Prendergast immediately suspended Lawler and ordered him examined by a physician to determine his sobriety.

Both policemen were off duty at the time. Minsa, a patrolman at the Stockyards station, drove into the filling station to have some repairs made on his car. Lawler, who was still in uniform, although he had finished work at the New City station at 4 p. m., approached Minsa, not knowing he was a policeman because of his civilian clothes, and asked to be driven to a place he designated. Minsa refused and Lawler drew his service pistol and started firing, one of the bullets striking the other man below the left eye.

Marcel Bonas, an attendant at the station, seized Lawler and called for help. John Fugina, another employé, ran up and hit Lawler on the head. A third attendant, Paul Rogers, assisted. The three station attendants told Capt. Prendergast that Lawler was drunk.

HOOVER'S 'FRIEND' SUES A.W. CUTTEN FOR $50,000 FEES

Trader's "Ghost Writer" Tells of Propaganda.

John R. Mauff, former secretary and vice president of the Chicago Board of Trade, spent yesterday on the witness stand before Circuit Judge John Prystalski telling a jury about his activities as a propagandist and "ghost writer" for Arthur W. Cutten. He is suing the wealthy grain and stock speculator for $50,000 in payment for his services.

"Mr. Mauff was hired because of his influence and contacts with President Hoover, with whom he was closely associated when Mr. Hoover was secretary of commerce," declared Morris Townley, attorney for the plaintiff, in his opening statement to the jury. "He was hired to create public opinion and to obtain more favorable rules for the buying side in the grain market."

Mentions Hoover Association.

Mauff's own testimony, however, described no contacts with President Hoover, although he declared that the fact that as acting president of the board of trade he had been associated with Mr. Hoover in the wartime food administration was one reason why Cutten hired him.

Mauff did tell, however, how United States senators made visits to Cutten's office during which he told them what Cutten wanted; how he and Cutten called on Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture in the Hoover cabinet, at the Hotel Sherman; how he prepared propaganda "to appeal to the farmers" for another senatorial candidate, and how he wrote radio speeches for Cutten and endeavored to insert Cutten's propaganda in a series of biographical articles on the grain speculator's life and activities which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

Cutten in Court.

Cutten himself was in court throughout the hearing and is expected to take the witness stand when his defense is presented. He is hard of hearing and kept a hand cupped behind one ear as Mauff testified.

"I was hired by Mr. Cutten in 1929," Mauff said, "to write newspaper and radio articles and use my influence in Washington for favorable changes in the rules and laws applicable to trading in grain futures and to get a change in the federal grain futures act. Mr. Cutten was a large speculator and had heavy commitments."

Then, over objections by Attorney James G. Condon, representing Cutten, Mauff related the changes which Cutten wished effected in the act governing conduct of grain exchanges. All of them concerned the activities in the grain market of owners of public grain elevators. Cutten has carried on a feud with some of these operators for years, Attorney Condon told the court, stating that his client's attitude was a matter of public record.

Tells of Futures Operations.

"Trustees of public elevators who are permitted to compete against the public in the open grain market selected a better grade of grain for their own use and gave the poorer grade to the public on receipts for future delivery," Mauff said.

Cutten also objected to the high rates of storage, to the use of elevators 40 years old or more, which forced grain buyers to pay high insurance charges, and to the practice of delivering grain on future contracts in railroad cars instead of in a warehouse, forcing the consignee to pay demurrage charges.

"I had a conversation with Senator Thomas D. Schall of Minnesota in Mr. Cutten's office in the autumn of 1929," said Mauff. "Mr. Cutten summoned me to the office and after I had outlined what Mr. Cutten wanted, I told Senator Schall I would like his assistance in Washington in putting through a bill to amend the 1922 grain futures act. He said he would give me all the assistance possible and asked me to prepare the bill, which I did.

Confer with Senator Watson.

"Some time later I had a conference with Senator James Watson of Indiana in Mr. Cutten's office, and again recited Mr. Cutten's objections. Watson said, 'How would you like me to handle this in Washington—through the agriculture committee or through a special committee?' I said, I would like it to be through a special committee, because the agriculture committee has been slow to respond to our suggestions.'

"Cutten told me to come up to the Sherman House to see Secretary Hyde, as he would not go alone. I went and again recited Mr. Cutten's objections and emphasized that there had been a delay in Washington. Cutten was there himself, but took part in the conversation only in a minor degree, because he is hard of hearing. However, his influence was present.

Writes Radio Addresses.

"In the spring of 1932 Mr. Cutten asked me for a series of forceful articles requested of him by an Omaha broadcasting station. These articles were, on his instructions, strongly antagonistic to the federal farm board. He wrote not a syllable himself, but he said, after reading them: 'Good work, John. Give 'em hell.'

"In August, 1932, I was ill at home with a heart attack when Mr. Cutten phoned me and told me Boyden Sparkes, a Saturday Evening Post special writer, was in town and wanted a series of articles about him. Cutten said it was an opportunity for him to get these articles before the public, and an opportunity to show the speculator as a valuable part of the market.

Asks More Propaganda.

"Although I did not actually write the articles, my suggestions were evident in them. After being shown the first draft by Mr. Sparkes, Mr. Cutten said that they did not contain as much propaganda as he had wanted, but Mr. Sparkes told him he had to put in the human interest angle to get the public interested.

"On Jan. 3, 1933, I had a conversation with Mr. Cutten on my compensation. I said, 'The Hoover administration is out, and that means Secretary Hyde is out. I would like compensation for the work done.'

"Cutten told me his money was all invested and he didn't want to have to liquidate at that time in order to pay me. He told me, 'When we get a wheat market I'll put you in for 200,000 bushels.'

"At the same time he gave me more work to do, and had me write to Mr. Roosevelt, then President elect, explaining his position. Later, when President Roosevelt was in office, he had me write another and longer letter. At a conference in Mr. Cutten's office with Harry Ash, a former assistant attorney general for the state, Ash said that he was a very good friend of Marvin McIntyre, one of the President's secretaries, and that he would be certain that the letter got Mr. Roosevelt's immediate attention."

MRS. ROOSEVELT TO SERVE WINE IN WHITE HOUSE

It'll Be American; Hard Liquors Banned.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A first lady who is dry by habit and principle will be the first to serve wine in the White House since prohibition went into effect.

But thus far and no farther will White House custom conform to America's new freedom to drink what it pleases. At no time will distilled liquor of any kind be served, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt announced officially at her weekly press conference today.

And in any case, the new rules as to beverages won't go into effect for a while, for the Roosevelts are earnest Episcopalians. Ash Wednesday comes on February 14, halting all social functions. Liquor doesn't become legal in the District of Columbia until Feb. 15.

Makes Formal Statement.

Mrs. Roosevelt's formal statement of the New Deal amendment to White House custom was as follows:

"By the 15th of February it will become legal in the District of Columbia to serve wine. No distilled liquor at any time will be served in the White House. There will be no fixed rule as to the serving of wine, but when served there will be, of course, simple wines, preference being given to American wines."

What guests at the White House will be offered to drink has always been a matter left to the personal decision of the executive family. In the earlier days of the nation, hard liquors, wines, and beer were served as a matter of course by most administrations.

None Since Prohibition.

Since prohibition, no liquor, officially at least, has been served in the White House. Coolidge economy even eliminated punch and light refreshments at the official receptions. Guests were allowed to regale themselves with ice water. During the Hoover administration, the imposing array of White House glassware used for wine was packed and stored.

CATHOLIC PRIEST ASKS FOR PAROLE OF EX-MINISTER

The Rev. Father H. V. O'Brien, a Roman Catholic priest of Pekin, Ill., yesterday appeared before a subcommittee of the state board of pardons and paroles at the old Joliet penitentiary and pleaded for the liberty of a former Methodist Episcopal minister, James R. Wilson.

Three years ago Wilson shot and wounded the janitor of his church in Mendota when the latter threatened to lay before the church board a letter addressed to a widow by the minister. The letter had allegedly been written in apology for liberties Wilson had taken with the woman. The priest at this time had a parish in the same town.

Wilson was convicted in 1931 of assault with intent to kill, and was sentenced to serve from one to fourteen years in prison. He entered the penitentiary without making an appeal.

Father O'Brien told the parole board members that the former minister, now 63 years old and white haired, had paid his debt to society and that there could be no doubt that he would never again harm any person. The shot, he argued, was fired in a moment of passion in a desperate attempt to protect his wife, his family, his church, and his reputation. The janitor has long since recovered from the wound.

Evanston Council Allows George to Keep His Hens

The Evanston city council settled one weighty problem last night, and that was to grant permission to George Christiani to keep his flock of hens on his home grounds at 345 Sherman avenue. The question arose following complaints from a neighbor. Christiani presented a petition signed by eighteen neighbors holding the hens are not a nuisance.

MRS. CHAPIN, SOCIETY WOMAN, SHOT ON A DOVE HUNT, DIES

Thomasville, Ga., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A shotgun wound, accidentally inflicted Thursday while she was hunting doves, caused the death today of Mrs. C. Merrill Chapin Jr., prominent New York society matron and sportswoman.

Plans were made to take the body to New York on a train leaving here today.

Mrs. Chapin died in Archbold Memorial hospital shortly before noon. She had been given two blood transfusions.

While Mrs. Chapin's husband and two guests from New York were on the opposite side of the field in which the doves were being hunted, Mrs. Chapin sat down on a stool, one leg of which was believed to have sunk into the ground. A boy nearby said he heard the gun carried by Mrs. Chapin fire, and saw her slump to the ground.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The British Museum tonight announced it had received a cablegram from Archbishop Porphyrios of Sinai saying the monastery of Sinai claimed ownership of the Codex Sinaiticus, fourth century Bible manuscript which the British recently purchased from the soviet for $500,000.

Several London newspapers have charged that the "Codex" was "stolen," and the Daily Express today published an interview with Archbishop Porphyrios, in which he asserted the monks had been trying ever since the Russian revolution to obtain return of the Codex from Leningrad.

The museum authorities issued extracts from the "Die Sinai Bible," by Lobegott von Tischendorf, discoverer of the manuscript, saying a "deed of gift was signed in 1869, on the instigation of the Russian ambassador at Constantinople, by Archbishop Callistratos, and also the fathers of the Cairo and St. Catherine monasteries." According to the present archbishop of Sinai, the appointment of Callistratos was dependent upon his signing the deed, which, furthermore, insured continuance of payment of revenues from the Sinai monastery's Russian properties. The soviet, however, confiscated the properties.

POSER OF NUDES HELD TO JURY ON BAD CHECK COUNT

Harvey Raymond Spencer, 35 years old, 1312 East 53d street, who was released recently from the Bridewell where he served 6 months for luring eighty girls to his studio to pose in the nude on the promise of giving them jobs as models, yesterday was held to the grand jury in $1,000 bond. Mrs. Hazel De Vine, his landlady, testified that Spencer had given her two fraudulent checks, totaling $45. He disappeared from his apartment for several days, but returned Friday and was arrested by Hyde Park police.

TRAYLOR'S WIFE GIVES BLOOD TO HELP SAVE HIM

Banker's Resistance Is a Surprise to Doctors.

Surprising even his doctors, Melvin A. Traylor, pneumonia stricken president of the First National bank, continued to show improvement last night and early today after having been perilously near death yesterday morning. At 2:30 a. m. today he was reported asleep and "resting well."

During the afternoon he was given an injection of serum prepared from nearly a half pint of the blood of his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Traylor. He was given sedatives after that and immediately sank into a restful sleep which remained unbroken during the night. The serum injection—a precautionary rather than an emergency measure—is thought to have helped Mr. Traylor, but the attending physicians could not say so definitly last night.

Doctors Are Optimistic.

The doctors who have marveled at Mr. Traylor's recuperative powers, tested severely in three recent relapses, were inclined towards moderate optimism last night. Dr. William R. Cubbins, medical spokesman, expressed this attitude after the latest examination.

"Mr. Traylor is so much better than he was early in the day that we doctors are inclined to take a too optimistic view of his recovery," he said.

"It must be remembered, however, that Mr. Traylor is still a very sick man," continued the doctor. "We must admit though, that we are satisfied with his rapid improvement."

Dr. Cubbins said Mr. Traylor's progress was reflected in the color of his complexion, which changed during the day from "very bad" to "very good," and to the moderation of his pulse, and heart beat, and respiration. During the morning the banker's temperature was 102.2, his pulse 136, and his respiration 34. Last night his temperature was a fraction above 100, his pulse between 126 and 128, and his respiration between 26 and 30.

Decide to Try Serum.

The important improvement in the eyes of the physician was in Mr. Traylor's heart action. It was a sudden heart weakening Sunday night which brought him close to death's door.

During the day as Mr. Traylor revealed an upturn in his condition the doctors decided upon the blood serum. Mrs. Traylor's blood was selected because she had recently recovered from an attack of the disease which her husband is fighting. Physicians took nearly a half pint of her blood to St. Luke's hospital, where the red corpuscles and fibrin were extracted. The residue, consisting of white corpuscles, was then injected as serum.

Co-ed Trapped by Fire Leaps to Ground; Unhurt

Yellow Springs, O., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Trapped in a second floor room as fire swept a dormitory in zero weather at Antioch college early today, Elsie Newcomer, a co-ed, jumped to the ground and escaped unhurt. Seven other girls and their dean managed to flee down the stairs, scantily attired.

ALICE IS SUBDUED AS POLICE MATRON REMEMBERS SAMSON

A fighting fury is Alice Alexander when she's in the mood to fight, and her 270 pounds are so many pounds of pugnacious energy. But last night she took the count to a police interpretation of a Biblical episode.

Alice went on a rampage on the south side and, after being temporarily squelched by two police squads, was taken to the detective bureau by Policemen Michael Whalen and Charles Bartholomew.

While being taken in an elevator to the women's quarters, Alice suddenly became inspired again by her fighting mood. She launched into Joe Healy, the elevator operator, and between the third and sixth floors tore off his coat, ripped his shirt and mussed his hair. In the women's quarters she went after a couple of matrons, and in a cell tried to wrest the bars apart. How to stop Alice became a problem until Irene Shea, an attendant, offered a suggestion.

"Wasn't Samson made a weakling and quieted down when shorn of his hair?" she asked.

Whalen and Bartholomew pondered. They couldn't shear Alice's locks because she's colored and hasn't enough to brag about. So they tried a variation of the Samson idea. They took off her shoes. In two minutes Alice was asleep.

$25,000 DAMAGE AS FOUR STORY BUILDING BURNS

A four story brick building at 427 South Sangamon street was almost destroyed by fire last night. Damage was estimated at $25,000 by Battalion Chief Joseph Mackey.

The fire started on the second floor, which was occupied by the Kay Candy company, as is also the third floor. The Congress-Blue corporation, makers of blue prints, occupied the first floor and basement. The fourth floor was unused. It is believed the fire started from defective wiring.

Next door to the building, at 429 South Sangamon street, about 60 men and women were attending a meeting in the Union City mission when the fire broke out. A student from the Moody Bible institute was giving a sermon when a passerby notified the assemblage. The mission house did not burn, but the 20 missionaires who lived there were forced to spend the night at the Gospel League shelter, 432 South Peoria street.

6TH LOUISIANA HOUSE SEAT IS RULED VACANT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The house today declared the Sixth Louisiana district seat vacant, thereby barring either Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp or J. Y. Sanders Jr., the contestants, from taking the oath of office.

The house adopted the report from the elections committee which held there was no legal election and also a resolution calling upon Speaker Rainey to notify Gov. Allen of Louisiana that the seat is vacant.

Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana supported Mrs. Kemp, widow of the late Representative Bolivar E. Kemp, in her efforts to succeed her husband.

Mrs. Kemp and Sanders are in Louisiana.

Long did not appear on the house floor during the debate.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Evangeline Booth, commander in chief of the Salvation Army, was compelled by illness to postpone today departure on a 30,000 mile world tour.

MOB OF WHITES BATTLE NEGROES IN CUBA; 2 KILLED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Jan. 29.—Three hundred white persons at Trinidad, Santa Clara province, tonight launched an armed attack against the Negro population, which has been threatening to take over the government. While soldiers and police looked on, the whites sacked several large stores owned by rich and influential Negroes. They chased most of the Negroes out of the city.

One man was killed, and a large number of whites were wounded in the melee, according to reliable reports. A mob of whites lynched Juan Justo Proveyer, a Negro political chieftain.

Approximately 10,000 sugar laborers throughout the island struck today, according to estimates by Secretary of the Interior Felix Granados. All activities of the mills in Orients and Camaguey provinces were paralyzed just as the 1934 grinding season was getting into full swing.

CWA IN ILLINOIS FACES TROUBLE AS LEADERS QUIT

Relief Board to Withdraw Its Organization.

Howard O. Hunter, field supervisor of the federal civil works administration in six central western states, yesterday took over the administration of civil works projects employing 200,000 heads of families in Illinois. At the same time the resignation of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission as state civil works administrator was accepted by National Administrator Harry L. Hopkins in Washington, D. C. The resignation was submitted to Hopkins last Friday.

This morning Hunter will receive the resignations of most of the administrative officials who have been serving without pay in the Illinois CWA under the commission, it was learned last night. He will also be informed that use by the CWA of the commission's extensive accounting, auditing and county administrative facilities throughout the state may continue for only a short time. In this brief period Hunter faces the task of organizing an entire new set of bureaus to handle the work.

See Danger of Collapse.

The complete collapse of the Illinois civil works program was predicted by some of the officials who plan to sever their connections with the organization, unless the reorganization plans are put into effect rapidly by Hunter and his superiors in Washington. It was pointed out that two months were required to build the present CWA organization upon the already existing framework of the relief commission.

One of those who plan to inform Hunter of their resignations this morning is Frank D. Chase, executive director of the CWA in Illinois. Chase first served the state CWA as chief engineer, but in December was placed in direct charge of the program.

With Chase the members of the advisory staff of engineers, headed by Prof. W. C. Huntington of the civil engineering department at the University of Illinois, will offer their resignations. The advisory staff set up the organization of 1,200 engineers which is supervising CWA projects in the state.

Chase Tells His Decision.

The decision of Chase and the engineers' advisory staff to resign became known last night after the following telegram was sent by Mr. Chase to THE TRIBUNE:

"To correct statements in an afternoon paper, I wish to advise you that I have tendered my resignation as director and chief engineer of the civil works administration of Illinois, effective as soon as my work may be taken over in an orderly way. This action is taken in support of the resignation of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission as administrator of the civil works administration of Illinois, and is a protest against the influences which compelled the resignation of the commission."

Yesterday's developments arose directly from the appointment of Lieut. Col. Daniel I. Sultan, United States army engineer for the Chicago district, as CWA director in Cook county by Administrator Hopkins.

When Col. Sultan's appointment was announced on Friday the Illinois relief commission as a whole sent a telegram to Hopkins resigning the Illinois CWA administratorship. The members of the commission pointed out that Hopkins had appointed Col. Sultan without consulting them and after veiled allusions to CWA graft and political job dispensing had come from Washington in news dispatches.

Last night Robert J. Dunham, chairman of the commission, elaborated on the reasons for the commission's resignation when he was informed that the resignation had been accepted.

Calls Commission "Clean."

Mr. Dunham denied the published charges of graft, corruption, job favoritism and excessive assignment of trucks in the Illinois CWA. He said the state organization is "as clean as a hound's tooth."

He declared that the federal civil works administration is now engaged in "passing the buck" to a local organization which put 235,000 men to work in 30 days, and in doing so bought tools and materials for them to use. This job was done with no instructions from Washington, except "get the men to work at all cost," he said.

Mr. Dunham charged that all the trouble between the relief commission and the federal CWA arises from an attempt by Secretary of the Interior Ickes to discredit Illinois and Chicago Democratic leaders. He pointed out that Ickes is a Progressive Republican and that the spring primaries are in the offing.

Ickes' Control Near End.

The only bright spot in the Illinois CWA situation, Mr. Dunham said, is that public works administration funds, over which Secretary Ickes has control, will have been used up by the CWA this week, and that his influence over the CWA will cease. Additional funds for the CWA, now sought in congress, are to be appropriated directly to the CWA.

Mr. Dunham said he believes that Administrator Hopkins has no part in the "political subterfuge" which he charges to Secretary Ickes. He said the relations of Hopkins and the relief commission have been excellent.

He declared it his belief that Secretary Ickes has been responsible for the difficulties because it was investigators from the department of the interior who made the charges of graft and job favoritism, and it was Ickes, Mr. Dunham said, who insisted upon the appointment of Lieut. Col. Sultan as Cook county CWA administrator.

Shows a Campaign Letter.

In support of his contention that Secretary Ickes' purpose was to tear down the local Democratic organization to give the Progressive Republicans a better chance in the April primaries, Mr. Dunham displayed a letter sent out by the Progressive Republicans soliciting campaign funds and basing their appeal on the discrediting of Democrats that was going on.

He also mentioned a statement attributed to Postmaster General Farley that the administration intends to aid Progressive Republicans who have supported the President.

"I do not intend to allow my shoulders or the shoulders of the relief commission to bear any attacks on local political subdivisions," Mr. Dunham said. "If it is necessary to carry out my honest belief that there is no place in either direct relief or employment relief for political subterfuge I'll resign from the chairmanship of the commission."

Hopkins Ousts Entire CWA Executive Staff in Colorado

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The entire civil works administration staff in Colorado was summarily dismissed tonight by Harry L. Hopkins, CWA administrator, on a charge of "irregular, if not illegal proceedings."

This was the most drastic step yet taken by Mr. Hopkins in his house cleaning of the administration, following widespread charges of graft and political manipulation.

Wires His Discharge.

Mr. Hopkins telegraphed Herbert Fairall, civil works administrator for Colorado, discharging him and his entire administration. His telegram read:

"I find that project No. 135, which is a project to audit the books of the city of Denver, was approved by you and your commission. I find further that Mr. Ralph Mayo, a member of your commission, has been employed by the city of Denver to superintend this project and is receiving a fee from the city.

"The approval of this project seems to be altogether irregular, if not illegal. I am appointing Caspar D. Shawver civil works administrator in Colorado."

Majority Leader Byrns of the house said today that the 350 million dollar CWA allotment in the President's request should carry that organization up to May 1.

Representative Fish of New York moved to continue the CWA until May 15 and to increase the proposed appropriation to $450,000,000.

Sees Politics in New York.

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—It has been practically impossible for a Queens county man without a letter from a politician or other influential person to get a civil works administration job during the last weeks of registration, Borough President George U. Harvey said today.

"We have been amazed," Mr. Harvey asserted, "to find that hundreds of needy people, who have been registered since November, have gotten no jobs, while at the same time others, registering later, have quit jobs with private concerns to be placed almost immediately on the pay roll."

HORNER FORCES PREDICT VICTORY FOR LIQUOR BILL

House Vote Can Make It Effective Today.

Representatives of the Horner state administration both in Chicago and in Springfield expressed confidence yesterday that when the Illinois house of representatives meets this morning they will have a "substantial margin" above the 102 votes necessary for the passage of the liquor control bill as an emergency measure, making it immediately effective.

The conference committee bill, which already had passed the senate by a bare two-thirds, or 34 votes, was on the verge of defeat last Thursday when the majority forced a recess until tomorrow. That adjournment left the roll call suspended. So, parliamentarians say, it will be the first order of business when the house reconvenes.

Predict 110 Vote Majority.

When the recess was taken there had been 96 affirmative votes recorded—six short of the two-thirds of 102 which would prevent delay of enforcement until next July 1. Administration spokesmen, or at least some of them, now go so far as to predict that the total in favor of the bill may reach 110.

Chicago legislators departing for Springfield yesterday based the most substantial part of their calculations on predicted additional votes from Cook county. They included, especially, five members whose votes were not recorded last week. These five are John M. Bolton, Democrat, who was in a hospital a week ago, and four Republicans, Joseph E. Farina, Arthur E. Fischer, James J. McVicker, and Robert M. Woodward. The first three of these Republicans were absent last week but have promised, it is said, to be on hand to vote favorably on the control measure today.

See 103 Votes Lined Up.

The Chicago delegation also was cheered by reports from Springfield that two Democrats who were absent last week, Schaefer O'Neill of Alton and James T. Burns of Kankakee, will be present today and will vote for the bill. If all of last week's 96 are present when the house takes up the bill for the completion of the roll call, the seven mentioned would raise the total to 103.

In addition, word had been received that "several" downstaters—names not disclosed—who voted against the bill last week are ready for switch.

Holds Action Might Force Currency Inflation.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Federal loans to cities on the basis of tax anticipation warrants such as Chicago has been trying to arrange might force the federal government into currency inflation in order to supply the necessary money, Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, said today.

Throwing cold water on plans to have the RFC buy municipal tax warrants, Chairman Jones said that even if the bill now pending in congress to make such purchases legal is passed, the RFC will not buy many warrants.

Beside criticizing tax warrant purchases, Mr. Jones frowned on the suggestion that the RFC make loans direct to businesses. He said the RFC will not ask congress for power to make such business loans.

Many Applications Received.

So many applications for municipal loans and business loans have poured in upon the RFC that if they were fulfilled the government might "have to start the printing presses," Mr. Jones said. Money would be paid out by the treasury faster than it could be raised by taxes or borrowing.

Officials of the RFC have already talked over the proposal of buying municipal tax warrants and decided that they will not do so to any great extent even if the necessary enabling legislation is passed, Chairman Jones said. The question had been raised by Chicago and other cities seeking federal loans.

Turning to the proposal that the RFC make direct advances to businesses for operating and pay roll purposes, Chairman Jones reiterated his previous objections to the plan.

Work Through Companies.

Without asking for new legislation authorizing direct industrial loans, the RFC, Mr. Jones said, will push ahead along its present line of activity which is to make loans to industries through mortgage loan companies. The loan companies then have to underwrite, investigate, and service the loans.

Although there have been floods of inquiries about direct business loans, Mr. Jones said that none of them had come from large businesses.

PRESIDENT WILL SIGN AND ACT ON GOLD BILL TODAY

Ready to Fix Dollar at 60 Cents.

tions with Britain have been initiated, he said:

"I can truthfully say that we have not said a word to Great Britain thus far, but if you ask me that next time I see you [Thursday] I shall have to decline to answer."

The stabilization operations will be conducted in the utmost secrecy. There will be a different expert handling the operations in each exchange, pounds, francs, etc., no one of whom, according to the setup, will have knowledge of the whole operation. Only Mr. Morgenthau will know that—and presumably the President.

Vandenberg Votes for Bill.

The vote of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], for the monetary bill occasioned no end of comment among the politicians. Some thought it would improve his chances of reelection next fall. Others opined it would spike whatever chance he might have of being considered for the Republican nomination for President in 1936, for which numerous friends have been booming him.

Senator Vandenberg was asked today why he voted for the bill.

"I voted for the money bills" he replied, "because I consider that it creates a far preferable situation than exists under the 'Thomas amendment' without it. It will be recalled that I strenuously opposed the original Thomas amendment with its three inflationary powers—particularly the greenback power.

"So far as gold is concerned, I consider that the new money bill is in the specific direction of early stabilization. I believe it inevitably delimits the 'Thomas amendment' in this respect. I prefer it to the situation which would exist under the 'Thomas amendment' without it.

"So far as the other two inflationary powers in the hands of the President under the 'Thomas amendment' are concerned, I believe there is less likelihood of their use as a result of the new bill. Certainly I believe we have moved a long step away from the curse of 'printing press money,' which has been our chief monetary threat.

Devaluation Already in Effect.

"There are other reasons. The President already has used his extraordinary money powers to create gold dollar devaluation in practical effect. That decision could not have been recalled even by the defeat of this bill.

"New gold values having been created by the President, preceding this new bill, I think it is an axiom that these values should have been closed into the treasury for the benefit of our whole people. This artificial profit could in conscience belong no where else. The new bill thus dedicates these new values.

"In many aspects I should have preferred changes in the bill. I supported all the committee amendments. I am unalterably opposed to lodging the unaudited control of the stabilization fund in the hands of Secretary Morgenthau. I spoke and voted against it."

The entire Michigan delegation in the house and senate voted for the bill.

THREATENS SUIT TO TIE UP CAR MERGER PLANS

Charles H. Wilmerding, chairman of one of the committees representing junior security holders of the Surface Lines, yesterday told the city council's committee on local transportation that his group would institute court action to block the transit reorganization plan if it were not accorded better treatment in the financial setup.

The council committee is holding hearings to determine whether the city should give the traction interests until July 31 to accept the 1930 franchise ordinance which provides for merging the surface and elevated lines into one company.

Wilmerding's committee represents the holders of participation certificates, series 1, of the Chicago Railways company [north and west side surface lines]. After Wilmerding had made his threat of court action yesterday his position was assailed by Attorney Walter L. Fisher, who has brought the senior security interests of the two transit systems into agreement on a financial plan for the merger. Attorney Fisher charged that the Wilmerding group was merely using the threat of litigation in an effort to get a larger financial share in the proposed setup.

STATE TO NAME HIGHWAYS FOR USE OF TRUCKS

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin public service commission today inaugurated an expansive program designed to regulate heavy freight traffic and thus avoid traffic congestion, facilitate movement of fast tourist travel and lengthen the life of the state's highways. The commission's authority for the regulation is derived from the "mile-haulage" tax law recently enacted by the legislature.

The first step in the program was taken when the commission granted Louis M. Shapiro of the Hennepin Transfer company a certificate to operate a freight truck line from Hudson to Genoa City and outlined the highways which the company might use.

In the certificate granted Shapiro the commission asserted that he may not operate trucks over highway 12 between the Illinois state line and Lake Geneva during July and August, nor over highway 12 between Madison and Middleton from 5 p. m. to 10 p. m. daily, and that he must not use highway 51 between Portage and North Leeds.

BLAZE IN LOOP CLUB BUILDING ROUTS 150 GUESTS

More than 150 persons fled from the Covenant club at 10 North Dearborn street yesterday without their hats and coats when smoke from a blaze in a pipe shaft filled the eleven story building. Firemen brought the flames quickly under control and the guests returned.

Chief Anthony Durkin of the First battalion estimated the loss at $2,000, resulting mainly from smoke damage to furnishings.

The fire is believed to have been started in a pile of papers placed on top of an incinerator in the basement. Spreading to the pipe shaft extending up to the top floor, the flames consumed the insulation on steam and hot water pipes, sending the smoke billowing through the building.

After the alarm had sounded Miss Ida Rubenstein, 24 years old, 3748 Eastwood avenue, secretary to Louis H. Harrison, president of the club, remained at the switchboard and calmly notified all occupants of the building to leave.

Robbed of Coin Collection After Failing to Sell It

William L. Ball, 4748 Greenwood avenue, went downtown yesterday afternoon to dispose of a valuable collection of old coins he had collected during the years he operated a butcher shop. Unable to sell them for what he considered them worth, he returned home. As he was putting the key in the lock of his door two men seized him and took the coins from him along with $4.

HER MONEY WAS HIDDEN BUT SHE LOST IT ANYWAY

Against ordinary dangers Mrs. Rosa Reichl's manner of banking her money might be deemed sufficiently safe, but not, apparently, against perils as represented by inquisitive bandits.

Mrs. Reichl, a wealthy widow living at 442 Melrose street, was being driven in her limousine into the driveway of the apartment building at that address last night when two robbers on foot appeared. They pointed guns at Mrs. Reichl and her chauffeur, Nick Schirmang, 1862 Bissell street; then got into the car.

At Clark and School streets the bandits completed a search of Mrs. Reichl, then ejected their victims from the car and drove away in it. The bandits got a purse and $300 from Mrs. Reichl. The money was in Mrs. Reichl's stocking.

Overcome by Gas Fumes, Mrs. Belle Wilbur Dies

Mrs. Belle Wilbur, 68 years old, 4152 Lake Park avenue, who was overcome in her home on Nov. 21 by coal gas fumes, died last night at the Billings hospital. The seven were found unconscious when another member of the family came home during the evening.

President Roosevelt—America Greets You On Your 52nd Birthday

Goldblatt Bros. joins this nation in wishing you, our great and beloved president, a happy birthday. In your glorious conquering of the economic ills of this great country, you have shown again the wisdom and indomitable will by which, in earlier years, you so magnificently recovered your health at Warm Springs, Ga.—the story of which recovery is one of the most inspiring of our times.

We believe no President since Washington and Lincoln has faced such chaos at the beginning of his term of office, and surely no one since then has held the people's interest more closely to his heart. You have proved yourself America's leader.

As we look back over the past ten months since you came to the White House, we are amazed to recount the many plans you have put into effect for the betterment of the American people. Any one of these is outstanding, but to you each single victory was but a spur to the next. You went all the way to bring America back to its birthright, and thereby raised this country to greater prestige among nations of the world.

Who but you would have had the courage to restore order and safety to our banks? Who, indeed, but you could have helped business put its house in order so that all might work profitably—each in his separate sphere! The abolition of child labor was nothing short of a miracle. You helped feed the hungry and gave work to the discouraged and jobless.

As the days of your Administration rolled on, you brought new hope and strength to the hearts of the people. By your forceful directing of affairs of State, you have made each of us believe that definite, better things are yet to come.

The American people are appreciative of your great humanitarianism. Business is grateful that you could unsnarl its many tangles. We, as merchants, are happy that you took fear out of the public mind, and we pledge you our enthusiastic loyalty. We are for you to a man!

Today, on your fifty-second birthday, many grateful citizens of your country will contribute to the fund for the Warm Springs Foundation at Warm Springs, Ga. The nation knows that this clinic for infantile paralysis, where you once recovered your health, lies close to your heart. And Goldblatt's wishes to join in this expression of gratitude to you. We are pleased to tell you that—

This firm hopes that Chicago will take advantage of these countless values so that Goldblatt's check for 5% of Tuesday's sales will be a gratifyingly large one.

Goldblatt's is happy to join with its customers in thus humbly expressing its complete faith and confidence in the aims and ideals of America's great leader—Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

DEMOCRATS PUT UP A FULL SLATE FOR APRIL VOTE

Clayton Smith for County Board Head.

BY PARKE BROWN.

After final conferences occupying a full seven hours, the Cook county Democratic central committee yesterday completed and announced its County and Municipal court ticket for the primary of April 10.

When the list was made public the leaders declared themselves satisfied. Chairman P. A. Nash, who also is national committeeman, said he considered the slate one of the best ever submitted to the voters of Chicago and its immediate suburbs. Mayor Kelly pronounced it "a winner both in April and in November."

The only rift came when Emmett Whealan, president of the county board learned he had not been restated for that position but had been listed for one of the two places on the tax board of appeals. He announced that regardless of the decision of the committee, which was said to have been unanimous, he would run for the board presidency against Clayton F. Smith, now county recorder, whom the committee selected as its candidate for the presidency.

Two Women for Board.

Another subject for comment was provided by the fact that although the Democratic members of the county board now include four women only one, Miss Mary McEnerney, was slated for renomination. The other three—Miss Amelia Sears and Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, both city commissioners and Mrs. Edward J. Fleming of Evanston were dropped. The name of one new woman candidate was added, that of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, national committeewoman.

There were no other incumbents dropped from the slate, except that Commissioner Charles H. Weber withdrew his name. For a time it was predicted that the name of Municipal Judge Matthew D. Hartigan would be omitted because he ran for the state's attorneyship on the Igoe ticket in 1932 and from the platform denounced the regulars and their candidates. At the last moment, it was said, Hartigan appeared at the meeting and had himself restored to the good graces of the leaders.

The seven hours of work was performed in the bungalow atop the Hotel Morrison behind closed doors. The advisory committee labored from 2 until 6 o'clock. Then the city ward committeemen and the country town district leaders were called in and the ticket was reviewed for their benefit. It was approved unanimously on a roll call.

The Democratic Slate.

Then the list was given out to the press. It was as follows, the numbers following some of the name indicating the wards in which the candidates reside, and the asterisk preceding the name indicating incumbents:

Sanitary District—*James M. Whalen, 6th; George Self, 34th; Joseph Baran, 26th.

Probate Clerk—*Mitchell C. Robin, 46th.
Criminal Court Clerk—Thomas J. Bowler.
County Superintendent of Schools—Noble J. Puffer, Palatine.

County Assessor—Ald. John S. Clark, 20th.
President County Board—Clayton F. Smith, 33d.

County Commissioner—Country Town—*Homer J. Byrd, Arlington Heights; Emmett McGrath, Lyons; *Frank J. Kasper, Berwyn; Walter A. Rooney, Glencoe; and Daniel P. Bergin, Chicago Heights.
Municipal Judge—Full Term—*Frank M. Padden, 36th; *Francis Borrell, 7th; *Gibson E. Gorman, 19th; Joseph B. Hermes, 14th; Eugene L. McGarry, 46th; George Weiss, 22d; J. M. Braude, 40th; Le Roy B. Hackett, 49th; Steven Adamowski, 35th; *Harold O'Connell, 14th; Joseph J. Drucker, 21st; and *Matthew D. Hartigan, 8th.
Municipal Judge—Vacancy—Erwin J. Hasten.

Indorse One State Name.

Only one state candidacy indorsement was voted. That was the candidacy of John Stelle of McLeansboro, former assistant state treasurer and now assistant state auditor, for the office of state treasurer.

The attitude of President Whealan caused more talk than anything else that leaked through the closed doors.

"I have been president of the board for three years and a member of it for nearly sixteen years. I do not intend to surrender without a fight. I have been offered a place on the tax board of appeals but I will not accept it. I will run for the office of president of the county board. I am satisfied I can win in the primary and I'm willing to take my chances in the November election."

"I feel sure that he won't run after he has taken time to think the situation over," said Chairman Nash, "and I regret that he has spoken hastily."

Clayton F. Smith, slated for Whealan's position is now less than half way through his four year term as county recorder. If he is elected to the board presidency his vacancy in the recorder's office will be filled by an election by the county board.

Bowler Tired of Travel.

Another board president whose position on the slate was shifted was delighted over the change, in fact, he had insisted upon it. That was Thomas J. Bowler, president of the sanitary district. He was scheduled for the clerkship of the Criminal court and the incumbent of that office was listed for the place on the drainage board left vacant by Bowler's stepping aside.

"I find," said President Bowler, "that I cannot go ahead with the hard work of the district that has fallen on my shoulders during the last two years. To do so would be to sacrifice my health. I have made twenty-five trips to Washington and thirty trips to Springfield. I told the committee that if I were to go on the ticket, it would have to be for some less difficult place."

New Candidate For Board.

The shift was agreeable to Clerk Self. The new candidate for this board in addition to Self, Joseph Baran, is the proprietor of a large meat market in the Lawndale district.

Since, regardless of the outcome of the election, the Democrats, with five holdover trustees, will dominate the body, the retirement of Bowler from this field is believed to presage the election next winter of Trustee Ross A. Woodhull as president.

There was no surprise in the selection of John Toman, a veteran of the city council, for the sheriff's office, in the naming of County Treasurer McDonough for the county clerkship or in the choice of County Clerk Sweitzer, for the treasurership. The same was true of the backing given County Judge Jarecki, Probate Judge O'Connell and Probate Clerk Robin.

Of the new candidates for county commissioner from the city, Joseph Fitzgerald is a former commissioner, and Frank Bobrytzke, a former member of the board of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, is now a member of the Lincoln park board by appointment of Gov. Horner.

The new candidates for county commissioner from the country towns are Emmett J. McGrath of Lyons, who has represented the 7th senatorial district in the lower house at Springfield for six years; Walter A. Rooney of Glencoe, a brother of Municipal Judge John J. Rooney, and Daniel P. Bergin, mayor of Chicago Heights.

Braude on for Judge.

J. M. Braude, one of the new candidates for the city bench, is assistant director of the state department of finance, and is given credit in the capital for organizing the extensive machinery for handling the sales tax and the beverage tax. Another new candidate for this bench is Steven Adamowski, a brother of the late Adamowski, for years a member of the city council and an uncle of State Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski. The two year vacancy on the Municipal bench was awarded to Erwin J. Hasten, who recently lost out to Samuel Heller in a prolonged recount following the last city court election.

ASKS TWO MORE JUDGES TO SPEED CRIMINAL TRIALS

Finnegan Seeks to Clear Court Docket.

With two additional judges assigned to duty in the Criminal court in response to his plea for more judges to clear clogged criminal dockets, Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan yesterday demanded still two more judges to aid in the crime war. Unless his demand is met, the chief justice said, the court will fall behind the standard of speedy justice set last August.

Judge Finnegan made his announcement after an examination of grand jury records revealed that the court has fallen behind the grand jury in disposition of cases for the first time since the crime war began. The grand jury has voted 50 more indictments than the court has been able to try.

Ten Judges at Present.

There are at present ten judges in the court. Six of these are engaged or will shortly be engaged in long trials, leaving only four to dispose of the run of cases. In his first call for aid, the Circuit court assigned Judge Daniel P. Trude to the court, but he will be unable to report until the first of next month.

The Superior court yesterday assigned Judge Marcus Kavanagh to duty on the west side. He will start at once.

Acting Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court said he will gladly aid Judge Finnegan by sending another judge to the west side if the county board will appropriate for downstate judges to take the calls of judges engaged in the crime war. Such judges, under the practice of the court, are paid at the rate of $20 a day. The county board has declared itself against the employment of additional judges.

Civil Calls Clogged.

Judge Sullivan said that the civil calls are more clogged than those of the Criminal court. In the depression the number of chancery cases has increased by 350 per cent and the number of law cases 150 per cent, he said.

There are forty-eight judges in the Circuit and Superior courts. With twelve on duty in the Criminal court, nine in the Appellate court, one in the Juvenile court, and one death, there are but twenty-five judges engaged in hearing civil calls. There are seven downstate judges now hearing these calls on the promise of the judges of being paid.

ELMORE TO QUIT SANITARY RACE IN CHANNEL FIGHT

Trustee Howard W. Elmore, only Republican member of the sanitary district board, announced to his Democratic colleagues at a meeting yesterday that he would not run for reelection. Mr. Elmore, whose term expires next fall, gave ill health and financial reverses as his reasons.

His formal statement, read to the board, also pointed out that a cabinet member had accused him of "playing politics" in connection with his campaign to sell the main drainage and Calumet Sag channels to the federal government to defray the cost of the Chicago sewage disposal program. The cabinet member is Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes.

Elmore stated that in the light of the political charges he would be in a better position as a private citizen to push the fight to sell the channels.

HINT OF SCANDAL IN SUIT AGAINST THE REV. AIMEE

Mrs. Hutton Sued Over Movie Contract.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP)—An "offer of proof" that an incident occurred involving Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton and her former lawyer, Cromwell Ormsby, was made today by Attorney Homer Johnston in his opening statement at the trial of a $240,000 damage suit against the evangelist charging breach of contract.

The suit was brought originally by the late J. Roy Stewart, movie director, who charged the evangelist broke a contract for production of a film Stewart was to have directed.

"We will prove," said Johnston, "that this defendant at first approved the skeleton scenario, but later declined to act in it. We will prove that when representatives of Stewart asked her why this was, she referred them to Attorney Joseph Ford.

"We will prove that when Ford was asked concerning the matter he said Mrs. Hutton was involved in a scandal—that she had visited an apartment house on Omar street in company with Cromwell Ormsby."

Willard Andrews, the evangelist's present lawyer, leaped up and strenuously objected, saying Ford is now dead and he, Andrews, thought Johnston's statements not proper in court.

Superior Judge Leon R. Yankwich said Johnston was merely making an offer of proof.

Johnston also said Ford declared the Rev. John Goben, assistant pastor at Angelus temple, had threatened Mrs. Hutton and had presented affidavits that she and Ormsby had been in a bungalow apartment at midnight or thereafter under circumstances which made it necessary for her to withdraw wholly from the film contract.

CUMMINGS TOLD HIS SON, HURT IN CRASH, GAINS

Stamford, Conn., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Attorney General Homer Cummings arrived in Stamford this aftenoon. He was cheered by a message from Norwalk hospital to the effect that his injured son, Dickinson Schuyler Cummings, although still unconscious from injuries received in an automobile accident Saturday, was taking fluid food and that there was now hope for his recovery.

Mr. Cummings said that he would remain here so long as the condition of his son warranted. He later went to the hospital to see his son and conferred with the physicians attending the young man. X-ray pictures disclose a fracture of the skull.

TRAIN STRIKES BUS; 29 CHILDREN CARRIED OFF ON COWCATCHER

Springville, N. Y., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Twenty-nine children in a smashed bus rode the cowcatcher of a train for 500 feet here today—and none was killed.

Ten were injured, four seriously, as the locomotive ploughed into the center of the bus, crushing one side almost its entire length, and hurling the children about like ten pins.

No lives were lost because the bus "jammed" on the cowcatcher and was carried along until the train was stopped, instead of being hurled to the rails in front of the locomotive.

Badly frosted bus windows caused by an unusually cold morning were held to blame for the accident.

FINDS ANOTHER TOMB OF ANCIENT RACE IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The discovery of another tomb at Monte Alban, Oaxaca, containing valuable relics of ancient Indian civilizations, was reported today by Dr. Alfonso Caso, government archeologist in charge of the work.

The tomb was described as very spacious, with its rounded roof and walls perfectly preserved. The remains of several human bodies were found in the center, and on each side along the walls were five beautifully decorated urns.

The discovery is expected to throw new light on the civilization of the Mixtec and Zapotecan Indian races.

2 DAIRIES SUE BIG COMPANIES AS MILK TRUST

50 Defendants Accused of Fixing Prices.

Two independent, cut rate milk companies, the Economy and Meadowmoor dairies, yesterday filed in the federal District court an injunction bill charging the existence of a milk trust in Chicago, and with it a conspiracy to fix retail prices and hold a monopoly in the market for the members of the alleged trust.

The bill names more than 50 defendants. It charges that the parties to the trust and the conspiracy to maintain it include four large milk companies, the Bowman, Borden, Wieland, and Wanzer companies; the Milk council, and Milk Foundation, the Milk Bottle exchange, the Chicago Milk Dealers' association, the Pure Milk association, and the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, with a number of their officials and members, as well as Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health; Frank Bobrytsky, member of the board, and Dr. Henry C. Becker, in charge of milk inspection for the health department.

Affidavits Charge Violence.

Before filing their bill, Attorneys Joseph E. Green and Joseph R. Roach, representing the plaintiffs, conferred with United States Attorney Dwight H. Green. They gave him a mass of affidavits pertaining to violence in the recent milk strike, which are being investigated by agents of the department of agriculture and department of justice.

These affidavits were in support of charges made in the bill that in furtherance of the trust conspiracy there had been violations of the Sherman anti-trust act and the civil rights act guaranteeing freedom of interstate commerce, larceny from interstate shipments, and conspiracy to violate federal laws, in itself a federal crime.

Another alleged crime, in which department of justice agents were particularly interested, was that of inciting insurrection against the laws of the United States, an offense second only to treason and classified under the old common law as "petty treason." This violation is not charged in the bill, but affidavits alleging the violation were given to Prosecutor Green.

100 Instances Cited.

The bill cites about one hundred alleged acts of violence, including the stopping of trains, holding up United States mails, dumping of milk trucks, firing of shots at railroad trains, destroying switches, kidnapings and beatings of truck drivers, and the firing of shots into the home of an independent farmer by PMA pickets. The violence, it is charged in the bill, was not confined to the recent milk strike, but has been prevalent in the Chicago milk industry since 1929.

The bill not only seeks an injunction but also asks the appointment of receivers for all of the corporations and organizations made defendants, except the drivers' union. It charges:

"A control by such a receiver will be absolutely necesary to secure a proper separation of said corporations from said conspiracy, and thereby effect a discontinuance of the conspiracy. The conspiracy is of such magnitude and of such duration [that] . . . an ordinary injunction would be of questionable effect."

Green Cites Precedent.

There is legal precedent for appointment of receivers for corporations engaged in conspiracy to violate the anti-trust act, Attorney Green said, although in such cases the appointment was made on the petition of the government itself and not on that of a private complainant against the alleged conspiracy.

The injunction asked would restrain the defendants from any further attempts to fix retail or wholesale prices to the consumer, restrain the Pure Milk association from refusing to sell milk to dealers who refuse to maintain the "trust's" retail prices, and restrain Dr. Bundesen from confining inspections of farms shipping milk to the city to a 100 mile radius from Chicago. A city council subcommittee has already recommended discontinuance of the latter practice.

The present suit asks no damages for injury allegedly suffered as a result of the conspiracy charged. Attorney Green said his company, the Economy dairy, will shortly file suit against some of the defendants in the present suit for damages under the Sherman anti-trust act, which permits assessment of triple damages for injuries suffered.

WALLACE OFFERS NEW 250 MILLION PLAN FOR MILK CONTROL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A 250 million dollar program for controlling the production of milk was proffered to the dairy industry today by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

While following the same general lines as the AAA production control programs for wheat, cotton, and other commodities, the dairy plan differs in that it would be financed at the outset by a direct federal appropriation of 200 million dollars.

This fund, according to the secretary, would eventually be repaid out of the proceeds of a federal processing tax on milk and its products and a compensatory tax on oleomargarine.

The dairy program, devised by experts of the farm administration after months of effort, was presented to the industry at a conference between members of congress, officials of the AAA, and spokesmen for the dairy and beef industries.

Robbers Get $200 and Ring in Office Holdup

Two robbers stole $200 and a $400 diamond ring yesterday in a robbery in the offices of Electrolux, Inc., electric appliance dealers, at 1525 East 53d street. During the holdup four employés were herded into a rear room. One of them was robbed of the ring. He was William L. Billings, 1468 Catalpa avenue, auditor and cashier.

ASKS PASSPORT BAN TO BLOCK WILLITS' FLIGHT

Attorney Frank B. Teed, counsel for Mrs. Margaret Liggett Willits in her legal action against her former husband, John MacGregor Willits, over the custody of their two daughters, yesterday appealed to the U. S. State department to refuse Willits a passport if he applies for one.

He took the action, he said, after receiving a report that Willits intends to flee to France with the girls, Jane, 6 years old, and Ann, 2. Willits disappeared last week from his home at 2215 Maple avenue, Evanston, the day after Judge Joseph Sabath, in the Superior court, had ordered that the children be restored to Mrs. Willits, from whose custody Willits kidnaped them during the Christmas season after visiting them at her home at Swampscott, Mass.

The passport division in the United States postoffice building said that Willits had made no application here for a passport.

Anthony Cozzie, 21 years old, 2614 Princeton avenue, a CWA worker who drove two automobiles while he was on relief rolls a month ago, yesterday was held to the grand jury in $3,000 bonds on a charge of auto theft. Police, who testified before Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Automobile court, said Cozzie attempted to trade in a stolen car at a motor agency. Morris Croll, owner of the agency at 7406 South Halsted street, became suspicious and notified police.

Mother . . .

Why do you give your child Cod Liver Oil?

Not because it tastes good . . . Not because of the oil itself . . . But because you want your child to have the Vitamin D it contains . . .

The Norwegian steamship Nina docked in the Chicago River after coming direct from Norway with a cargo composed exclusively of Olafsen Cod Liver Oil—enough to fill 320,000 pint bottles—consigned to the Walgreen Company.

So read what Walgreen's do to give you a cod liver oil with a STANDARD TESTED VITAMIN D CONTENT

THE IMPORTANT THING about any cod liver oil is the amount of Vitamin D it contains. The oil itself is nothing more than a rather disagreeable "carrier" for this precious vitamin.

While two cod liver oils may look and taste the same, there may be as much difference as day and night in the actual Vitamin D content. Cod liver oils are NOT all alike.

That is why Walgreen's go to so much trouble to get you the right kind of cod liver oil. And why they sell you a cod liver oil that is guaranteed.

From Norway—By The Shipload

First, we go all the way to Norway, to the Lofoten Islands, to get the right kind of cod liver oil. Then we have the State Vitamin Institute of Norway check, and guarantee that every gram of this oil contains at least 333 units of Vitamin D, as well as 1,000 units of Vitamin A.

But—in order to double check—after the cod liver oil arrives here, we run continuous tests on white rats to be sure that every batch checks up to standard.

And yet—because we buy it by an entire shipload at a time—you get the finest quality in Walgreen's Olafsen Cod Liver Oil at a price no greater than that of ordinary kinds.

Walgreen Drugs Tested For Purity and Strength

The care we take with cod liver oil is typical. The drugs that go into Walgreen prescriptions—the preparations sold under the Walgreen label—are subjected to special tests and analyses to see that they are pure, fresh, and stable when they reach your hands.

We go to the expense of maintaining a large laboratory for this purpose. Not only to protect the life and well-being of our cutomers, but also to protect our own reputation as pharmacists.

That is why we believe you will agree that "Saving at Walgreen's" is only one of many good reasons for trading at our stores.

To conduct our continuous tests proving that Olafsen Cod Liver Oil contains at least 333 units of Vitamin D to every gram, we use hundreds of standard Albino rats.

TRUSTEE SUES INSULL CHIEFS FOR $12,877,000

Court Action Bares Deals Before Crash.

Suit for the recovery of $12,877,000 from the officers and directors of Corporation Securities company, defunct Insull investment trust, and from Halsey, Stuart & Co. was filed in the Superior court yesterday on behalf of Sam Howard, trustee of the bankrupt property.

Although the bill of complaint, drawn by Attorney Carroll J. Lord of Ashcraft & Ashcraft, is based upon a single transaction—the purchase by Corporation Securities company of Middle West Utilities stock held by the Insull family and by Halsey, Stuart & Co., allegedly without corporate authority—it gives a comprehensive analysis of the Insull operations from the gigantic battle in 1928 with Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland utilities magnate, down to the crash of the Insull empire.

$17,000,000 in Two Months.

Among other things, the petition charges that Samuel Insull Sr. and Halsey, Stuart & Co., his distributing house and banker, spent more than $17,000,000 during the months of June and July, 1929, to effect an artificial boost in the price of Middle West common stock from $160 to $495 a share.

The defendants in Howard's suit are Samuel Insull Sr., Harold L. Stuart, director of Corporation Securities and president of Halsey, Stuart & Co.; Martin J. Insull, Samuel Insull Jr., C. W. Sills, F. K. Shrader, C. B. Stuart, C. T. MacNeille, and Halsey, Stuart & Co. The petition asks an accounting and offers to turn over the stock purchased from the Insulls and Halsey, Stuart & Co. for whatever they may get out of it, on condition that they be compelled to pay back the $12,877,000.

Describes Fight with Eaton.

The bill recites that Insull organized his other investment trust, Insull Utility Investments, Inc., on Dec. 27, 1928, for the purpose of raising money from the public through the sale of its stocks.

The bill says the funds were to be used "by the said Samuel Insull and his associates, among other things, in buying stocks of Middle West Utilities company and in buying large amounts of the stocks of Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, in an effort to frustrate one Cyrus Eaton, an investment banker and public utility operator of Cleveland."

Eaton, the bill avers, was making large purchases of the stocks of the Insull operating companies, in an effort to wrest control of them from Insull.

Insulls Put in Fortune.

The Insull family, including Margaret, wife of the elder Insull, put assets totaling $9,765,000 into the new company at the outset and by June 1, 1929, had the larger part of their personal fortunes invested in the concern, according to the petition. Preferred stock totaling $6,000,000 and a debenture issue of $6,000,000 were sold to the public at the outset, and Halsey, Stuart & Co. obtained 152,270 shares of common stock for a total investment of $3,407,601.

With a large part of Insull Utility Investments' assets invested in Middle West Utilities stock, and with Middle West unable to continue paying $7 a share on its common from earnings, the defendants determined upon a plan to refinance Middle West, the petition alleges. Holders of preferred and common stock were given rights to subscribe for 477,727 additional shares of common at $300 a share, the funds thus raised to be used in retiring 1,043,924 shares of old preferred stock and $20,000,000 of 5½ per cent serial gold notes.

Furthermore it was agreed, according to the bill, to place the common tock on a stock dividend basis only, "thereby eliminating annual cash expenditures exceeding $10,000,000, which said company was incapable of continuing to pay."

The petition avers that the common stock was then—June 1, 1929—being sold on the Chicago Stock exchange and the New York Curb exchange at considerably below $200 a share, on an inactive market, and that for the purpose of inducing the public to subscribe for the additional shares it became necessary to advance and maintain the market price greatly in excess of this figure. The bill points out the effect of this price boosting on the value of Insull Utility Investments stock, in which the Insulls and Halsey, Stuart & Co. had invested so heavily.

Price Jumps to $495.

During June and July of 1929 Halsey, Stuart & Co. purchased 43,500 shares of common and 20,300 shares of preferred Middle West stock at a cost of more than $12,000,000, acting for the joint account of Halsey, Stuart & Co. and Samuel Insull, the bill charges. During the same period more than $5,000,000 was paid for additional common stock, and the price leaped from $160 to $495.

Insull Utility Investments stock jumped from $35 a share to $149 a share, the petition sets forth. By reason of this advance, the bill further states, the latter company was able to sell $60,000,000 of its preferred and common stock to the public.

Then the organization of Corporation Securities company is described in the bill. This took place on Oct. 4, 1929, "for the sole purpose of purchasing from Samuel Insull and Halsey, Stuart & Co. the stocks of Middle West Utilities company accumulated through the manipulation and maintenance of the market price thereon."

Alleged Assets Are Told.

According to the bill Corporation Securities company began business no assets except 304,540 shares of Insull Utility Investments stock, received in equal amounts from the Insulls and Halsey, Stuart & Co., and the stock was subject to an indebtedness of $3,407,601 to Halsey, Stuart & Co., incurred in acquiring the stock.

Nevertheless, the bill charges, a prospectus was issued saying that the company would commence business with assets totaling $80,000,000, $30,000,000 in cash and $50,000,000 in marketable securities, and more than $50,000,000 of units [1 share each of common and preferred] were sold to the public at $75 a unit.

Then, it is alleged, the defendants, without corporate authority and concealing their action from the stockholders, purchased the Middle West stock held jointly by the Insulls and Halsey, Stuart & Co. for $12,877,066 cash.

Greece Finds Insull Able to Travel; Due to Go Tomorrow

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 29.—Verbal assurance was given tonight by Dr. Nicholas Haniotis, a heart specialist of the medical department of the ministry of interior, that Samuel Insull is now able to travel by sea or by rail under medical care. The former Chicagoan's Greek residence permit expires Wednesday.

Dr. Haniotis and Dr. Andrew Laskaris were assigned by John Moundjouridies, minister of interior, to examine the fugitive utilities magnate today. Their report, along the line indicated by Dr. Haniotis, will be submitted to the government tomorrow.

The government examination came as the result of a petition by two of Insull's personal physicians—Dr. Basil Voylas and Dr. Constantine Marcoulis—asserting that their 74 year old patient was too ill to travel. On this ground they asked for an extension of his stay in Greece, where he has successfully resisted two attempts to extradite him on the basis of fraud charges.

It was expected that on the basis of the government medical report the appeal would be denied.

Dr. Haniotis flatly contradicted two contentions advanced by Insull's doctors that he has high blood pressure and suffers from an advanced stage of diabetes.

"Insull's blood pressure is normal," Dr. Haniotis asserted. "Many younger men are alive and on the streets today with a higher blood pressure than his. Further, if Insull has diabetes it is only a mild case."

Insull's heart is weak, Dr. Haniotis admitted, and he agreed that an airplane flight is precluded as a means of egress from the country. But under normal conditions he might live for years, he continued, and he is perfectly fit to travel by ordinary means.

The two government physicians arrived at the Insull flat at 5:30 o'clock this evening and remained 45 minutes. They spent some time thereafter checking notes.

PROSECUTOR OF MARTIN INSULL DIES IN CANADA

Represented Illinois in Extradition Fight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 29.—Edward Bayly, deputy attorney general for the province of Ontario since 1919, died suddenly at his home here this afternoon of a heart attack. He was 69 years old.

Mr. Bayly had been acting for the state of Illinois in an attempt to extradite Martin Insull, fugitive Chicago utilities magnate, to stand trial in the courts of Cook county upon charges of larceny, embezzlement and theft by bailee.

In Court Last Tuesday.

He appeared before the Ontario Supreme court last Tuesday to argue the state's case in opposing the appeal of Insull against extradition. Decision on the appeal was reserved. Mr. Bayly was at his desk in the parliament building as usual last Saturday.

In legal circles the late deputy attorney general had the reputation of being a "walking law book."

Mr. Bayly was born in London, Ont., on Oct. 25, 1865.

Held Many Offices.

He had held the offices of examiner of the Law Society of Upper Canada from 1896 to 1899, solicitor to the attorney general's department from 1907 to 1919, president of the Ontario Civil Service association for one year, and secretary of the Toronto Hunt club for two years.

Mr. Bayly was a noted rugby player. He was a member of the Toronto football club in 1891-'92 and captained the University of Toronto football teams in 1885 and 1886. He also was adept at wrestling, boxing, and sailing. He sailed with the Royal Canadian Yacht club from 1885 to 1900.

INSULL AFFLUENT, ILLNESS FAKED, SAYS F. A. HARNESS

Forrest A. Harness, special assistant to the United States attorney general, arrived in Chicago yesterday from Greece, where he was in charge of the government's fight to extradite Samuel Insull on charges of using the mails to defraud, in connection with the collapse of the utilities empire headed by the former magnate. It was said that preparation for the trial of eighteen other defendants in the case now will be resumed.

"I think Insull, when he leaves Greece, will go to Egypt," Mr. Harness said, "as that country has no extradition treaty with the United States. His illness is just a stall."

Insull employs five servants and two footmen since he moved from his hotel to an apartment, Mr. Harness said. He said he felt certain that the former Chicagoan still had plenty of money.

In the mail fraud case, an argument on a motion for a bill of particulars is scheduled to be heard before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson on March 1.

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $15,716.

County Treasurer McDonough yesterday filed tax receivership petitions in the County court against 20 properties owing $45,200 in taxes for the years 1928, 1929 and 1930. The petitions ask the appointment of the treasurer as receiver under the Kerner-Skarda act. Among the properties named yesterday was a building 1307-17 Addison street on which $5,069 is overdue in taxes.

BIG MALE LION KILLS FEMALE AS TRAINER FIGHTS IN FULL CAGE

"Outside!" yelled attendants to Beatty. "Outside! They'll kill you."

Ranged around the trainer were half a dozen other beasts. One eye on them, the other on the two lions locked in a death grip, Beatty plied his whip. The fighters refused to respond. Streams of water from three fire hoses had no effect.

For twenty minutes Beatty fought to separate them. At length he seized Sammie by the neck and clubbed him with an iron pipe. The lion's jaws parted, but the female was dead.

"She was a beautiful specimen," was Beatty's comment. "It was lucky the other animals didn't try to mix in."

BRITAIN NOTIFIES EUROPE OF ITS STAND ON ARMS

Announcement Made to House of Commons.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The British house of commons, which was all steamed up for a sensational foreign affairs debate upon reopening today after a five weeks' Christmas recess, will have to be patient for a few days more.

It was expected and intended that Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, would make a statement on the British position on disarmament negotiations and the reform of the league of nations. But in th last few days these things have happened:

A French government has fallen.

Poland and Germany have settled their differences.

The British have nearly completed a new trade treaty with the soviets.

Political Map Changed.

Thus the political map, which seemed so clear a few days ago, is now somewhat changed, although the changes are presumably all for the good.

Nearly a score of questions to Sir John had been submitted by members, but he contented himself by saying that following his holiday trip, in which he saw Joseph Paul-Boncour, French foreign minister, and Premier Mussolini, it was decided that it was time for Great Britain to lay its cards on the table.

Accordingly, a carefully drawn up statement of British views was prepared and sent to all the governments concerned, he said. He could not, however, in courtesy to these governments, make public the contents of the document until they had had time to study it.

Await French Action.

Sir John did not say so, but it was learned that the fall of the French government is responsible for the delay. The late government had plenty of time to study the document, but the new one, when constituted, will have to go over it again.

The document is not believed to contain any very concrete proposals. It is presumed to be a plea to France and Germany to settle their differences on Germany's right to rearm, which have recently been whittled down to a narrow margin.

Sir John also told the house he and Mussolini had agreed, and the French minister had acquiesced, that some reform of the machinery of the league of nations is necessary, but that since disarmament is much more pressing, the league matter could afford to wait.

VILLARD HOLDS PLANS OF HITLER A DEADLY MENACE TO PEACE

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Oswald Garrison Villard declared tonight that Adolph Hitler's plans for Germany constitute "a deadly menace," and warned that "Hitler is planning for war." He declared "not a chancellory in Europe takes the slightest stock in any word that Hitler may offer on the subject of peace."

Washington, he averred, believes unanimously that Germany will be completely armed in three to five years, and that "the army to be led by Hitler would be far more dangerous than that of the kaiser because it will be inspired by a fanaticism which I can only liken to that of the dervishes in the Sudan."

The editor, himself of German ancestry, insisted "Adolph Hitler is the creation of the allies and the United States, the treaty of Versailles, and the economic and political situation created by the world war."

With different treatment of Germany then, he commented, there would have been no national socialism now, with its "establishment in Germany of a vastly more dangerous militaristic clique than that of the kaiser."

King Carol's Wife Returns Home; Reconciliation Seen

FLORENCE, Italy, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The fact that Princess Helen of Rumania personally accompanied Crown Prince Michael when they left by automobile to return to Rumania yesterday revived reports of a reconciliation with Carol today. The princess was silent on the matter, and it was not revealed whether she intended to go all the way to Bucharest. Prince Michael had been visiting the princess here for the last month.

HITLER TO GRAB POLICE RULE IN GERMAN STATES

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—On the eve of the reassembly of the reichstag to celebrate the first anniversary of Adolf Hitler's assumption of power in Germany, the chancellor granted an audience to Sir Eric Phipps, the British ambassador. Phipps handed over the new British memorandum on disarmament. Well informed circles assert Hitler will deal with the broad outlines of this memorandum in his speech to the reichstag tomorrow.

An announcement by the chancellor that the reich government proposes to take over the control of police, justice, and education from the individual states is also expected. This will be another step towards complete centralization of administration in Berlin.

Will Reply to Austria.

Hitler will again warn monarchist circles that their campaign for the return of former Kaiser Wilhelm must be ended. The chancellor also will reply to Austria's sharp note to Berlin protesting against alleged Nazi interference in Austrian affairs.

Although most German boys and girls already are attired in brown shirts and jackets of various shades and shapes, Baron Baldur von Schirach, Nazi youth leader, has ordered that all uniforms must be of the same color and cut. Instructions have been published in a volume of 150 pages.

The task of manufacturing new uniforms for Hitler youths and maidens will create jobs for 400,000 men and women. The press asserts it will involve a business turnover of $230,000,000.

Catholic Priest Freed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TRAUNSTEIN, Germany, Jan. 29.—Cardinal Faulhaber of Munich won a victory over the Nazis today when the Rev. Josef Stelzle, parish priest of Traunstein, was released from custody. Father Stelzle was arrested on charges of delivering anti-government utterances from the pulpit. The cardinal replied to the arrest by forbidding Catholic church services in Traunstein until the priest was freed.

BOLIVIA CHARGES FOES WITH MISTREATMENT OF PRISONERS OF WAR

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A protest that Paraguay is mistreating Bolivian prisoners of war was made today to the league of nations.

The Bolivian government cabled Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary-general of the league, through its delegate, Costa Durels, that Bolivians in the hands of the enemy were reduced to forced labor at Fort Mariana, had no shelter from the intense heat and were plagued by mosquitoes.

Paraguay, the message charged, hired out 300 prisoners to an international company for exploitation of forests. The protest denounced these alleged conditions as "monstrous violations of the laws of man" and demanded that the league's Chaco commission put an end to them.

AUSTRIA MASSES PEASANTS; FEARS ATTACK BY NAZIS

Dollfuss Warns Them "Zero Hour" Is Near.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Jan. 29.—Tomorrow is supposed to be the day when the Austrian Nazis stage a coup d'état against the Dollfuss government and hand over to Chancellor Hitler of Germany a unified Austria as a present on the first anniversary of his chancellorship.

Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss is alarmed. He has warned the nation the "zero hour" is near. Today he sounded a last minute appeal to Austrian peasants to drive back a "general offensive of Nazis." The militant 5 foot chancellor spoke to 200 leaders of the Austrian Peasants' league.

Peasants Pledge Loyalty.

"Trouble will brew on the Nazi front on or about Jan. 30," he said. "I am asking you to risk life and limb in the defense of Austria."

Dollfuss' appeal did not go unanswered. The peasants passed a vigorous resolution of loyalty to Dollfuss. They also announced their opposition against "both brown and red Socialists and particularly the Jewish leadership of that Marxism which repeatedly has misused Austria's loyal and honest native working class."

Despite the fear of a Nazi uprising, there were no signs in Vienna tonight that any such a thing is being planned for tomorrow. The streets are quiet and only the usual police force patroled the streets. Innsbruck, Klagenfurt, Linz and other towns in the provinces also are reported to be in a state of calm.

Plenty of Police on Hand.

This may be due to the vigorous measures which Dollfuss took to strengthen the forces of public order by arranging to have plenty of police and members of the Fascist heimwehr [home guard] men on hand in case of trouble.

German radio stations, especially those in Munich, charged the ether as usual tonight with vilifications of Dollfuss, though the nation appears to be calm, every Austrian of whatever class or political opinion is worried over the conflict with Germany.

Dollfuss is anxiously waiting for Hitler's reply to his protest against Nazi aggression in Austria. He expects it will be announced in Berlin tomorrow. Some circles here believe it will be worded as to avoid any brusque action and to keep Austria from carrying its grievances to the league of nations, which Great Britain, France and even Italy want to prevent.

The Dollfuss government and the Christian Socialists [Dollfuss' party] are trying to gain the support of the Socialists in their struggle against the Nazis, but the success does not seem great if today's sequestration of the Socialist organ, Arbeiter Zeitung, means anything.

26 Children in Church Only Victims of Mexican Quake

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Twenty-six children attending religious services were the only persons seriously hurt in an earthquake which shook Central Mexico yesterday, a survey revealed today. They were in the village church in Mochitlan, Guerrero state, when the roof fell on them. Two were critically injured. All other buildings in the town, like most of those near the Pacific coast in Guerrero, were damaged. Authorities notified police agencies here that their help would not be needed.

48 NAVY PLANES TO DEFEND HAWAII IN WAR GAMES

Forty-eight large navy patrol seaplanes, comprising six squadrons, will leave the water at dawn, beginning ten day maneuvers over a 6,000 square mile area.

The entire air force of the fleet air base will be numbered among the defense units. They will be aided by submarines and surface craft. Attackers will use submarines and surface vessels.

BLAMES LIGHT SENTENCES FOR AUTO THIEVERY

E. L. Richards, grand secretary of the National Automobile Underwriters association, is reported to have told the grand jury yesterday that if judges would treat automobile thieves as severely as they treat other classes o criminals it would soon put an end to automobile thievery. He was appearing as a witness before the grand jury, which under instructions from Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan is seeking to find the cause of the large number of automobile thefts. The police automobile detail should also be given more modern equipment, he told the jurors.

The trial of two alleged automobile "fences" was started yesterday before a jury in the court of Judge Francis B. Allegretti. The defendants are Abraham and Isadore Poncher, owners of an automobile parts shop. The police found an automobile which had been stolen from Max Salzman, 5143 Kenwood avenue, stripped in the rear of the Poncher store.

Defense Attorneys James Burke and George Crane told the jury in their opening statements that even if the car was found in the rear of the Poncher store, the brothers did not have guilty knowledge of it. The state contends the Ponchers had knowledge of the theft of the car and bought the parts stripped from it.

DEMOLISH HOUSE TO FREE A HORSE TRAPPED IN FALL

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A Brooklyn house was being demolished today in order to get a horse out of the cellar.

The horse belongs to Patrolman John Reid whose regular territory is the borough hall section of Brooklyn.

On cold days Patrolman Reid has been in the habit of leading his mount to the rear of the house for protection from the wind.

The horse, Rick, was prancing up and down shortly before noon today on an iron grating to keep the blood circulating when the grating gave way and he fell half way down the opening. Patrolman Reid put in a call for an emergency squad, and they decided to push Rick all the way down before taking the side of the building down. At last reports Rick was wandering around among the water pipes.

DALADIER HITS A SNAG IN HUNT FOR FRENCH CABINET

Paris Reports He May Drop Task Today.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 30.—[Tuesday.]—After lining up almost a complete cabinet, Premier-designate Edouard Daladier may throw in the sponge and abandon his task, it was reported in Paris political circles early today. He was called upon to choose a cabinet by President Albert Lebrun early yesterday.

The reports state the Daladier, the "strong army" advocate, ran into difficulties trying to fill the only three posts which, it is understood, were vacant at a late hour last night. As a result, he may have to tell President Albert Lebrun that someone else will have to take the job.

Appointment of a minister of interior, who holds the key position from the standpoint of internal politics, is rumored to have been the principal snag. Other important posts reported unfilled are the ministries of commerce and post and telegraph.

Quits Task for Night.

These rumors arose when Daladier announced he was quitting for the night and would resume his task at 9 o'clock. He explained he had not completed the cabinet because he could not get in touch with certain personalities whom he desires to invite to join the government.

Shortly before midnight, Daladier, a member of Edouard Herriot's Radical Socialist party and minister of war in the ill-fated Chautemps government, issued a provisional cabinet list.

It was not the compact, non-partisan collection of strong men which Daladier hoped to produce to establish a new deal for France and wipe out the stains of corruption resulting from the $60,000,000 Stavisky bond swindle.

Nevertheless, the cabinet as it stands now is one of radicals with unsullied if slightly obscure names, strengthened by a few capable men from the center. It is far from a national union supported by all parties.

Paul-Boncour Is Out.

From an international standpoint it represents an important change, for Paul-Boncour, leading champion of the league of nations, is replaced as foreign minister by Daladier himself. The premier-designate advocates a policy of direct disarmament understanding negotations with Germany while at the same time strengthening France's defenses.

Financial circles expressed their satisfaction when Daladier announced the appointment of Francois Pietri as minister of finance. It is the same job he held in the cabinet of Andre Tardieu several years ago. He is a sound money man and a moderate deflationist.

Daladier named Col. Jean Fabry, a Tardieu partisan and one of the experts on the French delegation to the disarmament conference, as minister of war. Military circles expressed their pleasure over Daladier's choice.

The ministry of justice—an all important post on account of the house cleaning necessitated by the bond scandal—was given Senator Henry Roy. He is regarded as a man of outstanding integrity.

Thousands Riot in Nice.

That feeling is still running high on account of the Stavisky scandal was shown at Nice last night when rioting broke out. A mob of several thousand citizens and public servants clashed with the police. Sixty-five persons were treated for injuries. Property damage was heavy. A demonstration by 2,000 state employés, including many women school teachers, against pay cuts and corruption by officials started the trouble.

ASKS NEW COURT SESSION IN SPAIN TO PARDON YANKS

MADRID, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A special session of the Supreme court to consider a pardon for four Americans sentenced to prison for assaulting a civil guard at Palma, Mallorca, last summer, was asked today by Pita Romero, former president of the council of state.

Official circles, it was reported, hope a pardon can be rushed through in time for consideration by the cabinet and recommendations to President Alcala Zamora by Friday. Authorities of Mallorca have reported the Americans' conduct during their imprisonment exemplary, which will weigh in their favor. A pardon is considered certain.

The four, sentenced to six months each, are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Lockwood of West Springfield, Mass.; Roderick Mead, New York, and Edmund W. Blodgett, Stamford, Conn.

Coroner Decides Overseas Major Killed by Accident

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A conclusion that Maj. Norman B. Comfort, 46, infantry commander during the world war, was shot to death by accident in his home Saturday night, was announced today by Coroner Luke B. Tiernon of St. Louis county. The coroner held no inquest.

TINY ANTI-NAZI NEWSPAPERS ON VIEW IN NEW YORK

Magnifying Glasses Sent with Them.

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Tiny anti-Nazi newspapers, so small they have to be read with a magnifying glass, are on exhibition in New York.

Samples of the minature, vest pocket journals, now being distributed in Germany through underground channels in defiance of Hitler's decrees, are on view at the New Workers' school, 51 West 14th street.

The smallest, the Worker's Voice, measures about one by one-half inches. The proportions of some of the others are approximately one and a half by three inches.

These Lilliputian publications, setting forth the facts in Hitler's anti-Jewish anti-trade union, and anti-communist campaigns, have been circulated in Germany since June by the so-called communist opposition, a wing of the communist party.

Forecast in Address.

Publications of secret newspapers, where the freedom of the press has been restricted or destroyed, was forecast recently by Col. R. R. M'Cormik, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in an address advocating a clause in the NRA newspaper code protecting the constitutional rights of American newspapers.

Copies were brought to this country by Jay Lovestone, secretary of the communist opposition in America, who recently returned from a trip to Germany. Asked how the tiny papers were read, he took from his vest pocket a small, oblong magnifying glass, about one inch in length, flat on one side and convex on the other. He laid it, flat side down, upon one of the newspapers. Reading, while still not exactly easy, was considerably facilitated.

"Yes," said Mr. Lovestone, "in many cases the little glasses are distributed along with the papers.

Have Other Ways.

But the anti-Nazis have other devices to circumvent the Hitler orders under which no publication not in favor of the Nazi principles and activities may be printed and circulated.

Opponents of the régime print and distribute booklets innocently entitled "Julius Caesar's Gallic Wars." Inside is and instalment of the "Brown Book of the Nazi Terror."

Similar tricks are played with books masquerading as the works of Goethe, Schiller and other German classical poets.

The numerous balls arranged for tomorrow night in honor of the President's birthday will turn over their proceeds to the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundation for Victims of Infantile Paralysis. The affairs have been arranged independently of the White House, although Mr. Roosevelt has been interested in the foundation for years.

As has been his custom for 13 years Mr. Roosevelt will share his birthday dinner with the men associated with him when he was assistant secretary of the navy, and during his 1920 vice-presidential campaign.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt also will have with them tomorrow night around the birthday cake intimate members of the White House staff.

Secretaries to Attend.

Those who will be at the party include the President's secretaries, Louis McHenry Howe, Marvin H. McIntyre and Stephen T. Early.

Others of the 1920 group include Kirke Simpson of Washington, Charles McCarthy of Albany, Thomas Lynch, former New York tax commissioner, James Sullivan of Boston, and Stanley Prenosil of New York.

Other guests will be Mrs. Anna Curtis Dall, daughter, Miss Marguerite LeHand, and Miss Grace Tulley, private secretaries, Miss Marian Dickerman of New York, Miss Margaret Durant and Mrs. Malvina Scheider of the White House staff, and Miss Nancy Cook of Hyde Park.

Cuts His Own Cake.

It is the custom for Mr. Roosevelt to cut his own birthday cake. He did this last year at Warm Springs, in the presence of the children at that institution.

It is understood he will make only a brief talk tomorrow night and an entirely personal one thanking those who are remembering him and contributing to the Warm Springs fund.

Fried chicken Maryland.

Peas, creamed carrots, and potato puffs.

Hearts of lettuce with roquefort dressing.

MRS. BLACKLIDGE DELAYS MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

Attorneys for Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, against whom Mrs. Susanne Nottingham obtained a $7,500 judgment for alienating the affections of Policeman Norman E. Nottingham, yesterday were granted a delay until Wednesday before filing objections on which they will base a motion for a new trial.

Declaring they had come into information since the trial that Mrs. Nottingham had married one Mike Kulyak before her marriage to the police patrol wagon driver, Attorneys Eugene P. Meegan and John Henrick asked Judge Irving L. Weaver for time to investigate before filing objections in the Superior court. Later they told reporters that they learned Mrs. Nottingham had been divorced from Kulyak, but would ask for a new trial on technical grounds.

Attorney Murphy O. Tate, representing Mrs. Nottingham, said she married Kulyak on Aug. 7, 1916. On Dec. 6, 1916, she filed a bill for divorce in the Cook County Circuit court, Attorney Tate said, and on Oct. 20, 1917, Judge David Brothers entered a decree divorcing her from Kulyak, and she took her maiden name of Susanne Georjack. Under that name, Attorney Tate said, she married Nottingham in Waukegan in 1922.

POSTMASTER LOSES JOB ON EVE OF FETE HE PLANNED FOR CHIEF

For weeks George Faxon, Republican postmaster at Plano, Ill., for 28 years, has been boosting his community's plans for celebrating President Roosevelt's birthday today. He was named general chairman of the committee in charge of the Presidential ball and gave the function much publicity in the Kendall county weekly newspaper he publishes.

Yesterday in the midst of his last minute preparations for the ball, he received an official letter from Washington notifying him that he had been dropped from the government roles and that his assistant, Miss Ila Blakely, has been appointed acting postmistress in his place.

A short time later citizens noticed that the large poster on display in the postoffice announcing the presidential ball bore the word "canceled" in large letters across its top. A delegation of birthday party committeemen, headed by Mayor R. A. Graves, immediately visited Faxon. After considerable parleying Faxon announced that the ball would be held, though he was smarting under the injustice of his dismissal. He said it was unjust because he had consistently supported the Democratic administration and published all its propaganda in his newspaper.

AUTO INDUSTRY GIVES $22,500 TO PARALYSIS FUND

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Gifts of $22,500 from the automobile industry of Detroit and $1,000 from Senator James Couzens to President Roosevelt's birthday fund for relief of infantile paralysis sufferers, were announced today by Edsel Ford, treasurer of the committee arranging the birthday ball here.

Mr. Ford said the individual donors of the $22,500 did not wish their names used and requested the gifts be announced as coming from the automobile industry.

HOLDUP STATIONER SECOND TIME.

Two men armed with pistols entered the stationery store of Forest B. Davis at 350 East 71st street, which is also a postal substation, and escaped with $50 yesterday morning. Davis recognized the robbers as the ones who held him up a few weeks ago, obtaining $60.

RULE OF VIOLENCE BY 2 AGENTS TOLD AT RACKET TRIAL

Bombs and Threats Laid to Dye Chiefs.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

Al Boris and Charles Goldstein, business agents of the retail tailors' union, were pictured yesterday as cruising the streets with pistols and slingshots, shattering windows of independent tailors, in the direct evidence of violence the state has produced in the trial of eighteen defendants in the racket conspiracy case before Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan in Criminal court.

Joseph Sevick, member of a detective bureau squad, recalled for the jury the occasion of July 8, 1925, when his squad caught Boris and Goldstein smashing the window of Gus Kerkes, independent tailor at 4728 Sheridan road. Kerkes had previously testified to threats made by Goldstein, because he, Kerkes, quit the Central Cleaners and Dyers, dye plant dominated by George [Bugs] Moran.

Expects to Bind All 18.

Although the policeman's testimony extended back more than eight years, Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber expects to bind Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, Attorneys Aaron Sapiro and Morris I. Kaplan, and the 14 other defendants to acts of Boris and Goldstein since, under the conspiracy law, all defendants are bound by the acts of each, if conspiracy be proved.

"We were cruising south in Sheridan road in the 4700 block that night," Policeman Sevick testified, "when we saw a uniformed officer hanging on the side of a yellow cab, pursuing a gray touring car. We gave chase, also, and overtook the gray car.

Find Slingshot in Seat.

"Within," he continued, "were the defendants, Boris and Goldstein. There was a pistol in the back seat and a slingshot under the cushion, with lead pellets for ammunition. The uniformed policeman, named Esau, since dead, told us Boris and Goldstein had passed by the tailor shop at the moment the window was smashed. We questioned Boris, who gave us the alias of 'Al Brown' and claimed he had a right to carry a gun because he was a special deputy sheriff."

On cross-examination Attorney Joseph Harrington brought out that notwithstanding the charge of malicious mischief lodged against the pair at their arrest they were later discharged in court.

"All right, if you want to bring that out," Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Dodd Healy challenged, "we'll bring in the records taken before Judge Borrelli in Sheffield Avenue court and show just why the defendants were discharged."

Cites Several Continuances.

The witness himself gave an intimation of the reason for the discharge order in response to Harrington's query as to why he remembered the arrest so clearly after eight years. "There were seven or eight continuances," he said, "and I was in court so often that I couldn't forget it."

Another tailor, Harry Neiditch, a timid but no less effective witness than the police, testified that Goldstein had shown the same disposition to keep him trading with the "Bugs" Moran plant that he had with Kerkes.

"I had been taking my bundles to the Central Cleaners for several months in 1931," he said, "when I became dissatisfied. Their plant was eight or nine miles from mine and the service was not so good. I asked Charlie Goldstein if I could change. He said, 'better not, or there'll be trouble.'"

Q.—And was there trouble? A.—Plenty. About two weeks after I quit the Central a ball from a slingshot smashed my window; still I stuck out against going back to the Central. Then, one night about ten days later, two men with guns walked in, stuck the guns against me and ordered me to the front of the shop. When I returned they had sprinkled acid over all my clothes. As they walked out, one said, 'Don't follow us, or we'll fill you full of lead.'"

Echoes of 1930 Bombings.

Echoes of the bombs in 1930 thrown, allegedly, to maintain the rules of the Cleaners and Dyers institute reverberated in court at the morning session.

Louis Tillman, a retail tailor for 40 years, testified he was operating a shop at 6810 North Clark street in 1930 when a competitor, Isaac Nemzer, opened a shop at 6757 North Clark street, less than a block away. As the rules of the Squires agreement prohibited more than one shop to each 100 numbers of a block, Tillman testified he called on Charles Goldstein to eliminate Nemzer and enforce the rule.

Witness Examined.

The witness, Tillman, was examined by Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford.

Q.—You have stated that Nemzer opened his shop in April, 1930, and that you called Goldstein; what was said? A.—He said he would see Nemzer and take care of it.

The state, with Nemzer's own story next on schedule, dismissed Tillman at this point.

Nemzer was the next witness called. He confirmed Tillman's story that he had opened a shop within a block of Tillman's in April, 1930.

Q.—Did you have a talk with Goldstein? A.—Yes, he came into my shop the day I opened up and said I'd have to get out—I was breaking the union rule.

Q.—What happened next? A.—I was taking my bundles to the plant of the Arrow Cleaners. Within three weeks, they told me they couldn't go along. I changed to the North Town Cleaners and within six weeks they told me the same thing.

Store Bombed in July.

Q.—What happened in July? A.—My store was bombed.

Another tailor, Philip Kaufman, 2728 North Kedzie avenue, told of Goldstein's quaint methods of suppressing discontent within the union. He recalled a meeting of 1,500 tailors in the union hall about the time of Nemzer's bombing.

"Some of us had reduced our price from the $1.25 set by the Squires Institute," he said. "I was charging 79 cents. Charlie Goldstein got up at the meeting and said any one charging 79 cents would have his windows smashed.

Q.—Anything else? A.—Somebody said he couldn't keep all the tailors in line. He [Goldstein] said 'if I get back in power, I'll treat those cut rate tailors like rats.'

Bandit Robs Girl Cashier in Loop of $132 and Flees

A bandit strolled into the Glen Inn restaurant on the second floor at 33 South Wabash avenue yesterday afternoon and robbed the cashier of $132 in cash. He poked a gun into the side of Miss Gertrude Kavanaugh, 28 years old, 243 Englewood avenue, the cashier, and waited until she had handled the checks of several customers before rifling the cash drawer. As he left the restaurant Miss Kavanaugh screamed. George L. Bradshaw, proprietor, gave chase, but was outdistanced in the loop crowds. He said the bandit was joined by two accomplices.

VICTIM OF CHINA KIDNAPING GANG VISITS CHICAGO

Dr. Niels Nielson, American missionary physician who was held for ransom by Chinese brigands for six months, arrived in Chicago last night with his wife on the Santa Fe from San Francisco. The couple are on their way to Denmark.

The doctor was kidnaped in April, 1933, from the hospital which he has maintained for 20 years in Shu Yeu, Manchuria. After numerous efforts by the Japanese, American, and Danish governments he was released for $5,000 last October. While a captive, he says he was often called upon to perform emergency operations on the soldiers. "Always, the promise to set me free in return for my services was broken," he added. In spite of his experiences, both Dr. Nielson and his wife expressed a desire to return to China.

The couple will remain in Chicago with friends for a week before continuing their journey to Denmark, where Dr. Nielson will report to the Danish Missionary society which sponsors the Manchuria hospital.

SUMPTER GIVEN YEAR, FREED IN BANK BURGLARY

Holbrook, Ariz., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Dillworth Sumpter, Socialist candidate last fall for Arizona's congressional seat, was given a suspended sentence of a year and a day in state prison, by Superior Judge P. A. Sawyer today, for attempting Sunday to enter the First National Bank of Winslow.

Sumpter, who said he sought money to care for his invalid mother, pleaded guilty to burglary in the first degree in Superior court after he had waived preliminary hearing.

Sumpter who polled almost 7,000 votes in his defeat for congress by Mrs. Isabella Greenway, was captured early Sunday by a Winslow patrolman, who said he was attempting to tunnel into the bank.

BEAT WRIT BY HOUR AND FLY DILLINGER BACK

Indianans Too Speedy; Will Get Other Three.

legal. They can't take me east without a hearing."

Dillinger's hands were manacled. Chief Makar said his feet would also be locked in braces in the plane. The bandit leader was trembling slightly; one lip kept twitching. His debonair spirit of this morning, when he expected to be extradited to Racine, Wis., had disappeared. Conviction in Indiana carries a mandatory death penalty.

Dillinger was the only one of the four captives taken here who was identified as a participant in the East Chicago robbery and the resulting murder of Policeman O'Malley. As soon as he saw Dillinger, Chief Makar identified him as the machine gunner who shot down O'Malley on the steps of the bank, using one of the bank's officials as a shield. Dillinger had two companions in the robbery. One was John Hamilton, who is also charged with the earlier murder of Police Sergt. William T. Shanley in Chicago. The third was not identified.

States' Officers Wrangle.

Bad blood was evidenced between the Indiana and Wisconsin officials the moment the latter arrived here last night and started business-like negotiations for the gunmen to go to Racine without fighting extradition. Capt. Leach and his aids voiced their discontent that the gang should be taken to Wisconsin for a robbery when other states want to send them to the electric chair for murder.

The Wisconsin officials already bore a grudge against Leach because of his conduct in the case of Leslie Homer, another of the Racine bank bandits. Homer was captured and returned to Indiana as a parole violator, where he confessed the Racine robbery and named his accomplices. John Brown, Racine county attorney, and Lyle L. George, who came here in company of Police Chief Grover C. Lutter of Racine, went to Indiana to get him.

After they left, Brown charged, Leach told newspaper men their plans for the return trip, and the published stories gave members of the Dillinger gang knowledge of their movements.

"That put us on the spot," said Brown. "The mob knew Homer had confessed and wanted to shoot him anyway."

Homer in Prison in Day.

The trip to Racine was made in safety, however, and Homer was in the state penitentiary less than 24 hours later. The speed of Wisconsin justice in his case was one of the arguments advanced by the Wisconsin officials in their plea for custody of other members of the gang.

Their plea to local officials was strengthened by the promise of $4,800 in rewards which Wisconsin offered for return of the bank bandits for trial. As soon as they reached here they went to the jail and proposed to the desperadoes that they waive extradition. Attorney Van Buskirk, acting for the gangsters, coöperated in urging that they sign, but Dillinger and his pals demurred until this morning, doubtful as to the effect of their action upon the three women who were arrested with them. They signed after they were assured their removal would have no effect on the women's status. Capt. Leach said that he would seek to have one of the women, Mary Kinder, removed to Indiana on the charge of aiding the Michigan City prison break.

Get Marriage License.

A marriage license paid for by the sheriff was issued today to Pierpont and Mary Kinder.

No marriage had been performed tonight, and the man and woman did not meet when the license was issued. Mrs. Elisabeth Oney filled in the affidavit blank for the license, standing first in front of the cell occupied by Pierpont, and then before the woman's cell on another floor.

When first arrested here she had posed as "Mrs. Pierpont." Today's license application was her first definite admission Pierpont was not her husband.

COLORED MAN SHOOTS WIFE.

W. H. Britt, 58 years old, colored, an eye doctor, yesterday shot and seriously wounded his wife, Georgia, in their home at 4710 South State street. He told police he was afraid she intended to poison him.

GIVE UP ALL HOPE OF SEEING OTHER SUNS' PLANETS

Orb 4 Billion Miles Off Is Invisible.

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The men who handle the world's largest telescope say there is no chance to see any planets in other solar systems than our own. So far as astronomy has progressed the question of whether human life exists in other planetary bodies like the earth is a matter of conjecture.

The most remote planet that is observable is Pluto, some 3 billion 800 million miles away. It wouldn't be possible to see a planet much more distant than that, said Alfred H. Joy, secretary of the Mount Wilson observatory here of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

No Elbow Room.

The sun, the star of the earth's solar system, is but about 93 million miles away. The next nearest star is four and a half light years, that is 27 trillion [27 million million] miles distant. If there should be a planetary system in that nearest star neighbor, said Joy, it would be a hopeless task to look for it.

These stars are seen because of their bright light, from a glowing burning mass upwards of 50,000 degrees in temperature. Planets upon which life could exist are cold in comparison, and shine only by reflected light.

The most distant star that can be seen is about 4½ million light years away, that is 27 quintillion miles [27 million million million].

By Latest Census.

Beyond that stars cannot be seen, only distant island nebulae, great universes of stars, are visible, their luminosity being some eight million times as great as the brightest stars.

So, the astronomers say, in our own milky way galaxy there are perhaps some 30 billion stars.

Whether each one has its planetary earth, with human life, is something to be talked about but not observed, astronomers say.

2 DIVERS SEEK DEATH AUTO IN CANAL WATERS

Watertown, N. Y., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two Ogdensburg divers, handicapped by a temperature of 12 degrees below zero, descended into the icy waters of the Powers canal at Black river three times this morning in an effort to find the automobile in which four nuns and a driver went to their deaths last night.

The divers, George Fisher and Edward Boucher, reported that the valves of their diving suits froze so fast it was impossible to stay in the water more than a minute or two at a time. They found no sign of the car in the first attempts.

Fails to Slay Premier of Afghans, So Kills Himself

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 29.—(AP)—An assassin failed in an attempt to kill Hashin Khan, premier of Afghanistan, and killed himself instead, said a report from Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, today. Details were lacking. Hashin Khan was the premier of King Mohammed Zahir Khan, whose father, the former King Nadir Khan, was himself assassinated last November.

DRY LAW SLAYER GETS SENTENCE IN STATE PRISON

Shot Boy Over Wine; Gets Manslaughter Term.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Henry Dierks, former federal prohibition agent, was sentenced to from one year to 18 months in Colorado state penitentiary for voluntary manslaughter in the United States District court here this afternoon. He was convicted of the slaying, Nov. 7, 1931, of Melford G. Smith, 20, during an altercation over a small quantity of wine in a lunchroom at Englewood, Denver suburb.

Upon hearing the sentence, Dierks grasped the edge of a table and sank into his chair. After a few moments he regained his composure and calmly announced his intention to appeal the case to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The case already had been shunted about between state and federal courts more than two years over a question of jurisdiction. The outcome was trial in a federal court with the United States as co-defendant and the state as prosecutor.

The case went to the jury last Thursday night, and a verdict was reached Sunday morning after more than 36 hours' deliberation and 30 ballots. The verdict was read to the court this morning. It was the most severe possible, since the only alternatives were not guilty, voluntary and involuntary manslaughter.

Judge J. F. Symes ruled out first and second degree murder charges. The verdict allowed a maximum sentence of eight years, a minimum of one year. The jury recommended leniency.

NEW AIRFLOW CHRYSLER

After Ten years of Progress

CHRYSLER leaps ten years ahead!

AFTER ten years of courageous pioneering, Chrysler now pioneers again . . . bringing to the world a motor car so advanced that it literally creates a new form of travel.

The new Airflow* Chrysler seems actually to ignore the road it runs on. It takes any kind of road at any rate of speed as serenely as if it were cushioned on air.

Dynamic Balance

This marvelous Floating Ride is made possible by scientific application of dynamic balance. All important weights have been redistributed.

The engine is over the front axle. The passengers are suspended at the center of balance . . . 20 inches forward of the rear axle. You'll realize what that means if you call to mind the old-fashioned beam-type scale . . . with the beam suspended exactly at the center of balance. As the beam swings, the ends move in a wide arc . . . but the center scarcely moves at all.

In the Airflow Chrysler, you ride with a minimum of motion at the center of balance . . . and in addition there are two other factors that contribute to the Floating Ride.

THE CENTER OF BALANCE MOVES LEAST

The action of the front springs is entirely independent of the rear. And the "periodicity"—or rate of movement—of the springs has been slowed down to a point that science proves to be most agreeable to human nerves.

The result is an effortless ease of motion beyond anything you have ever experienced in any kind of vehicle.

The World's Safest Car

The Airflow Chrysler is the world's first true "ride-inside" car. The all-steel body and frame are a single unit. Part of the frame is actually over your head. You ride inside a rigid bridgework of steel girders.

This strong Airflow body also makes possible a car as spacious as a drawing room. Front and rear seats are like divans . . . both have plenty of room for three. And there is a big inside luggage compartment back of the rear seat.

Airflow also provides for the perfect ventilation system . . . with clear vision, maximum air control, and no wind roar.

Befitting a car so modern and advanced, the interiors are wholly new. The roof makes use of a new material . . . dustproof, washable, strikingly beautiful.

No description however can quite convey to you what the Airflow Chrysler is like . . . you must see it and ride in it . . . that alone can give you the story.

A NEW CHRYSLER SIX

with independently sprung front wheels

Companion to the new Airflow Eights is the handsome 1934 Chrysler Six . . . worthy successor to the famous Chrysler Sixes that have made every year a brilliant year in the decade of Chrysler progress. ☆ The 1934 Six is a bigger Six . . . with the flashing performance of 93 horsepower . . . with seven roomy, beautifully streamlined models on 117 and 121-inch wheelbases. ☆ It has a new, perfected ventilation system . . . with increased vision . . . and a wide range of adjustment for every passenger. ☆ It has independently sprung front wheels . . . to give a levelized, cushioned ride over any sort of road . . . safer, smoother, steadier. ☆ The surprisingly low price is a revelation in value giving.

THE ROAD OF TRAVEL LUXURY

SCOTT PROMISES FULL FACTS ON SCHOOL MERGER

N. U. Head Denounces View of Critic.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dr. George W. Crane, publisher of a brochure opposed to the Northwestern-University of Chicago merger, last night was severely criticised by President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern, who classed Dr. Crane as "a full time third year student in the medical school" and a "part time lecturer in psychology."

Dr. Scott said Dr. Crane's "statements imply that the University of Chicago is now confronted with financial problems impossible of solution except through a merger with Northwestern university. I have had access to the complete financial report of the University of Chicago, including the budgets for the year 1933-'34, and so far as I can judge the University of Chicago has no indebtedness and is in no financial difficulties."

Promises to Give Facts.

Both universities, Dr. Scott added, are still engaged in a broad survey covering the educational, financial and legal implications of merger. He promised that both universities will be given the facts as soon as they are available.

Dr. Crane last night admitted his student status in the medical school of Northwestern as well as his part time lectureship in psychology, but pointed to the publication in 1932 of his text book, "Psychology Applied" which, he said, "is being used in 100 universities of the United States, including Columbia and Yale." For the last ten years Dr. Crane has been on the faculty at George Washington university and Northwestern. Prior to that time he was associated with the Carnegie institute at Washington, D. C., and with the National Research council.

Dr. Crane's brochure praised President Hutchins' sagacity and executive ability in developing the plan for merger. He declared that the young midway president "is being talked of in political circles as a promising leader of the Democratic party a few years hence." But Dr. Crane charged that President Hutchins is attempting, through merger, to protect the Midway institutions from future financial collapse and to "shift the financial responsibility from Rockefeller's shoulders to those of Northwestern."

Argues Against Merger.

The brochure recalls President Hutchins' move two years ago failed to "get Lewis institute with its 2,500 students and endowments to slip under Chicago's domination. Failing there he began agitating for an even more impressive union, whereby he would add our $50,000,000 assets to those of the University of Chicago."

Dr. Crane argued against merger on the ground that educational interests would not be served by copying Insull industrial pyramiding methods. He charged that the University of Chicago had refused to open its books to Northwestern, making financial data unavailable for consideration.

It is the plan of Dr. Crane and his group to send copies of the brochure to Northwestern's 38,000 graduates. He stated, however, that his application for the official alumni list was refused and also that paid advertising space in the Alumni News was denied him. However, Dr. Crane said the brochures are being mailed to Northwestern alumni at the rate of about 1,000 daily to a list of 10,000 graduates whose addresses thus far have been obtained. He added that many Northwestern alumni are aiding him in the development of an alumni list and that the group for which he is spokesman will use that private list for later mailings as future merger developments indicate.

Works on Birthday

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER JR.

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Jr., millionaire philanthropist and director of many enterprises, celebrated his 60th birthday today, working as usual.

Mr. Rockefeller, one of the world's wealthiest men and the son of John D. Rockefeller Sr., who had his 94th birthday last July, said he had made no plans to mark the day.

The senior Mr. Rockefeller, unlike his son, has usually celebrated his birthdays by handing out brand new dimes, receiving the press and playing a few rounds of golf.

Gale, Water Shortage and Cold Vex Fighters.

Anderson, Ind., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A stubborn fire, fanned by high winds and quickly spreading because of an insufficient water supply, destroyed the main business block in the downtown area today, with loss of more than $750,000.

Fighting the fire in 6 below zero weather, three firemen and two policemen were injured when they fell while working on ice covered ladders.

Four Anderson firemen were treated in the hospital for exposure and the condition of Virgil Ellsworth, first assistant fire chief, was reported serious.

Phone Girls Flee in Smoke.

The conflagration, fanned by a 30 mile gale, seriously threatened a large section of the business district before it was brought under control by the combined efforts of fire fighters from Muncie, Elwood, and Anderson.

Electric railway traffic both local and interstate was halted for several hours. Telephone officials feared communication by the local exchange could not be reinstated for at least a week, as 5,500 telephones were put out of service. Telephone operators fled down smoke filled stairways and by outside fire escapes.

More than 1,500 persons were thrown out of employment by the fire.

Fifteen Firemen Injured.

New York, Jan. 29.—Special.]—Two spectacular fires kept Brooklyn firemen on the jump today. More than 15 firemen were injured and 26 buildings were burned to the ground.

In Canarsie, a five-alarm fire destroyed half of Golden City park, burned out three blocks along Jamaica bay and did $150,000 damage. A burning wall fell on seven firemen.

Peoria Brewery Afire.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Fire raged in the new seven story Pabst Blue Ribbon brewery at Peoria Heights at 11 o'clock tonight despite efforts of fire fighters from Peoria Heights and Peoria. Fire department officials expected the loss to reach $150,000.

The building, still under construction, was apparently fireproof, but a blaze started in the cork insulated walls. Twenty-five firemen were overcome by smoke.

Georgetown Hotel Burns.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Loss was estimated at $100,000 when fire swept a hotel and general store at Georgetown near here early today.

SUSPECT JAILED IN GIRL'S KILLING DURING A HOLDUP

David London, 27 years old, 1221 South Springfield avenue, was being held in the county jail yesterday awaiting trial on the charge of murder of Miss Florence Quinn, 26 years old, in an attempted robbery last Aug. 26. London was surrendered to Coroner Frank J. Walsh Thursday by his attorney, Charles A. Bellows.

Miss Quinn was fatally wounded while she was eating breakfast in a restaurant at 658 Orleans street. Albert Pappas, owner of the restaurant, became suspicious of two men who entered, seized a revolver and exchanged shots with them when they announced a holdup.

Witnesses identified photographs of London and James Kozak, who is still a fugitive, as those of the bandits. Both have minor police records. An automobile, owned by London, was found near the scene. It was naye claimed. A coroner's jury recommended London and Kozak be held to the grand jury for murder.

Attorney Bellows said London surrendered because he is innocent of the crime and will plead not guilty upon arraignment.

U. S. TRIALS START FROM WRONG END, MEDALIE DECLARES

American trials start from the wrong end, George Z. Medalie, former United States attorney for the southern district of New York, yesterday told a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Bar association.

"A trial should start with the accused being put under interrogation before a court and jury, which is the system in all but the English speaking countries," he said. "A tyrannical king with his star chamber sessions is responsible for the provision in our national constitution that no person be compelled to give evidence against himself."

Mr. Medalie urged that local authorities create a body of trained investigators such as the government maintains.

"It is now the practice for a prosecutor to wait until incriminating evidence is in his possession before a person is put on trial," Mr. Medalie said. "We hear every day of persons with criminal reputations walking the streets unmolested.

"If a prosecutor would start out to seek evidence against a person of criminal repute undoubtedly it could be obtained. That was done in the cases of Al Capone in Chicago and Waxey Gordon in New York.

NEW COLLAPSE DELAYS CASE OF ALICE WYNEKOOP

Assignment to another judge of the murder trial of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, interrupted a fortnight ago when Judge Joseph B. David declared a mistrial on account of the defendant's illness, was postponed for one week yesterday when Dr. Wynekoop suffered another collapse.

The 63 year old physician, indicted for the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta Wynekoop, was dressing in the county jail for an appearance before Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan in Criminal court when, according to the jail physician, Dr. Francis W. McNamara, she fell half fainting from a heart attack. Dr. McNamara immediately informed the chief justice that Dr. Wynekoop was too ill to go to court.

By agreement of Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty and Dr. Wynekoop's attorney, W. W. Smith, Judge Finnegan set the case for Feb. 6. Dougherty suggested that the case be reassigned outside the defendant's presence by stipulation, but the judge demurred.

"From the way things are going it's beginning to look as though Dr. Wynekoop may never go to trial again," Dougherty conceded.

ENDS LIFE BY HANGING.

John Rose, 51 years old, 1148 Massasoit avenue, yesterday hanged himself in the garage at the rear of his home, supposedly over worry due to his inability to meet a marriage assignment on his home next week.

FREDERICK H. PRINCE SETTLES SUIT OVER POLO ROW INJURIES

Salem, Mass., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The suit of Arthur Mason Hamilton, polo pony dealer, against Frederick H. Prince, banker and sportsman and chairman of the executive committee of Armour & Co., was settled this morning for a sum said not to exceed $15,000. In his suit, which has been in litigation for three years, Mason sought $50,000 for injuries he alleged he received when Prince struck him over the head with a polo mallet at a game in Hamilton in 1929.

DOROTHY RAMBO, ACTRESS, TO WED PRINCE OF INDIA

Delano, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Miss Dorothy Rambo, known on the stage as Sandra Rambo, said today she will leave Feb. 4 for London to become the bride of Prince Bishnu, third in succession to the throne of the principality of Nepal, India.

Miss Rambo, who is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Rambo, said she met the prince while she was a member of the "Midnight Follies" in London.

She announced they will make their home in a suburb of London until the prince succeeds to the throne.

Miss Rambo is a native of Oklahoma.

MORE ROOM—MORE COMFORT

The Six, 5-Passenger Touring Coupe with Trunk.

How does it compare with the Oldsmobile whose sales leaped 50% last year? IT IS BETTER—AT EVERY POINT.

Read below the detailed news about a few of these advancements. Some low-price cars have some of these features; only Oldsmobile has ALL. And this new Six has even more of the famous performance and endurance that have placed Oldsmobile at the top of the list in owner loyalty. It is air-stream styled. It is precision-built throughout.

OLDSMOBILE EIGHT VASTLY IMPROVED... PRICES HELD DOWN

In the face of upward price trends, Oldsmobile Eight has added room, added beauty, and includes all the advancements mentioned here. YET THE PRICE STAYS AT LAST YEAR'S LOW! See this great value at the Show, with every development, every advancement that will be talked about in 1934.

CENTER-CONTROL STEERING

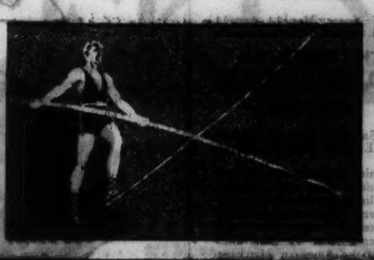
Divorces steering from road shocks taken by front wheels. Increases comfort and safety. Steering action is exerted on both front wheels at a point midway between instead of from one side. Steering wheel is free from "shimmy" or quiver under your hand.

KNEE-ACTION WHEELS

Biggest mechanical improvement since self-starter. Each front wheel mounted independently and cushioned on strong, flexible coil spring of its own—controlled by double-action hydraulic shock absorber. Wheel "walks" over bumps, while body of car remains stable. This lessens "pitching," makes back seat as easy-riding as front . . . wheels take the bumps—you don't. This new spring action is much like that of your own knees when they bend independently.

SUPER-HYDRAULIC BRAKES

Not just another hydraulic brake, but a tremendous advancement. Self-energizing, progressively increasing its own pressure. Grips smoothly with slightest foot pressure. Always equalized on all four wheels. Quick, sure braking without jerks or jars. Independent mechanical hand brake on rear wheels—with stopping power equal to entire braking system of former cars with two-wheel brakes.



RIDE STABILIZER

You have felt cars sway and roll at high speed or rounding curves. In Oldsmobile this is now prevented by a built-in Ride Stabilizer—a heavy spring steel bar joining the two rear shock absorbers. Counteracts tendency of one side of car to rise faster than the other. When you take a curve you remain relaxed, comfortable; passengers will not careen from side to side. The new Oldsmobile is ALWAYS in balance.

AND ALL THESE . . FISHER NO DRAFT VENTILATION—Beautiful new bodies by Fisher, strongest known—Safety glass windshield and ventilators—Syncro-Mesh non-clashing Transmission, silent in ALL gears, including first and reverse—X-type frame—Down-draft carburetion, with automatic heat control—Full-pressure engine lubrication with rifle-drilled connecting rods—Counter-weighted crankshaft—Electro-plated pistons—Vibrationless rubber cradling of engine and body—Independent vibrationless mounting of radiator and front fenders—Larger battery capacity for easier cold weather starting—Built-in radio aerial—Built-in trunk on touring models—Horsepower: The Six, 84; the Eight, 90; speed 77 and 82 m.p.h.—Over-all length 189½" and 197¼"—Many comforts women especially appreciate. Sixes priced $640 and up, Eights $845 and up, f. o. b. Lansing. Spare tire with lock, metal tire cover, bumpers front and rear, and seat spring covers built in all cars at extra list price.

AUTO EXPOSITION REPORTS 41 PCT. BOOST IN SALES

Part of Credit Is Given to Newspapers.

BY HAL FOUST.

Paul Hoffman, like other motor car executives in Chicago for the automobile show this week, was in his company's hotel headquarters late yesterday afternoon. And, like the others, he was surrounded with telegrams, jingling telephones and assistants anxious to confer—all urgent business growing out of the 1934 trade upturn as reflected by attendance and sales at the motor exposition in the Coliseum.

The management of the motor show had announced that sales during the first day and a half of the exposition exceeded last year's figures for the same period by 41.8 per cent. Cars worth $247,800 have been sold this year as compared with $174,700 in 1933.

More Than Mere Curiosity.

Mr. Hoffman, who is president of the Studebaker Sales Corporation of America, commented on this increase in business.

"With folks running down to the Coliseum for the motor show in sub-zero weather there's more than an idle curiosity in these 1934 models," he said.

"It's an acquisitive interest that is bringing men and women through the doors of the Coliseum in greater numbers than in any year since 1929. And the sales, here and in all parts of the country, indicate that a general economic improvement is permitting folks to satisfy their desire for new and better cars."

There was an interruption in the interview for Mr. Hoffman to talk with his factory at South Bend.

A Matter of Credit.

"We car manufacturers," he continued, "are inclined to take all the credit for this upturn in automobile sales. We're building better vehicles than ever before, safer, faster, and better looking.

"The management of the show is inclined to claim credit for the increased gate receipts at the exposition. It is a better show than ever before, more things to see, more things to hear, and all in more attractive settings.

"The national administration will claim its dues. There's a general improvement in business conditions that is permitting more automobiles to be sold.

"But there's a factor in motor car merchandising that does not receive due recognition. Paradoxical as the shoe cobbler with barefooted children, newspapers have not advertised the important part they have taken in motorizing America.

Champion of Improvements.

"I refer to aggressive champions of the motoring public—like THE TRIBUNE—that have led public opinion in successful campaigns for vital improvements in driving conditions, betterments in traffic facilities that have materially enhanced the pleasure and utility of automobile ownership.

"In Chicagoland a few years ago THE TRIBUNE successfully conducted a lengthy campaign for wider highways. These four lane pavements have made automobiles more valuable the Chicago owners. THE TRIBUNE also whipped the more atrocious peed traps, making it easier for the industry to sell its vehicles in this territory.

For Elevated Highways.

"This newspaper is now fighting for an elevated highway system for Chicago. The campaign may last for years more, but the fight will not end until the superhighways are built. And when they are built the industry will sell more cars in Chicago.

"I'm not a publicity man for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. I'm merely citing these circumstances to illustrate my point that the newspapers are entitled to as much credit as the manufacturers or the public officials, for motorizing America and for today's upturn in the automobile business."

AUTO SHOW NOTES

Henry Ford's executives entertained newspaper men at a breakfast at the Drake hotel yesterday. W. K. Edmunds, manager of the Chicago branch of the Ford Motor company, described current economic trends as a business upturn without headlines. Arthur Hatch, general sales manager for Lincoln, said that foreign sales in the last thirty days equaled the total for the first five months of 1933.

"We're not here to tell of sales and production increases," said W. C. Cowling, general sales manager. "The main interest of the Ford Motor company is to create a better understanding between American business and the American public. We'd like to bring back to American business the wholesomeness and decency upon which this country was built."

A miniature wind tunnel, demonstrating the benefits of streamlining, constitutes part of De Soto's exhibit at the Coliseum show. The tunnel illustrates the benefits of the Chrysler lines's revolutionary "airflow" body styles.

H. G. Moock, Plymouth general sales manager, reported that orders now on file at the factory have reached an all time record of $21,000,000. The production has been stepped up to normal capacity and all of the dealers are now sampled with 1934 models, according to Mr. Moock.

Buick and Pontiac distributors and dealers, at a luncheon in the Palmer house yesterday, heard optimistic reports from their bosses. H. J. Klingler, president of Pontiac, said that February production will double that of January and that the March schedule will establish an all time factory record. Harlow Curtice, president of Buick, pictured a bright outlook for the medium price field.

Harry T. Hollingshead, president of Nash Sales, Inc., made a point for the 1934 motorist. He said it is going to be easier to own and operate an automobile in 1934 than ever before in history. "The dated car system," he said, "establishes a uniform trade-in value for all automobiles. The car buyer today can go to the dealer offering the best service, and know that he will get value received in every respect."

Even though the thermometer dropped below zero, attendance records at the General Motors' Anniversary show in the Hotel Stevens continued to be broken. More than four times as many people have entered the show than attended during the same period of last year and every Chicago attendance figure of all previous shows has been topped by more than three to one.

Nearly two hundred Auburn dealers and distributors were present at a breakfast meeting in the Stevens yesterday, when W. H. Beal, president, announced the appointment of H. T. Ames as assistant to the president of the Auburn company. Mr. Ames is also president of Duesenberg Inc.

Business optimism colored the Reo dealer luncheon at the Lake Shore Athletic club. Talks were given by R. E. Olds, who has again assumed active management of the company; E. G. Poxson, general sales manager; W. G. Eversman, advertising manager; and Thomas J. Hay, distributor in charge of the Chicago territory.

ITALIAN AIRMEN CRASH AFTER HOP OVER ATLANTIC

FORTALEZA, Brazil, Jan. 29.—Italy's first attempt to span the south Atlantic with a regular air mail plane ended in a smashup on the jungle coast of Brazil before dawn today.

The plane's crew of four men, two of whom were hurt in the crash, were found by an American, Bert Sours, pilot of a Pan-American airways plane flying its regular run northward toward the United States.

Sours dropped a note of encouragement to the stranded flyers and reported his discovery by wireless to his company. Soon two rescue expeditions were on their way to the wrecked plane. They found the Italians and brought them back alive—but suffering.

Two Flyers Injured.

Davidi Giulini, 34, radio operator, was taken to a hospital to undergo a serious facial operation. His nasal palate bones were shattered and the facial nerve was cut. Dr. Atilla Sendy said delicate plastic surgery was necessary.

Marino Battaglia, 36, mechanic, went into the hospital with his right thigh bone fractured and a broken finger on his right hand.

The leaders of the flight, Commander Francia Lombardi, 36, and his second pilot, Count Franco Mazzotti, 29, were unhurt but exhausted. They were taken to a hotel, where they dropped off to sleep.

Lashed by Rainstorm.

They had intended to link their nation's capital to Buenos Aires in record time. They used a land plane, a tri-motored Savoia-Marchetti. The flyers aimed for Natal, 300 miles southwest of the spot where they finally came down, 12 miles from here.

They approached the Brazilian coast near midnight. But the tropics stopped them. As they groped in the darkness for their destination, a tropical rainstorm smashed against them. Bewildered, they flew back and forth. They were lost. They swerved southward, far off their course, shortly after they reached the vicinity of Fernado do Noronha island, 125 miles off the eastern tip of Brazil.

Wireless messages from Air France, the international French flying company, helped the Italians regain their course, but later they drifted north again and were lost.

Just before dawn the plane's motor was heard over Fortaleza. Its roar faded into the distance and was gone. The Italians made one last desperate attempt at victory. They set their machine down on the narrow beach. Its left wheel struck a rock and the giant plane overturned.

SHORTER HOURS NEEDED, MINERS TOLD BY GREEN

Praises NRA as Help to Labor.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Further reduction in working hours under the national industrial recovery act, along with increased wages for labor, was advocated to bring about a solution of the present economic and unemployment problems of the nation by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address here today before the convention of the United Mine Workers of America.

"It is clearly evident that with industry now highly mechanized the hours of labor must be reduced if we are to find work for the unemployed," Green said in advocating a uniform six hour day and thirty hour week.

Green said organized labor is making an effort to have congress pass an amendment to the industrial recovery act which would outlaw company unions.

Assails Employers.

He asserted many employers are attempting to nullify labor's rights under the NRA to organize without restraint by supporting widespread company union movements. He referred specifically to the "Manufacturers' association."

"No convention of the mine workers has ever been held under more inspiring or auspicious circumstances," Green said. "You have assembled when the nation is trying out a new economic experiment. We are stepping into a new day and a new experience that will bring increased happiness to the toiling masses of the nation."

Says Labor Helped Form NRA.

Green said NRA was the outgrowth of distressing economic conditions that had prevailed for four years prior to enactment. He said labor was largely responsible as it had appealed for legislation of this type.

"We had waited for a great leader who would bring this about," he said. "Finally that leader came. He spoke words that encouraged the masses. In my judgment the hand of Providence must have been shown because he came at the crucial moment when something had to be done. I think every one of us should thank Divine Providence for our great President."

Although the recovery act has been in operation only a comparatively short time, he said, substantial progress has been made. He cited reduced working hours, increased wages, and abolishment of child labor as achievements.

Extortion Trial of Harris Is Continued to Feb. 28

The trial of Edmund R. Harris Jr., young Baltimore architect, on charges of writing an extortion note to Mrs. Mary Cave Hall, defendant in the $1,000,000 alienation of affections suit filed by Mrs. Grace Williamson Willett, estranged wife of Howard Willett, was continued yesterday to Feb. 28. The delay was agreed upon by both prosecution and defense before Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone of Wisconsin. Judge Stone will hear criminal cases in the federal District court here for the remainder of the week because of the absence of Judge James H. Wilkerson on vacation.

QUALIFY JURORS FOR DEATH IN 'HIGHBALL' TRIAL

Woman Doctor Unmoved as State Opens.

Greenwood, Miss., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Smartly gowned, completely at ease, 33 year old Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, specialist in children's diseases, today sat unmoved as one prospective juror after another assured the state they would not hesitate to send her to the gallows if she should be proved guilty of murder.

In a crowded courtroom she went on trial for the death of her friend and professional associate, Dr. John Preston Kennedy.

Blame Poisoned Highball.

The state will attempt to prove that Dr. Kennedy, prominent Greenwood surgeon, died last August after drinking a poisoned whisky highball handed him by Dr. Dean during a midnight visit to the woman physician's apartment.

After his death friends disclosed that Dr. Kennedy had made plans to rewed his divorced wife, who had gone to Panama to await his arrival. Mrs. Kennedy is in Greenwood for Dr. Dean's trial, but attorneys have declined to say whether she would be called as a witness.

Penalty Up to Jury.

"Would the fact that the defendant is a woman prevent your returning a verdict to send her to the gallows?" District Attorney Arthur Jordan asked each of the first twelve men declared by the court to be qualified for jury service.

Each said it would not.

Jordan has indicated he will not ask specifically for the death penalty, but will leave the punishment, in event of conviction, up to the jury itself. He also gave indication today that the state would challenge any defense move to discredit Dr. Kennedy's private reputation or his personal affairs.

POLICEMAN HELD IN $50,000 BOND FOR 17 HOLDUPS

Policeman Boyle Bernot, who confessed to the commission of seventeen holdups of Illinois Central station agents, was held to the grand jury in $50,000 bond yesterday by Judge Harold P. O'Connell in the Felony court. The policeman, who was suspended from the department after his arrest a week ago, stood mute, so a technical plea of not guilty was entered. Bernot, freshly shaved and neatly dressed in civilian clothes, fidgeted as he stood beside his wife, an expectant mother. He did not repeat the statement he made to police, that he turned to robbery because he was behind in his pay from the city. He is 27 years old and lives at 8138 Drexel boulevard.

"And we give THE AMERICAN WEEKLY full credit for its part in selling radios in the higher price brackets!"

LAST October, the makers of PHILCO radios faced a real job. With the market full of cut-price radios, with the public drifting into the habit of buying the cheapest and least efficient types of sets, PHILCO launched a new model. A model built to give exceptional performance—but priced considerably higher than most retailers thought was "right" for the Fall of 1933.

REAL selling power to tell the story of a REAL radio was evidently the one possible solution. So PHILCO, world's largest manufacturer of radio, turned to The American Weekly—world's largest magazine. In six smashing full pages in full color, PHILCO said "Give your home a REAL radio!" to five million homes where The American Weekly is an ever welcome visitor.

The result? Well, here's a statement authorized by the makers of PHILCO:

"When we embarked on this campaign, we were frankly skeptical of the ability of The American Weekly to sell radios priced at well over one hundred dollars.

"Now we are no longer skeptical. We have seen The American Weekly put REAL selling power behind a REAL radio, and give The American Weekly full credit for having played a most important part in the nation-wide success of PHILCO'S 1933 Christmas campaign—which was designed to sell radios in the higher price brackets—and which did!"

At an average cost of ⅓ cent per home, you can tell your sales story, in full page, full color space to the more than 5,000,000 homes which make up The American Weekly's list of loyal, interested, prosperous readers!

Distributed through the 17 great Hearst Sunday Newspapers, The American Weekly's circulation is concentrated to the extent of more than 90% in the 25 states which constitute the "above-the-average" market.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE LAWYER CRIMINAL.

A person accused of crime and brought into court is entitled to his defense. He is entitled to the best defense he can get. He is represented by counsel. If he is unable to hire a lawyer the court will appoint one for him. Cook county has a public defender. The defendant is presumed innocent until he has been convicted on the evidence, even though outside of court the presumptions based on a long criminal record would be against him.

The defendant stands trial on the evidence. He must be given the benefit of impartial judicial rulings and proper procedure. The record must be clear of reversible error. For the criminal as well as the decent man the legal rights of the individual must be protected, and if punishment is given it must be in accordance with law and lawful procedure. What is true of legal theory is generally true of legal practice. The failures of the American judicial system are not found in the disabilities of the accused at the bar of justice. He has a much better chance in an American court than he would have in the British.

This careful guarding of the individual's rights when his life and liberty are in danger is guaranteed the American because the instinct of his people has been to seek and to grant protection against authority. That is in the blood of people whose ancestors rebelled against injustice and tyranny. But to what abuses have these inestimable rights led! Almost daily there is illustration in the criminal courts.

When it is granted that the worst criminal is entitled to the best defense he can get, the meaning is that he is entitled to an honest and honorable defense conducted for him by lawyers who are honest and honorable men, servants, in fact, of the court, admitted to the practice of law by the state itself and invested with quasi public duties and governed by the ethics of their profession. Such ethics are supposed to govern. They are supposed even to have scrupulous and vigilant custodians. The bar association has certain duties in guardianship of practices and discipline of offenders and disbarment is one penalty for shady or corrupt conduct in a case.

In spite of all this it is notorious that there is a special class of lawyers whose purposes are specifically and explicitly against the administration of justice. Their object is not the administration of law but the protection of criminals. They do not want a just verdict but a crooked one. They are clever; some of them are brilliant. Often the criminal's one hope is to get such services. These lawyers as they become notorious get rich. They select this branch of practice intending to develop it as an anti-social instrument for their own profit.

They form political as well as criminal connections. Their clientage is composed of the recognized criminal gangs. They are more dangerous than the criminals themselves because they give the criminal freedom. Because of their law practice one crime may become a series of crimes. They promote miscarriage of justice in the trial room. They open prison doors with paroles or pardons. They beat the chair or the rope. They are not honorable members of the bar. They know the ethical code only to breach it. They will corrupt juries, suborn perjury, bribe whomever they can, citizen or official, intimidate witnesses and bring political influence into the administration of justice.

These men are public enemies. Their purpose is to defeat the law and protect criminals, and they do so. Here the question may be asked: What penalties do they face or incur? Must we say none? It would seem so. They do not apparently lose standing in the community. They are not regarded as outlaws themselves, enriched by the injuries they do the social organization in which they live. They are not shunned or marked for what they are.

Although the state admitted them to the bar, the state does not disbar them. The disciplinary code of the bar association does not operate against them. They remain members of the bar and officers of the court. The practice of law is not closed to them. The law does not proceed against them. Their fellow members of the bar who make ethical pretensions either fear them or for other reasons pass lightly over their conduct.

So serious has the situation become that it begins to taint the reputable lawyers supposedly on guard in their profession against unethical or criminal practices. If nothing is done to protect the public the bar association will lose credibility. Its recommendations and advice will be made worthless. It will lose its influential voice in judicial elections. It will become itself discredited.

RAILROADS AND COMMON SENSE.

Correspondence with respect to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S attitude toward the railways—that they should be freed from bondage to develop transportation as the manufacturer promotes a demand for his products—appears to indicate that there is a conviction, particularly in railway circles, that if the railways were permitted to make their own rates, rules, and regulations they would immediately proceed to cut each other's throat and that general demoralization of the whole machine would follow. There is nothing new about this theory. The so-called throat cutting has persisted even under regulation, to the end that a number of economists have come to the conclusion that the industry should be governed by self-appointed czars.

We can readily see how the czar idea can prevent the spread of undesirable practices, but we can just as readily visualize the tendency of the system to keep the railways in a rut. If one railway sees an opportunity to invade territory naturally tributary to other lines by the absorption of trucking charges, it follows that all of the interested lines must eventually establish the same practice. In the end the revenues of the carriers are depleted by the assumption of the cost of an unwarranted service. The czar can and does prevent the spread of such practices, but there is another angle. Eighth morning freight service to the Pacific coast was decreed as a workable schedule for the inferior lines. The superior lines were easily able to reach Los Angeles on the seventh morning, so we were treated to the spectacle of a fleet of trucks and a gang of men standing around a box car in a Los Angeles yard until 12:01 a. m. to avoid violation of the eighth morning edict. Highball trains have left Chicago with less than their full complement of cars under an agreed schedule that provides for third morning delivery of perishable freight at New York. Nonperishable freight was held for slower trains to make fourth morning delivery.

One line that wishes to offer its patrons the comforts of an air conditioned train meets with a rebuke from the czar because he fears that other lines will be forced to adopt the competitive standard, with resulting added expense and no more tangible return than a more comfortable passenger. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE drew public attention to the fact that four railway lines were operating competitive trains to St. Louis three times per day on almost identical schedules. The czar decreed that each of the lines should take off one train, with the result that the most popular line was forced to discontinue a paying train.

The czar in railway operation is merely regulation within regulation. We cannot look for carrier health, improved or cheaper transportation if the railway evolution is confined to an ordained groove based on the survival of the unfit. Let us give our railway managements credit for ordinary common sense.

THE ELK IN LINCOLN PARK.

Mr. Bob Becker reports that the bull elk in the Lincoln park zoo is suffering from an inferiority complex. They have dehorned him and he is dispirited. They have done so because they know that from time to time he loses his temper and if he had his antlers at such times would use them for purposes for which they were intended. Instead of being a proud animal, worthy of having a fraternity named for him, he now looks more like a mule than anything else, but he differs from a mule in that any one can push him around. He is like a doorman without gold braid, a policeman without a star, a cheer leader without a megaphone.

The attendant who cares for the elk may be pardoned if he regards the attic as a better place for antlers than the seat of the pants. The visitors to the zoo must be pardoned for regarding an elk without antlers as nothing worth looking at. To the attendant there are horns to be impaled upon but no dilemma. The dilemma belongs to the Lincoln park commissioners, who ought to make up their minds whether they want an elk with antlers or no elk at all.

The capon that now passes for an elk ought to be pensioned. Maybe the CWA can find something for him to do. People who want to see what an elk looks like are advised to walk a few blocks north. They will find a specimen in front of the Elks' Memorial. He's bronze, but he has antlers.

Editorial of the Day

FROM THE INSIDE.

[Grand Rapids (Mich.) Press.]

The movement inaugurated by Hesperia business men seeking the consolidation of Oceana and Newaygo counties is especially significant in that it comes from the inside. It is not an effort by outside agencies to force the two units together, but a realization from within, by citizens of the territory affected, that county consolidation is a logical and desirable goal.

Hesperia perhaps will find opposition from many officeholders and from many who hope to be officeholders in each county. This opposition will not be concerned with the idea that one prosecutor, one treasurer, one board of supervisors, one county clerk, one sheriff's department may be sufficient. Officeholders can hardly be counted upon to offer any suggestion as to how consolidation may be accomplished, but may be depended upon to offer plenty of reasons why it cannot be adopted.

Hesperia may frankly admit that it has special reason for seeking consolidation. It stands on the dividing line between the two counties. It sees one set of taxes applied to one side of Main street and another set to the other side. But this should not becloud the principal issue of economy which is inherent in the consolidation plan.

There are many other counties in Michigan which should be turning their thoughts in a similar direction. The horse and buggy days are over. Territories which were administered with difficulty in the old days have no longer any excuse for maintaining a separate and costly political identity.

The consolidation movement is one which will not down. Sooner or later it will triumph, and the sooner the better for the taxpayers. If acceptance of the plan comes from within rather than being forced from the outside, as might be the case, it will be more quickly and more enthusiastically adopted. For this reason Hesperia's action may be warmly applauded by all who are looking ahead to the efficient reconstruction of local government.

VERY CAREFUL.

While a young mother was bathing her baby a neighbor's little girl came in and watched the process. The child was holding a doll minus an arm and leg and much knocked about generally.

"How long have you had your baby?" she asked the mother.

"Three months."

"My, but you've kept her nice!" exclaimed the little girl.—Legion Weekly.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

YOU—AND YOU—AND YOU—and that man away over there in the corner (and I likewise) owe $314.22 each. There it is in black and white; the government says so itself. It's figured out that each one of us owes as his part of the public debt just exactly $314.22. I don't believe it myself. If I owed even the 22 cents, to say nothing about the $314, I would be getting letters that if I didn't pay right away the thing would be put in the hands of the collector, that service would be discontinued within two days, that my pay would be garnisheed, that I would have to move out within twenty-four hours, that the finance company would take back the car, that I would no longer be extended credit by any of the members of the association, and that I was a dirty bum.

TAKE MY LOVING LIGHTLY.

O take my loving lightly, love,
It may not linger long.
So let it burn up brightly, love,
Or sear your heart just slightly, love,
Such scars are not unsightly, love,
They're sung in many a song.

But take my loving, knowing, love,
Though brightest flames are such
They make a brilliant showing, love,
There's no length to their glowing, love,
And so you'll greet my going, love,
And not mind—very much.

"ALWAYS," writes R. W. S., "have I championed your campaign against 'proven' and now that I have discovered that it's in Webster's dictionary what can I do?" There are a great many words in the dictionary that really nice people do not use in polite conversation. And the one that gives my finer feeling the most acute pain in the neck is "proven."

THERE ARE OVER four hundred thousand words in Webster's. Out of four hundred thousand people would you choose to become intimate with any of them without discrimination? You must choose your words as you would choose your friends. And besides the old law that requires everybody to employ only the words as they are given in the dictionary or go to jail was repealed by a special act of congress ten years ago.

—:—

AND ANOTHER GOOD dictionary word that is shamefully abused is "fellow" and its plural. "I knew three fellows," writes Daisy to the Agony column. "There was some fellers there that tried to get fresh," says the fat lady on the bus. Her husband was told there was no job for him, but other fellows were given work. Et cet.! Et cet.! Et cet.! But the good old fashioned words (and also in the dictionary) "man" and "men" could be so easily used as well as "fellow" or "fellows" that it is, indeed, surprising they are not more often employed. For as Mr. Pope has so well said:

"Worth makes the man, and want of it the fellow,
The rest is all but leather and prunella."

O Allah, ever powerful,
Look down and pity me;
I'm waiting by the Jordan,
But far as eyes can see
There's nothing of my lover,
And endless night and day
Recurs in lonely fashion
Since he has gone away.
The road is long to Mecca,
The desert bare and dry,
And many men have perished
Beneath its scorching sky.
The grapes and figs have ripened
Since he last left me here
To wait beside the river
Until he'd reappear
To take me in his arms again,
And press his lips to mine;
O Allah, ever powerful,
Be generous and kind.

A WINTER SPORT.

LOOKING out of the car window a few days ago a group of boys were seen to be building a dike. It was about one foot across at the base and one foot high, and four hundred feet long. Being a rectangular wall, it inclosed a piece of flat ground about one hundred feet square.

The boys were getting ready for ice skating. Probably they had formed a neighborhood skating club, or they could have been scholars from a nearby school. Probably they had located a vacant square and obtained the consent of the owner to use it for skating this winter. Building the levee had required only one afternoon, since there were many workers, and there was joy in the work. Within a week after the levee is built a committee will wait on the ward superintendent, the alderman, or the fire engine house nearby, and get a fireman to turn the water on in a fire plug and to flood the space with two to four inches of water. The cold weather will do the rest.

If the boys were experienced they removed all weeds and grass that stood up more than two inches and after the first hard freeze they will have a smooth, hard skating rink with the ice resting on the ground and, therefore, with no danger of thin ice—and plunges into freezing water.

Soon they will be going there in the late afternoons and early evenings, enjoying an hour or two of healthful, muscle building exercise in the open air instead of sitting sluggishly within doors. Few forms of play compare with skating, from the standpoint of physical benefit. While the leg muscles do most of the work of skating, the arms, body, and neck muscles contribute no small part to the exercise. They are used to keep the body in balance and at the same time they help to propel. While the work is hard, it does not heat the body unduly, nor is it a great strain on the heart.

But, good as this is, the principal benefits of skating lie in another direction. It helps by what it prevents, as well as by direct action. In winter we need to be unhoused, to get into the open air, to overcome the effects of sluggishness, to get away from confined air and artificial heating. All these benefits accrue from skating. In addition, we build up capacity to make heat and to resist being chilled, and in doing this we insure against colds.

In the cities it should be possible to form a neighborhood club and to make a skating place on some vacant lot within each square mile. The boys in the towns that are without water works could devise means of making and flooding a small outdoor rink. The country boy can find ready made rinks nearby.

PIN WORMS.

M. S. writes:

1. What is the cause for pin worms in adults and children?
2. What is the cure?

REPLY.

1. In most cases infestation occurs through eating foods that contain uncooked worm eggs. Putting soiled hands in the mouth may cause it. Occasionally infestation is due to more direct exposure.
2. Most cases can be cured by the proper use of quassia or salt brine enemas. Treatment must be repeated several times at intervals for a month. Extreme cleanliness is necessary for cure.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA.

J. B. writes: 1. Can a person who has had bronchitis for two or three years get cured of it?

2. Do they have a cough and spit up phlegm and wheeze and does it make one short winded?
3. Are smoking and drinking beer bad for it?
4. What is the best food to eat for it?
5. Is cod liver oil good?

REPLY.

1. It is possible, but the job requires persistence, patience, intelligence, and the best of care. Changing climate may be necessary.
2. You are giving the symptoms of bronchial asthma.
3. Yes.
4. Diet is of minor importance in the cure of bronchial asthma.
5. Yes, in a way.

OF NO CONSEQUENCE.

Mrs. A. writes: What causes a person of 33 years to see spots, especially during the day? I have new glasses which are of no use in this trouble.

REPLY.

There are many causes for seeing floating specks. The most frequent one is introspection. Neurasthenia groups with that. Specks due to that cause are unimportant and should be disregarded. In 99 per cent of the cases the cause is unimportant. Occasionally disease in the eyeball causes specks. In that case the symptom is apt to be important.

From Across the Sea

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—How the Church of England has been hit by the depression is shown by the sudden circulation of proposed maximum and minimum scales of pay for curates. The changes will involve reductions in a number of parishes.

It has been decided that in the dioceses of London, Southwark, and Chelmsford the scale for junior clergy shall be:

	Minimum.	Maximum.
Deacons	$1,100	$1,100
Upon ordination as curate	1,050	1,150
After one year as curate.	1,100	1,200

After the first year no increase in the maximum pay is specified, but it is provided that the minimum shall be increased by $50 a year until the sum of $1,200 is reached. Allowances are made for exceptional circumstances.

Generally speaking, if a curate is married he will be allowed an extra $150 or house rent free. If there are children a sum in respect of each child will be advanced.

Scales on the same basis are to be applied in a number of dioceses in north England. Bishops are now making the new scales known to the authorities chiefly concerned.

Actually the new pay scales represent a decrease of $250 a year for assistant curates compared with the general rule in the past when there was no fixed maximum or minimum.

A few years ago the clerics were receiving $1,250 as soon as they entered the ministry. At that time there was a scarcity of men. Now more are divinity students.

TITLES IN CANADA.

Winnetka, Ill., Jan. 24.—May I suggest that if you quote from other journals you adhere carefully to their written words? In your Jan. 23 editorial on "Titles in Canada" you say that "the London Times, commenting upon the renewed controversy, says that 'the influence of the neighboring United States—where to the great disadvantage of the public no honors system exists—was unusually potent in setting an example to be copied.'"

The London Times in an editorial says: "Moreover, the influence of the neighboring United States—where, to the great disadvantage of the public services, no honors system exists—was unusually potent in setting an example to be copied."

There is a subtle distinction between "the great disadvantage of the public" and "the great disadvantage of the public services." Had you perceived it you could not have misquoted.

Remember, too, that the Times points out that the "principal reason for an honors list is the desire for the recognition of meritorious work in the direct service of the crown, and that honors recommended for less unimpeachable reasons have often been, still sometimes are, and will doubtless continue to be the object of a certain suspicion." The Times approves the system in the case of the official services—soldiers, sailors, diplomatists, and administrators, and also points out that in the domestic affairs of Canada the appropriate and sole advisers of the king are his Canadian ministers. It neither approves nor contemplates the control of Canadian policies in English interests.

I hold no brief for titles—have always subscribed to the Liberal party doctrine which, both in Canada and in England, has voiced its objection to titles, and which in Canada finally brought them to an end. If the Liberal government has never desired a perpetuation of an honors system, so has the Conservative government desired it. But neither the one nor the other may be labeled English opinion, and governments are not selected by the people because of any interest in this controversy. Your opening sentence therefore needs qualifying, especially if you think the London Times the ultimate in English opinion.

ALFRED ALLEN.

FROM A KENTUCKY FARMER.

Gilbertsville, Ky., Jan. 24.—I cultivate a hilly Kentucky farm. So far I have managed to pay taxes and keep it free of mortgage, but small as I am in the financial world I now feel that I am being forced to help pay for some of the fool schemes that the government has concocted.

I keep one sow—just one. She raises two litters of pigs each year. They eat every grain of corn I raise but what goes to feed the team. One litter makes my own and my mother's meat for our families and the other is sold on the market. The money for the extra litter is put aside carefully and is used to pay my county and state taxes.

This year Secretary Wallace had put on a processing tax. The packer promptly took the dollar a hundred off the price of my hogs. I do not blame the packer. He knows his business, but it does seem unfair for me to have to contribute a dollar a hundred pounds on the few hogs I have to sell in order that Henry Wallace can pay some big producer to curtail production.

My hogs did not bring enough to pay my taxes, so I went to CWA and asked for a ditch digger's job to finish it out. "No," they said, "your farm is not mortgaged." How unfortunate.

Well, at this rate it will be worse than mortgaged. It will sell at the courthouse door for taxes. Then I will be in Santa Claus Uncle Sam's bread line and I shall yell "Gimme" as loud as the rest.

TRAINLOAD RATES.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—On your finance page of Jan. 22 we are pleased to note under the caption, "Outlines Plan for Chicago Rail Changes," that survey No. 5 about the railroad vice presidents includes your constantly written up theory of trainload lots at reduced through rates.

This is of the most vital importance to the Chicago area since the Panama canal opened, inasmuch as lumber has been diverted through the Panama canal in excess of 25,000 carloads per year and we have been shifted off the market completely as far as a redistributing center is concerned.

The western railroads suffer, of course, too.

THE NEGRO DEFENDED.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—I have read of many suggestions to help curb the depression, but the one in the Voice of the People this morning takes the cake. Doesn't Mr. Leroy L. Hunter know that the Negro is an American citizen and can't be shunted about to suit his pleasure?

It's men like Mr. Hunter who are the cause of so many Negroes being in the city. When an honest Negro applies for a job he's told, "I can't use you," and the job is given to some alien who can speak only three English words, "Stick 'em up!" He works by day and uses his vocabulary by night to terrorize honest citizens. Have you ever heard of a Negro public enemy? Are there any Negro gangsters and kidnapers?

The alien who is educated is given the key to the city on a silver platter, and he proceeds to gut the city treasury, and the Negro is blamed for the city's lack of funds.

Deport the undesirable aliens and crime will be curbed as well as charity.

CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—[Friend of the People.]—A man was born in Russia. He married there, had a son, and when the son was 12 years old the family moved to America. The parents did not apply for citizenship papers and are not as yet citizens. 1. The son later married here. He has a child. Is this child an American citizen? 2. If the man married an American girl in 1925, does she lose her citizenship through such marriage? 3. Does his marrying an American girl automatically make him an American citizen?

C. R.

1. The child is an American citizen by birth.
2. The wife did not lose her citizenship if the marriage occurred after Sept. 22, 1922.
3. The husband does not acquire citizenship through marriage to a citizen.

The people who will buy the cars in 1934 are the substantial people of means. There are many thousands of people (newspaper readers) who cannot buy even the lowest priced cars.

The newspapers that will be most profitable for automobile advertisers in 1934 are those whose circulations are concentrated among the car-owning, car-buying families.

According to numerous surveys, The Sun is read in a larger number of homes in the better residential districts of the city and in the suburbs (where a higher percentage of car buyers live) than any other weekday newspaper.

In the 1934 Show Number and during Show Week The Sun carried the largest volume of automobile advertising among New York evening newspapers.

In 1933, as in the previous nineteen years, The Sun led all New York evening newspapers in volume of New Passenger Car Advertising.

To advertisers who want to reach the car-owning, car-buying families in the largest automobile market The Sun is a most productive medium.

GREECE READY TO SWAP TOBACCO FOR U. S. WHEAT

Athens Is Eager to Start Trade Negotiations.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Jan. 29.—Studied and immediate negotiations between the Greek and American governments would seem to hold out hope of an understanding which, at its best, would throw open to producers in the United States a dominant and lasting share of Greek wheat imports.

The most optimistic figure quoted so far—though it comes from a cabinet minister—is 18,000,000 bushels a year. Considered in the light of statistics, this figure means that the United States would have around 80 per cent of the normal Greek market. This would also about double the amount of wheat that Greece is planning to import from the entire world during the coming year.

At its worst the agreement could mean that the United States would regain part of one wheat market which she has lost because the board of trade quotations are about one-fourth higher than world prices.

Wants to Sell Tobacco.

In exchange Greece wants to sell the United States more tobacco. The two commodities have been linked and if there is a possibility of such a swap the Greeks are ready to begin official negotiations with the American government tomorrow.

An important aspect of the scheme is a clause which the Greeks want inserted. It provides the agreement shall last over a period of years—some suggest five years. The Greeks also want a provision for an exchange by value rather than by quantity to protect the balance of trade.

George Pesmazoglou, minister of national economy, laid the details of such a plan before THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent during a discussion on the possibilities of trade between the United States and Greece as outlined in THE TRIBUNE'S Christmas assignment to its foreign staff.

Wheat Production Doubled.

Partly from necessity and partly owing to the encouragement of the cabinet, Greek wheat production has made amazing strides during the last two years. Its output has more than doubled in that time. In 1932 there was a crop of more than 12,000,000 bushels as compared with the estimated yield of over 25,000,000 for 1933.

Pesmazoglou believes, however, that in exchange for a long term agreement with America whereby the wheat supply would be secured and a steady market gained for Greek tobacco and secondarily wines or brandies the wheat program would be scrapped.

"Greece is willing to buy American wheat although it costs more than the supplies which are obtainable in the world's markets," Pesmazoglou said. "In my view the government would be willing to do this in order that Greece might enter the American market. We will buy American wheat if America increases her purchases of tobacco."

Not Asking for Loan.

Mention was then made of the appropriation whereby exports of American wheat might be facilitated by a loan.

"We don't ask for that," Pesmazoglou declared emphatically. "We are prepared to pay the American price. Naturally we should expect other advantages to accrue. For instance, Greek shipping should benefit. If we knew we could export more tobacco to the United States we would willingly reduce our wheat acreage.

"Greece has had a record crop this year. We do not want to produce so much if there is an American market for our tobacco. The ideal situation would be for Greece to export tobacco to the United States to the value which would enable us to buy around 18 million bushels of wheat a year. If the American government would consider an agreement of this kind I believe that the Greek government would enter heartily into a discussion."

Bumper Crops in Europe.

Compared with the present absence of American wheat importations by Greece, Pesmazoglou's statements appear to be sufficient to raise a dead Lazarus. It is the more remarkable in view of the fact that at the moment Greece is "sitting pretty" in wheat. She has about three quarters of her needs inside the country without being compelled to spend foreign exchange reserves for bread. In addition, the rest of Europe has had a bumper crop. Supplies are abundant and cheap, and close at hand. America is no longer a factor in such a grain market, although at one time the United States was by far the largest single source.

Between 1926 and 1932 inclusive Greece imported on an average nearly 9,000,000 bushels of American wheat against a mean consumption for that period of about 32,000,000 bushels. Until 1933 Greece was never able to produce half her supplies. On the face of these figures the door appears to be open.

DELICATESSEN OWNER ROBBED.

A robber wearing a handkerchief mask yesterday took $200 from the cash drawer in the delicatessen of Bernard Gingold at 8158 Maryland avenue and then forced the owner to disclose the hiding place of an additional $180.

DANDRUFF
Ends Overnight

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get some plain, ordinary liquid Arvon, apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store. It won't cost you more than thirty-five cents (35c). This simple remedy never fails.

430 PRIZE WINNERS ANNOUNCED IN TRIBUNE PUZZLE CONTEST

The Christmas Sayings crossword puzzle contest, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, closed Jan. 7. For 36 days before Christmas this fascinating contest attracted many crossword puzzle fans and enticed a following of thousands interested in old literary maxims.

The duty of ranking these contributions has entailed work of a large force in the contest department, which has been checking and rating the thousands of entries submitted.

430 Win Prizes.

The task has been an arduous one, since perfect entries were so rare, and the possibility of having to consider those with one error in the prize winning group of 430 seemed imminent until the last day of reckoning. The total of 100 per cent accurate ones mounted to 450, the neatest of which won the awards. Below are listed the 430 winners whose entries merited the $5,000 in cash.

The judges ranked as highest the entry of Miss Patricia E. Poole, 1202 Monroe street, Evanston, for which she will receive $1,000.

The second prize, $500, goes to Mrs. E. Pfeiffer, 2330 West Roosevelt drive, Milwaukee. The third award, $250, was placed on the entry of Jerome T. Paul, 3709 North Hamlin avenue, Chicago.

FLAYS CANADA ON FAILURE TO ENTER U. S. TRADE PACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 29.—Severely censuring the Bennett government for its failure to present to the Canadian people a Canadian-American reciprocal trade treaty, Liberal Leader Mackenzie King called the attention of the house of commons today to what he said is American sentiment favorable to a trade understanding.

"We read," he said, "that the President of the United States has said he is favorable to entering agreements with other countries of a reciprocal nature. Why has the Canadian government done nothing toward securing the American market which would mean so much to our agricultural industry?"

Leading up to a motion of a want of confidence in the Bennett government, King denounced Canada's participation in the London wheat agreement by which the dominion agreed to curtail wheat exports to 200,000,000 bushels. He commended to Premier Bennett a prayer for "dearth and scarcity." In curtailing wheat acreage, he charged, the Bennett government has removed the strongest Canadian argument for the building of the St. Lawrence waterway.

TELLS OF SIGNING BLANK CHECKS AT INSURANCE TRIAL

Bertram Day, president of the Northern States Insurance company, which is in the hands of a receiver, admitted on the witness stand yesterday in Judge Benjamin Epstein's Criminal court that each week-end he signed checks in blank and left them to be filled in and cashed by the employes of the company. Out of a batch of hundreds of checks handed to him Day was able to pick out only five that he could explain.

Day, on direct examination by Defense Attorney Harry Meyers, said he did not know of any conspiracy and had no part in any crooked transaction. On cross-examination by Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright, Day admitted that his duties as president of the company were "rather nominal" and that it appeared as if he was only a "figurehead." He said he did not have knowledge that his company held $817,000 in mortgages on a 30 acre tract of land near Waukegan known as the Manufacturers' Terminal corporation.

Day is one of six defendants on trial before a jury on a charge of conspiracy to loot the cash assets of the Security Life Insurance company and its affiliate, the Northern States company. It is charged by the prosecution that the Waukegan property was plastered with $1,900,000 worth of mortgages, which were dumped into the security portfolios of the insurance companies. The property, the state charges, is worth only $500,000.

Chicago Woman Sues Rival in St. Louis for $100,000

St. Louis, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Betty Williams, Chicago, today filed an alienation suit here for $100,000 against Mrs. Annie Mengersen, of St. Louis. The petition asserts that the plaintiff and Aaron H. Williams were married in January, 1932, and that Mrs. Mengersen came between them later in the year.

"ALL-BRAN WILL ALWAYS BE A PART OF MY DIET"

Delicious Cereal Corrected

His Constipation

If you suffer from constipation, read this fine letter:

"I have been troubled for years with constipation. During this time, I have tried almost every known remedy. Then some one recommended eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and the proper results followed immediately.

"Since eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN each morning, there has been a general improvement in my health without the ill effects that I formerly experienced when taking laxatives. Hereafter, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will always be a part of my diet."—Mr. E. G. Himes, 1201 E. 7th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this "cereal way" safer than risking patent medicines?

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to relieve ordinary constipation. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Be sure to ask for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HOW I WON MY MAN

by a Blonde

"ONE day I discovered why other blondes were more popular than I—their hair was like brilliant, shimmering gold, while mine was faded and lifeless. Blondex, an amazing special shampoo, has now made my hair young again, gleaming with the golden sunshine color that fascinated the man I was to marry. My husband now says that had it not been for my beautiful hair he does not think he would have noticed me among so many attractive girls. How glad I am I discovered Blondex in time!" NOTE:—Blondex contains no dye, no harmful chemicals—it is amazingly beneficial, giving the hair a wavy, silky softness and lustrous sheen. Blondex comes in two sizes—the big, economical $1.00 bottle and the new inexpensive 25c size. NEW—the first wave set made especially for blondes—Blondex Wave Powder. Only 35c—it makes beautiful soft waves without discoloring the hair like ordinary wave sets. Get these two Blondex products today.

Again Philadelphia's Great Home Market Receives Impressive Recognition

In 1933, as in 1932,

The PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN

carried more National Advertising

than any other six-day newspaper in America—

Each month, for twenty-four consecutive months, The Philadelphia Bulletin has led all six-day newspapers in America in National Advertising linage. (The Bulletin prints no Sunday edition.)

A total of 1468 advertisers and 316 advertising agencies have thus registered their convictions on the sales importance of Philadelphia's Home Market.

Philadelphia has more single family dwellings than any other market. 70,000 more than New York City. 155,000 more than Chicago. (U. S. Census, 1930). And The Bulletin reaches nearly every home at one of the lowest advertising costs in America.

504,822 net paid daily average for 1933. Two and one-half times the circulation of any other Philadelphia evening newspaper, more than any Sunday newspaper, more than all morning newspapers combined.

Does your 1934 budget give Philadelphia the place it merits, based upon its dominance as a home center, and upon the economy and effectiveness of The Bulletin's coverage?

18TH SCIENTIST AT OPENING OF TUT'S TOMB DIES

Dr. Lythgoe Revives Old Stories of "Curse."

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Four days ago a brother scientist marshaled facts and figures to show that the "curse" of Tut-Ankh-Amen was nothing but a myth. Today Dr. Albert Morton Lythgoe, noted Egyptologist of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and one of the group of explorers who first entered the inner chamber of the pharaoh's tomb in 1923, died in Boston.

His death brought to eighteen the fatalities among persons directly or indirectly connected with the opening of Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, and followed closely that of Arthur Weigall, who, as inspector general of Egyptian antiquities, supervised the excavations in the Valley of the Kings eleven years ago.

Ill for a Week.

Dr. Lythgoe had been ill for more than a week in a Boston hospital, and the museum was informed of his death in a telegram. An attack of cerebral arterio-sclerosis was given as the cause.

It was the revival of stories of King Tut-Ank-Amen's "curse" in connection with Dr. Lythgoe's illness that caused Dr. Herbert E. Winlock, director of the museum, last Thursday to call the roll of the scientists and others who were actively engaged in the opening of the pharaoh's tomb. He showed that most of them are still alive and contended that those who are dead had died of natural causes.

Mr. Winlock pointed out that Dr. Lythgoe was 65 and had been in ill health for some time. He himself, the director said, was among those who witnessed the opening of the inner chamber, along with Mr. Lythgoe and twenty others, Feb. 17, 1923, and he remained in excellent health.

Carnarvon Is First.

The stories of the "curse" began with the death of Lord Carnarvon, leader of the expedition, and arose from the inscription on a vase found in the tomb which was said to read:

"Death shall come with swift wings to him who toucheth the tomb of a pharaoh."

Because of published reports linking the illness of Dr. Lythgoe with the "curse," the scientist's wife had put a censorship on hospital reports, and word of his death became public in Boston only after it had been announced in New York.

Dr. Lythgoe formerly was curator of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and he was curator emeritus of the Metropolitan Museum of Arts.

MIDGET OUTLAW ON DOCKET FOR PAROLE HEARING

Henry J. [Midget] Fernekes, diminutive outlaw, may appear tomorrow before a subcommittee of the state board of pardons and paroles to ask for his conditional pardon, it was revealed yesterday. His name is on the docket for a pardon hearing along with 70 other gun robbers who were sentenced under the old 10 years to life law. The law now provides a penalty of one year to life.

The gunman entered the prison Aug. 5, 1925, for robbing the Inland Trust and Savings bank in Chicago. The theft, committed Aug. 22, 1924, netted him $4,000. He was seized in a public library here.

Joliet prison authorities revealed they are holding an extradition warrant from New York charging Fernekes with first degree murder, robbery, and assault. Should he be granted a pardon he will be taken into custody on the warrant.

The state Supreme court recently ruled that convicts sentenced for robbery under the old ten years to life statute could not expect their release by the pardon and paroles board on the same basis as those convicted under the later statute. However, Gov. Horner indicated he would have lenience shown to ten years to life convicts with good prison records.

GANGSTER WHITE IS BURIED BESIDE HIS PAL BARKER

No Pomp or Church Rites at Funeral.

William [Three Fingered Jack] White was buried yesterday in a grave dug on a windswept slope in Mount Carmel cemetery. Less than three feet away lies the body of George J. [Red] Barker, who was a gangland friend and associate of White before enemy bullets ended his life in June, 1932. The section of the cemetery is known as "unconsecrated ground."

Unlike the ostentatious funerals of the underworld's great and near-great in the heyday of gangdom, White's cortège consisted of only a dozen limousines carrying relatives and friends. There were no politicians or office holders present.

Church Rites Denied.

Denied the last rites of the Catholic church, which he had forsaken as a youth, there were no eulogies or services over the gangster's body at the funeral chapel at 624 North Western avenue.

A priest made an unofficial appearance at the chapel a few minutes before the body was taken away and said a few prayers. As the $1,000 silver and bronze casket was being carried out White's widow, the former Nancy Kelly, sobbed hysterically. She was near collapse, but was supported by her brother, James, and two Oak Park police detectives. Kelly is still in custody of the state's attorney's office but was permitted to attend the funeral.

Detectives at Scene.

White's sister and two brothers, Melvin and Frank, were also present. So was Attorney W. W. Smith, the gangster's lawyer, who defended him in his many legal skirmishes. A squad of Chicago police detectives mingled with the crowd. There were eighteen floral pieces.

As the casket was pushed down the chapel aisle an organ sounded a funeral dirge. The cortège moved along Augusta street to the city limits, then along Washington boulevard through Maywood to Hillside. A biting cold wind chilled the handful of spectators. A semi-circle formed as the pallbearers carried the casket to the grave. The undertaker made a gesture of the hand and White was lowered into the open grave. Then the crowd hurriedly dispersed.

HARRY G. COLSON, LAWYER HERE FOR 40 YEARS, IS DEAD

Harry Gilbert Colson, 66 years old, who for forty years practiced law in Chicago, died yesterday at his home in Adrian, Mich., where he had been seriously ill for most of the period since his retirement in 1928. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1892 and was a member of the Illinois Bar association, the Illinois Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and various Masonic orders. Mr. Colson practiced as a member of the firms of Colson & Johnson; Petit, Cummings & Colson, and Colson, Levering & Johnson. Funeral services will be held at a chapel at 2701 North Clark street at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday. He will be buried in Forest Home cemetery. Mr. Colson is survived by his widow, the former Cleo Courtney Glass.

Dr. C. C. Little Coming to Speak on Cancer Control

Dr. Clarence C. Little of New York will speak on "What You Can Do for Cancer Control" tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in Murphy Memorial hall, 50 East Erie street. The meeting is sponsored by the woman's auxiliary of the Chicago Medical society.

Dr. Little, who is managing director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, will be introduced by Dr. Austin A. Hayden, president of the Chicago Medical society.

Mrs. Nelson M. Percy, program chairman of the woman's auxiliary, and Mrs. Lucius Cole of River Forest, president, are in charge of the arrangements for the meeting.

Bury John M. Santeler, Rail Official, Thursday

Funeral services will be held Thursday at St. Pascal's church for John M. Santeler, 3935 North Newcastle avenue, who was well known in railroad circles throughout the middle west. Mr. Santeler, who was 38 years old, died suddenly Sunday night at his home. For the past several years he was a traveling freight agent for the New York, New Haven, and Hartford railway. He was formerly connected with the Gulf, Mobile, and Northern railway and with the Michigan Central lines. Surviving are the widow, Edna, and a son, John Jr.

Mr. Reynolds last week at the hospital was presented with a plaque emblematic of the 1933 award of the Illinois Society of Engineers. On Jan. 20 it was announced that the best paper published by members of the society was the one on "Chicago's Water Pollution Problem, Past, Present, and Future," written by Reynolds and Arthur E. Gorman, city filtration engineer.

Entering the city service as a civil engineer in 1907, Reynolds advanced progressively until he was engineer of water works design in 1913. In 1917 he was granted a leave of absence to join the army. He was commissioned a major. In 1919 he returned to the city's employ and in 1931 was appointed city engineer.

Surviving are the widow, Irene, and one son, Myron Jr., 8 years old. The services will be held from the Fourth Presbyterian church and burial will be at Ridgewood cemetery.

$33,340 Loss Is Reported for Opera Season

Final Week Shows Profit Despite Handicaps.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

George Woodruff, president of the Chicago Grand Opera company, will today present to the directors of the company a statement of the financial operations of the organization's first season, which began Dec. 26 and closed last Saturday night. The statement shows that in spite of a brief time for preparation one week ran at a profit, and that the total loss in comparison with other years is a small one. Mr. Woodruff summarizes matters thus:

First week	$ 2,321.29 loss
Second week	8,882.03 loss
Third week	6,023.24 loss
Fourth week	1,172.66 loss
Fifth week	2,768.20 profit
Total operating loss	$15,430.92

In addition, Mr. Woodruff points out that there are two other items to be added to this sum: $12,468.48 for preliminary expenses of salaries, printing, telephone, office costs, and so on, and $5,441.23, the cost of new costumes and constructing new boxes and other improvements in the opera house. The final total loss is, therefore, $33,340.63.

By comparison he points out that the 1930-'31 season ran a deficit of $1,079,473.06, and that the loss of 1931-'32, the last season of the Civic Opera company, was $872,702.29.

The short time between the opening of the offices and the presentation of the first opera made it impossible to build up a subscription sale of seats, Mr. Woodruff adds. "This lack of a subscription proved to be costly to the opera company during the first part of our season, because the public did not respond at our box office until after the excellence of our performances had been thoroughly understood. Had we commenced operations with a reasonable subscription sale of seats, our operating results would doubtless have proved that opera can actually be made approximately self supporting."

Later he says, "We were happy to be able to save a large sum of money to the opera going public, as the price of the seats was cut to fifty per cent of the price during previous seasons, and the price of the boxes was reduced to approximately twenty-five per cent of the former price."

Seventeen operas were presented in the five weeks, two of which, "Turandot" and "Le Coq d'Or," were new to Chicago. A large list of singers of international fame appeared, together with a considerable number of new singers, some of whom, he believes, will become internationally famous later on.

Mr. Woodruff concludes his report with the statement that the company had wonderful cooperation from the artists, musicians, chorus, ballet, and stage hands, great generosity from the owners of the building, and marvelous support from numerous business and civic organizations and the great army of music lovers in Chicago.

On this note attention may now be turned to what is to happen next season.

GORDON RECITAL

Jacques Gordon, who has a position in the front rank of American violinists, appeared yesterday afternoon in the 186th artist recital of the Musicians' Club of Women at the Chicago Woman's Club theater. This is a long and honorable record, and Mr. Gordon's performance fully upheld its standards.

His first number was a sonata for violin and piano by Guillaume Lekeu, played with Harold Van Horne. Lekeu was a Belgian composer whose early death prevented a great output, but in this sonata he showed a striking talent, something on the Franck manner but with a marked personality of his own.

Mr. Gordon and Mr. Van Horne played the work with high distinction of tone and style and carried these virtues over to the next piece, Bach's Partita in E which had had the advantage of a piano accompaniment appended by Fritz Kreisler. Bach's music thus amplified sounded so much better than the same piece for unaccompanied violin that other violinists should take notice, especially as it has the support of these fine artists.

The Chicago Chamber Music committee, a group of Chicago women who have been doing valiant work for the cause of chamber music, announced the first of a series of four concerts in the foyer of Orchestra hall tonight. It will be played by the Mischakoff String quartet.

A program just received of George Gershwin's concert at the Auditorium next Sunday afternoon indicates that the composer-pianist will start the program as soloist in his Concerto in F and conclude the first half with the "Rhapsody in Blue," which is now having its tenth anniversary. Between the two the Reisman Symphonic orchestra directed by Charles Previn will play a group of other Gershwin numbers, and James Melton, tenor, will sing a group of cowboy songs, not, however, by Gershwin.

The second half will include "An American in Paris" by the orchestra, Mr. Melton in another group of Negro music, leaving the end to Mr. Gershwin, who will play his own tricky and fascinating arrangements of several of his pieces, including "I Got Rhythm," and "Man I Love."

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

THE new democracy was exemplified yesterday morning, perhaps, in the manner in which Mrs. Walter B. Wolf came to town from Winnetka. She motored in in a truck and her fellow passengers, clad in overalls and smoking corncob pipes, were the unemployed who have been working on the new Skokie road. Moreover, Mrs. Wolf's handsome tiger skin motor robe, which covered her own feet and knees exclusively when she started out, was covering the feet and knees of a shivering ditch digger before they got to Logan square, the truck's destination.

Transportation—Big Business—Items—Forgetful.

Mrs. Wolf left home early to motor to town, but her car froze just outside Wilmette. Desperate because it was important that she arrive at her shop on Walton place as soon as possible, she got out to see what other means of transportation she could find. The truck came along, headed for town, the men having been called in from the road because of the zero weather. It picked up Mrs. Wolf. And at Logan square the blue clad workmen politely flagged a taxicab to carry their chic, dignified and beautiful passenger the rest of the way.

SCOTT LINN repeats the comment of the man who was reflecting over the wonder and delicacy of the human brain.

"The human brain truly is a marvelous thing," he added. "It starts to function the very instant a man wakes up in the morning and keeps right on, without stopping, until he gets to his office."

WE learned a number of small items over the week-end. That Walter Pitkin ["Life Begins at Forty"] only eats two meals a day, and those at strange hours. Breakfast at 6:45 o'clock and dinner at 1:45. And at the dinner party the B. F. Affiecks gave for him at the Tavern Saturday night, at which very special delicacies were served, the guest of honor did not eat a mouthful.

That the sales of "Ulysses" are outrunning even Sinclair Lewis' new book, although Sisley Huddleston, lecturing at the Arts club Sunday night, said that he assumed sales would fall off now that the book is no longer under the censor's ban. And that all the people who bought copies as an investment are bitterly disappointed now that anybody can buy a copy for $3.50. Authorities say that to really understand the book you must first read "Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man." Joyce's earlier book to which Ulysses is really a sequel, Stephen Daedalus being the central character in each. . . . And if you're serious about understanding "Ulysses" you might like to know that an "interpretation" called "Ulysses, a Study" by Stuart Gilbert, has been published. . . . An interesting visitor to arrive tomorrow is Alice Evans of Santa Fé, daughter of a poet and a painter, and formerly married to John Evans, only son of the spectacular Mabel Dodge Luhan. . . .

A honeymooner to Florida thought himself pretty lucky because he caught a bride and a sailfish the same year.

YOU'VE heard stories about the forgetful professor. Another example was offered at the closing night of opera Saturday night when Dr. William Montgomery McGovern of Northwestern university was observed during the entr'acte. He wore tails and an immaculate white tie and his usually shaggy head was sleekly brushed. The eye, traveling downward, could not fail to observe that he wore a pair of tan shoes.

Wallace Will Talk on "Agriculture and Religion"

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace will deliver three lectures at the University of Chicago tomorrow and Thursday on "Agriculture and Religion." The series will be the 1934 Alden Tuthill lectures held annually under auspices of the Chicago Theological seminary and the divinity school of the University of Chicago. The marriage of Dr. Harold M. Camp, secretary of the Illinois State Medical society, and Miss Doris Holt, both of Monmouth, Ill., was announced yesterday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John P. Wilson Again Elected President of Children's Hospital

John P. Wilson was reelected president of the board of directors and Mrs. Wilson became first vice president instead of second vice president of the women's board at the annual meeting of the auxiliary boards of the Children's Memorial hospital yesterday. The other officers of the board of directors, all reelections, are: Stanley Field, first vice president; James Simpson, second vice president; Albert H. Wetten, third vice president; Frederick S. Booth, secretary, and Harold H. Rockwell, treasurer.

Mrs. Joseph H. King was reelected president of the woman's board and Mrs. William B. Greenlee is the new second vice president. Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. is the new third vice president, and Mrs. Robert A. Gardner was reelected recording secretary. Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift again is corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Charles K. Foster is the new chairman of the finance committee.

At yesterday's meeting Mabel W. Binner, the superintendent, reported that 4,113 patients last year received 58,460 days' treatment and that only six-tenths of 1 per cent of these patients paid the full cost of care. She said 68.5 per cent were cared for entirely free. The out-patient department has been overcrowded since 1931 and the clinic attendance for last year was 70,519 visits. The total operating cost was $358,887 and the deficit amounted to $8,214.

Mrs. F. A. Chandler Heads St. James' Parish League

Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler has been reelected head of the Woman's Parish league of the St. James church. Other officers are Miss Lyla P. Woodruff, first vice chairman; Mrs. Frederick W. Belknap, second vice chairman; Mrs. Karlton King, secretary, and Mrs. Dudley Buck, treasurer. The league was particularly delighted with the report of the profits made—$2,000—on its annual sale held a few weeks ago, and was amazed to learn that most of the profits were gained at the famous "mince meat" table.

Jeanne Street Will Be Bride of T. H. Knorr

Engagement Is Announced by Her Mother.

BY JUDITH CASS.

HAVING successfully launched the family debutante during the last holiday season, Mrs. Harry Lachman Street is announcing this morning the engagement of her eldest daughter, Miss Jeanné Rosalind Street, to Thomas Hunter Knorr, son of George W. Knorr of Wichita, Kas.

The news, pleasant and interesting as it is, does not come as a complete surprise, for Mr. Knorr has been the devoted escort of Miss Street for many months.

The Street family . . . Mrs. Street, the late Mr. Street, and their three charming daughters . . . has been identified for years with Winnetka where the family home is still located. This winter, however, Mrs. Street and her daughters came in town to occupy an apartment at 1245 Astor street that they might be nearer the festivity attending Miss Marjorie's debut.

Miss Jeanné Street was presented to society with her other sister, Miss Katharine Street, at a tea at their Winnetka home in October of 1930. In June of 1930 she was graduated from Mount Vernon seminary. Since her debut Miss Street has been an active member of the Junior league and at the present time is serving as stage manager for the production of "Peter Pan."

Miss Nancy Lee of Denver, who was a roommate of Miss Street at Mount Vernon, arrived Sunday night to be here for the engagement announcement and for the party Miss Street and her sister, Katharine, are giving tomorrow noon for Miss Florence Otis and Mrs. George Curtis Bird. Although the two hostesses intend to focus attention on the bride [Mrs. Bird, the former Barbara Senn] and the bride-to-be [Miss Otis], it is a foregone conclusion that some attention will be turned in the direction of Miss Jeanné.

Mr. Knorr was graduated from Northwestern university after he had prepared for college at Culver Military academy. He is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity. No plans for the wedding have been made.

Wedding Party of Miss Otis.

When Miss Otis weds Wade Fetzer Jr. at twilight Saturday afternoon in the Fourth Presbyterian church she will be preceded to the chancel steps by her sister, Mrs. Robert S. Burns [Sarane Otis] and nine of Miss Otis' best friends.

Mrs. Burns is to be matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Jeanette Hyde, a roommate of Miss Otis at Farmington, whose home is in Hartford, Conn., will be her maid of honor. Miss Hyde already has come to Chicago to enjoy the prenuptial parties.

For her eight bridesmaids Miss Otis has selected Miss Helen La Chance, Miss Betty Kellogg, Miss Dorothy Senn, Mrs. George Curtis Bird, Mrs. John Sherman [Margaret Fetzer, a sister of the bridegroom]; Miss Mary Jane Fetzer, another of Mr. Fetzer's sisters; Mrs. James Otis, and Mrs. Ralph C. Otis Jr.

John Fetzer will serve his brother as best man. Ushering will be John Sherman, Stanley Zaring, George Dixon Jr., Warren Hassmeier, "Buster" Jones, James Otis, Ralph C. Otis Jr., and William McSwain.

Alliance Juniors to Hear Story of City

The winter would be incomplete, Juniors of the Alliance Française agree, without a French lecture by Miss Phyllis Walsh in a Historical society setting. Acting upon this conviction they have made plans for an afternoon with Miss Walsh on Feb. 28 at the Historical society.

The group will gather in the diorama room on the main floor and will follow Miss Walsh as she tells the story of Chicago [in French] with eight dioramas for illustration. The first of the dioramas is dated 1795 and depicts Mad Anthony Wayne drawing up the treaty of Greenville with the Indians . . . the treaty that made a six mile tract of land [the site of Chicago] a part of the United States. The dioramas bring the story down to A Century of Progress.

After her lecture Miss Walsh as a curator at the Historical society will be one of the hostesses at a reception

Swagger Suits Here; You Can Wear 'Em Now

BY RHEA SEEGER.

There have been swagger suits and swagger suits, but the honeys this year are going to be hard to resist! What with plaids, checks, stripes, and the tweedy wool mixtures themselves, these new arrivals are knockouts. The greatest excitement will be over the fact that you can wear them right away. Dark winter clothes and coats probably are boring you to tears, but these bright swanky swaggers will completely revive your interest in everything.

One stunning outfit, with a modest price tag, consists of three tailored pieces, a two piece gray wool suit, the jacket short, snappy and made with pockets and a flawlessly fitted collar. The skirt is tailored and over this stone gray wool duet is worn the best looking swagger length coat to be found. Red and two shades of gray checks or squares of basket-weave wool fashion a coat of superior smartness, a coat that can be worn over other dresses and suits with the same distinction.

Then there is an old gold bumpy-looking tweed wool made with two pieces, a simple skirt and a knee length coat contrasted with a wide brown suede belt. The unusually wide lapels of the coat stretch from outside shoulder seam to shoulder seam. Big brown wooden buttons hold the lapels in place. This suit can be worn with sweaters or blouses of accenting color schemes.

A large checked wool coat in brown and beige and gold is matched to a dress made with the skirt section of the plain gold colored wool, the blouse top in three shades of rust, citron, and old gold. Another stone-gray long wool coat is particularly dashing over a tomato red crêpe dress. And the gal who likes blue will take a good looking blue suit right out of circulation—cadet blue wool contrasted with darker colors of blue, to be worn with clear yellow blouses or any shade of light or medium blue tones.

If you know your swagger suits this is the time to grab the first arrivals, that always seem a bit smarter than those arriving later in the season.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Walter H. Filor, who was with Mrs. John E. Thompson in Phoenix, Ariz., will return tomorrow to her apartment at the Hotel Carlyle.

Mrs. M. Lockwood Bishop will give a tea and card party tomorrow afternoon at the Savoy-Plaza.

Mr. and Mrs. Elphalet Nott Potter have joined the Aiken colony for a stay of a few weeks.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

It's a small world, etc., etc. This by way of preface to the story of a funny little coincidence.

A few years ago we pried out of a friend from Salt Lake City the secret of her truly lovely white hands, which were the envy of our heart. With a generosity rarely found in a woman where her beauty secrets are concerned she not only told us the name of the lotion she used but offered to import it from Salt Lake City for us—an offer that we snapped up. Some cross country hand lotion shopping went on for some time, coming to a happy halt just a few months ago when we discovered that a local concern had purchased the formula and made it available in stores all over Chicago.

The formula, so far as we can discover, was originated by a Salt Lake City beauty editor, who offered it not only as a chap preventive but as a bleach. It's a mixture of camphor and glycerin—two well known aids to smooth hand skin—with the addition of ammonia, which has pronounced bleaching qualities. The secret, of course, is in the proportions.

The ammonia gives the lotion a slightly strong odor — and you're warned not to hold the bottle too close to the eyes and nose when you uncork it. This unimportant point is outweighed considerably by the lotion's virtues. It heals, protects and bleaches—and what more could you ask? The bleaching seems particularly important to us—and we've been told by housewives that this lotion is a grrand thing to have near the kitchen sink, since it helps battle the skin stains that follow the handling of food.

It doesn't leave the hands sticky after drying, and the odor of ammonia doesn't cling, two points which should recommend it to working women. So far as we can discover, after considerable experimentation with it, it's suited to all types of skin. Tell us if we're wrong.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt dined out tonight for the first time in this administration, and the only time this season, when they were guests of Vice President and Mrs. Garner at the Washington hotel.

Mrs. Roosevelt this afternoon received the new minister from the Netherlands and Mme. de With. At five o'clock she had a tea for several hundred invited guests.

The secretary of state, Cordell Hull, had a large company at luncheon today at the Carlton hotel, where he and Mrs. Hull make their Washington home.

King of Iraq Meets Bride After Wedding

BAGDAD, Iraq, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The public received notice for the first time today that last week's marriage ceremonies uniting Iraq's young King Ghazi and Princess Aliya went off without a hitch.

It came in the form of a government proclamation which expressed the hope that the union proves a happy one, graced with many children."

The banquet over, the guests—after an old Moslem custom—accompanied the king to the door of the palace where they left him alone to join his bride.

Strange as the custom may seem in other parts of the world, the young couple had not seen each other since they were children until their wedding day.

The new queen, daughter of former King Ali of the Hejaz, arrived from Istanbul some time before the ceremony, but due to the fast of Ramadan and mourning for the late King Feisal, they did not meet.

The marriage dinner was the only pretentious part of the service, in accordance with the king's wish. According to custom, the queen did not attend but entertained herself reading and sewing.

THE WILD BIRD

By OWEN JOHNSON

SYNOPSIS.

Barbara Brawne, aged 22, is completely dominated by an adoring though jealous father, who is against every modern idea and improvement. Lynwood, their home, is in the prim and proper village of Oxbridge, a place of intellectual sanctity. Barbara seems predestined to join the ranks of the village spinsters. She contemplates rebellion. Gregory Rance, popular novelist, is visiting her cousin, Laurie Chiswick. They are mutually attracted. Barbara overhears Rance asking Laurie about her. He says she is the sort of girl he'd want to marry. Laurie leaves and Barbara makes her presence known to Rance. She asks him to marry her. But when she learns he is divorced she tells him it is hopeless and leaves him.

INSTALLMENT XIV.

HUMILIATED.

It was in California in his twenty-fourth year, in a passing visit to the artist colony at Carmel, that Rance had met Brigette Tarney, a gay young divorcee who dabbled in music, art, and poetry, but principally in life. He thought he recognized an adventurous spirit akin to his own, impatient of restraint, routine, and convention. They pleased each other and, each experimenting with the emotion, convinced himself by convincing the other that a great passion possessed them. They were married secretly and went off to Mexico together. He saw her as she was, a Bohemian who had no other ambition but to play. At the end of a week they recognized without rancor that no illusion was possible between them, and parted philosophically and with a little shamefaced gayety.

He had long since lost sight of her. She had gone to Europe—just where he did not know or care. The episode remained inexplicable to him, of no more importance than the various impulses which had led him hither and thither over the world. Nevertheless, in greater measure than he would acknowledge, it had determined his attitude toward women.

"If a woman attracts me," he said confidently, "I shall take care that my retreat is secure. When I marry it must not be an impulse."

Women had had little to do in his life. He knew them principally through the confessions of men who had suffered. He had experienced as much pleasure, perhaps, in resisting them as a libertine in the indulgence of his amours.

He attracted them easily by the power of that agnosticism which made his conquest precious in their eyes, but as his ironic smile made impossible the illusions which they required, they withdrew, frightened and resentful. If they would talk to him without pretense, giving him the astounding confessions which a woman confides to a writer who represents to her both confessor and audience, who can judge and at the same time appreciate, well and good, he would listen and learn. Beyond that he returned into his agnostic attitude, convinced that for one woman who loves without premeditation ninety-nine seek only to provoke love. All this was the essence of his social and literary philosophy. The world was suffering from the obsession of the woman. To give realism to politics and education, to divest marriage of its hypocrisy and its sham, the new generation—his generation—must ruthlessly attack the sentimentalization of women.

It was in California he had met a young divorcee.

The attraction that Barbara had exerted over him was, of course, that she threw him instantly out of his philosophy. She reminded him, in her eyes and the softness of her voice, of his mother, which stirred instincts deeper than his consciousness. She had had the daring to seek him herself, with a stark unconventionality which had amazed and profoundly stirred him. Nevertheless, when he had gone to see her the second time, he had said to himself that in the cold realism of the day he would find disillusionment. But the candor with which she had met a situation which to her sensitive nature must have been painfully embarrassing had amazed him. She interested him. She had courage. She was a force. She had humor. She had an extreme sensibility that stirred his own senses. She stimulated his mind as she stimulated his capacities for feeling. He had not been entirely convinced, but already he had been willing to be convinced. He was certain that she was in love with him, that no matter what happened no other comparable love would enter her life. Yet she had retreated. It was more than a deception; it was a personal humiliation.

Other women had retreated, looking back over their shoulders, but the retreat of Barbara had been final. His pride was wounded, though he tried to laugh it off. He had a large share of that egoism which young men need to dare to believe in their destinies. It was not the egoism which required to be nourished on lip flattery. It was an ingrained, deep seated conviction of his exceptional worth, and to maintain its value as a driving force he needed the conviction of his power over others. That any obstacle could rule superior to the love he had inspired in Barbara was incredible. Barbara, stepping out of the inhibitions of years to dare all in one throw, Barbara discovered as a Cinderella, Barbara rising above all hesitation and timidities to seize her opportunity was comprehensible and natural to him. Barbara retiring into her shadows, returning to loneliness and frustration, for a prejudice, a scruple, for any reason whatsoever was beyond his understanding.

"Why?" he asked himself for the hundredth time with increasing irritation. "She was ready to marry me and give me complete liberty. She can surmount all that, and she can't surmount the little fact that I'm divorced from a woman that I haven't seen in years, who may be alive or dead, God knows where! I'll be damned, utterly and totally damned if I can get it!"

Laurie came in and he rose, hastily concealing his ill humor. At the end of a futile afternoon he determined that the matter should not end like that. Gregory Rance was not to be dismissed as casually as that by any queer little woman who took it into her head for a whim to amuse herself in a fantastic dramatization. He would see her again and say what he had to say, even if it made her wince. If it hurt she deserved being hurt.

As Rance came down from his room at 10 o'clock the guests were crowding in. When Tony Chiswick gave a party all Oxbridge arrived. Automobiles rolled up from Paget, where the landed aristocracy resided, and from the Victorian estates on the hill. Tiny, furtive old ladies came from behind their blinds and reviewed the world from the seclusion of the corners. The denominational ministers and Father Gilroy stood in still life groups. Mrs. Tatting, who had never called on any newcomer for the last twenty years, hired the brougham from the livery stable to bring her the hundred yards that intervened. Miss Porcelline, and Miss Doremus and all the administering and admonishing angels were present. The jeunesse doré, the Van Valgah and the Chippinway boys were in full regimentals, bowing to everybody, flattering the old maids, patronizing the younger generation, whispering in the ears of the pretty married women. Sculptors, painters, critics and ambassadors, librarians, doctors, ladies who knew every one and ladies who knew no one, those who came to watch and those who came to amuse themselves at the expense of others crowded through the jam in the hall with a nod to Auguste, the communal butler, and old Maria, who mothered all the Chiswicks and told Tony when to stop talking and eat his soup.

Rance had hardly reached the floor when Freddie Chippinway bore down on him.

If Ed Shippinway, with his caustic wit and his epigrammatic epitaphs, was the final social court of appeal, Freddie was the little godfather of Oxbridge and the recognized master of ceremonies. Whenever a party assumed public proportions it was understood that Freddie with his Chesterfield graces, would guide it to a successful conclusion. Like a naughty Watteau Abbé, when charming, elegant Abbés had the successes of courtiers and absolved the loveliest of sinners before the sinning—never losing his zest or his illusions—delighting, audacious, and provocative, he passed lightly among the ladies, always convinced but never convincing.

"Hello, Rance," he said, slipping his arm through his, "who trapped you and brought you here? By George, did you ever see anything like them? Isn't Tony wonderful? He's the only one who can do it. He waved his hands and charms them out of their holes."

He waved toward the old ladies' row, surreptitiously squeezed the hand of a pretty girl who passed, and nodded across the crowd to another. "Don't you feel like Napoleon before the pyramids? Soldiers, twenty centuries look down upon you! How do you do, Miss Annie? How do you do, Miss Susan? How do you do, Miss Fanny? You're looking particularly young and wicked tonight."

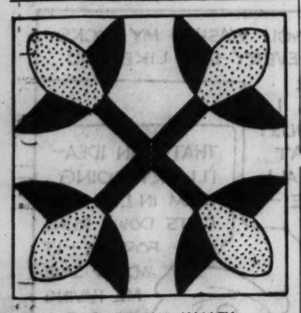
Today's Quilt Is Late Adaptation of Older Favorite



LILY OF THE VALLEY.

BY NANCY CABOT.

It has been said that no two women cut their quilt patterns alike. This probably accounts for the modern note found in today's quilt block, adapted by an enterprising young matron from an old lily of the valley pattern. The adaptation has all the appeal of the oldest and most popular quilts.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send five cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn street.

Expert Puzzled by Neglect of Tasty Parsnip

BY MARY MEADE.

All week I've been considering a cookery problem and not yet have I found the answer. For why a deserving diner should be able to canter all over this sisey town, as I have of late, without encountering more than a sad handful of those golden and luscious temptations called parsnips in a fortnight of feasting is more than my little mind can fathom.

But that has just been my experience. Maybe it's harder to get good parsnips than good cabbage and beets. Perhaps folks don't like them because they never have known the joys of a perfect parsnip, impeccably cooked. But, whatever the apology, the fact that parsnips seldom glow in public dining rooms or dazzle us with their versatility and charm in an army of different guises should merit only a passing sigh. As long as we have yet with us a grill, hot plate, range, or some wherewithal for cooking we can evolve home created parsnip dishes to our soul's content.

Which rears the question—have you yet encountered the savory whiff which comes from a baking dish of:

PARSNIPS AND BACON EN CASSEROLE.

8 small parsnips
4 strips bacon
Salt and pepper to taste
1 tablespoon sugar

Steam or boil the parsnips in salted water until tender. Run a fork carefully into the end of each parsnip in turn, scraping the skin off with a dull knife. Now place the parsnips, cordwood fashion, in a buttered casserole and sprinkle with salt, pepper, and sugar. Lay the bacon strips over the top and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until the bacon is crisp and the vegetables hot. Or, if cheese is your especial weakness this season, sprinkle the parsnips first with grated American cheese before adding the bacon. Or a cheese cream sauce over the parsnips, with bacon atop, gives the final touch of lusciousness. This dish will serve four.

But if you'd gain and keep parsnip lovers in your family never serve them 'snips with hard and hoary hearts. Woody fibers spoil the best of appetites. And don't think you have always to flatter parsnips with extra touches. Steam or boil, scrape, and serve very hot with generously laid-on butter and a dash of minced parsley. Perfection! Peel and cut them in quarters, cook and serve with cream sauce. Or cook, scrape, and mash until fluffy, season with salt, pepper, paprika, and lemon or onion juice, and pile very hot into a serving dish. A touch of parsley adds swank.

Fat likewise comes in for its 2 cents' worth in the preparation of parsnips. For sautéing them, cook first until tender, scrape, and cut in strips. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, and brown sugar, and fry until golden brown in a little fat. Or for:

PARSNIP PUFFS.

(Another name for these would-be fritters.)

Cook five parsnips in salted boiling water until tender. Drain, skin, and mash. Add three tablespoons milk, two tablespoons fat, and salt and pepper to season. Now stir in one beaten egg and chill the mixture until it's firm enough to mold, adding dry crumbs if necessary. Roll into balls, dip in crumbs, in diluted egg, and again in crumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat (380 degrees F.) until golden brown. Drain and serve with horse radish sauce and parsley. Or, just as graciously, quarters of cooked parsnips take to French frying without benefit of mashing. Or these same pieces take added puffiness and glory to themselves if dipped first in fritter batter and then fried.

and tea in the society's senate chamber. Miss Jean Wilhelm is the president of the Juniors of the alliance.

Parties Will Mark President's Birthday.

Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, who as chairman of the box committee made sure that all the boxes for the President's birthday party at the Auditorium tonight were sold, will not be at the party, for her husband is ill and she will stay at home with him.

The proceeds of this entertainment will be given to the Georgia Warm Springs foundation, which also will receive the proceeds of the many President's birthday parties all over the country.

Admiral Cluverius will propose a toast to the President and will give a brief address at a dinner the Army and Navy club will give tonight for the President's birthday. Col. George T. Langhorne, president of the club, will preside at the dinner, which will be followed by dancing.

The Tavern club will keep open house today to celebrate the President's birthday, and the members who visit the club will be asked to contribute a dollar each to the Warm Springs foundation.

Almost every committee in charge of a benefit considers it necessary to enlist the services of pretty young girls as ushers, but the mothers of the children of the Horace Mann school in Winnetka have decided to try something different and they are having some of the fathers usher tonight at the benefit they are sponsoring for the school. It is to be a lecture by Julian Duguid and Sacha Siemel in the Jane Kuppenheimer Memorial hall of the Skokie school and there have been so many demands for tickets that it is to be repeated next Tuesday night in the same hall for the same cause. The money will be used for school improvements.

Templetons Going to Southwest.

There has been a change of plans in the Kenneth S. Templeton household, for their debutante daughter, Miss Josephine Templeton—and she was among the most attractive of the debs of the season just past—is going to the University of Arizona to study languages and to enjoy the sun instead of down to Florida, where she intended just to play and enjoy the sunshine.

Mr. and Mrs. Templeton and Miss Templeton are leaving tonight for Tucson, where Mr. and Mrs. Templeton will spend a fortnight.

The Stanley Keiths and their daughter, Miss Patsy Keith, another debutante of last season, are going west tonight also to spend six weeks on a ranch very near Tucson.

Useppa island off the coast of Florida will be the destination of the Donald F. McPhersons when they leave in about ten days for a month's vacation. Upon their return Mrs. McPherson will make plans for bringing home their subdebutante daughter, Fanny, who is at school in Paris this winter.

That traveling young woman, Miss Beatrice Borland, who has been abroad for the past six months, is expected at home tomorrow.

Louis Hiram Skidmore Jr. is the name of the son born to the Louis H. Skidmores on Sunday afternoon in St. Luke's hospital. Mrs. Skidmore is the former Eloise Owings.

Dr. William M. McMillan spent most of last week-end telephoning his friends and those of Mrs. McMillan to tell them of the addition of a son to their Highland Park household. The baby . . . the first in the McMillan family . . . was born at St. Luke's hospital. Before her marriage Mrs. McMillan was Elizabeth Griffith of St. Joseph, Mo.

The Alanson Follansbees of Winnetka have gone to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for the rest of the winter.

JUNIOR GIRL'S DRESS.

Today's dress is easy to make, and it has youthful, simple and becoming lines. Inverted pin tucks finish the dress at the neckline, and give snugness about the waist and hips. A purply blue printed silk crêpe, with plain toning crêpe for trimming, made the original dress.

The pattern, No. 3282, comes in sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years.

Hoosier Salon Best of Series, Critic Declares

Judges Praised for Their Prize Selections.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Here is an exhibition no one should miss! The tenth annual Hoosier salon in the Marshall Field galleries is the most beautiful exhibit the Hoosier Salon Patrons' association has yet sponsored. It is a varied and colorful show, with flower paintings, still life and gorgeous landscapes in the majority. There is many a good portrait besides and the division of sculpture contains several noteworthy pieces.

The "feature room" depicts the beauty spots of Indiana and the paintings here have been carefully chosen, with the result that picture after picture is hauntingly lovely.

With so many brilliant and picturesque canvases to choose from, choice becomes a difficult matter. There is, for instance, the stunning still life by Edgar Forkner, a water color, vivid and forceful. Curry Bohm, on the other hand, offers an exquisite winter scene, "Early Monday Morning," a sensitive and lovely piece of painting. Carl Brandner shows a fine autumn landscape and Carl Woolsey brings from Taos, N. M., a brilliant winter landscape. Charles W. Dahlgreen shows a rich fall landscape with Indians and wagons featured against the vivid hills.

J. Murry Wickard creates an entirely different atmosphere with his exquisite figure study of a young girl, a black cat on her knee and a vase of white carnations on the table before her. This, by the way, is one of the prize winning paintings.

The prize awards were skillfully given. Merit was honored in each. The "Between Showers," by Alexis Jean Fournier, is a subtle and poetic canvas, beautifully modulated in color and full of the soft, damp feel of veiling mists.

Edward Dunlap's "The Procession" won first prize. It is a striking conception, strongly and simply carried out. Last year this picture was awarded honorable mention in the Prix de Rome competition. Marie Goth, George Mock, Lee Sturges, the entire list, is fact, of prize winners, have each made notable contributions to the exhibit, which is one of the finest in town.

The exhibition will continue through Feb. 10.

Genuine Bullets in Movie Make Gil Berry Blink

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Gil Berry, former University of Illinois football captain who is playing a subordinate rôle in "Come On, Marines," being made on location at Lake Malibu by a company headed by Richard Arlen and Roscoe Karns, confesses that he and the other actor marines developed more than ordinary interest, rapidly turning to slight chills, when they learned the machine guns shooting the bullets in the synthetic jungle were shooting real bullets and not blanks.

"But there really was no hazard," Berry says. "In the cast a large number of the men portraying marines were distinguished veterans of the marine corps under the technical advice of Maj. William McIlvain, a veteran of eighteen years' service and the second man to fly in the marine corps back in 1910.

"Handling the machine guns were Gunnery Sergeant George Daly, who, as champion machine gunner of the marine corps, trained 500 gun crews during the world war; Harry Strang, Jack Pennick, and Dick Coleman, all veterans of at least ten years' service and all of whom had received one or more citations for bravery in action. Those fellows don't miss."

Bad Discipline Abets Child in His Pertness

He Often Misbehaves to Tease His Parents.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

I feel sure that her favorite indoor sport—and perhaps her outdoor sport, too—was "baiting" her mother. It was so easy that she couldn't resist the temptation.

The little girl and her mother sat in the front seat of a suburban bus that was half filled. In no time at all she had become acquainted with the bus driver and had started in a sprightly conversation with him. Just as she was getting bored with this and about to stop, her mother, noticing the sign forbidding talking with the driver, admonished her. The wise child, secure in her knowledge that her mother could do nothing with her, started in again and kept up a rapid runing fire of comment, obviously for the purpose of being tantalizing.

Repeated scoldings brought only tosses of the head and flips of the body. An ill-concealed laugh from one of the commuters made the child realize that she had an audience and then the show was on. From just a garrulous little girl she became a self-conscious little actress, with sly grins at her infuriated and helpless mother. She started to talk in a smartalecky way, sang, and covered more space within the narrow confines of her small seat than one would think possible. She really made herself a thorough nuisance.

Her mother, completely ignorant of how to handle her, continued her nagging or threatening remarks which fell, not on deaf ears, but on amused and imperturbable ears. Eventually, to the relief of the poor passengers, she and her mother alighted and peace and calm fell on the bus.

Her mother may think she is the sufferer, but she isn't. That child is. For instead of an unself-conscious, sociable, alert child, of which she had the "makin's"—a child liked and admired—she had become a little nuisance, bound to repel the interest of grownups and probably that of her contemporaries, too.

Baby's Welfare Must Be Primary Care of Parents

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She is an expectant mother and is getting a divorce from her husband because the man is out of work. She lives with her people in an apartment too small to accomodate the infant when it comes. A rich woman, she tells, wants to adopt the baby. Should she, she asks, let the rich woman take the child and keep it until she is able to take care of it herself?

Of such is the kingdom of marriage as it is practised by the heedless and the heartless among its experimenters! Of such, too, are the sad tales of adoption one reads about every now and then in the papers. A babe turned over by an unfeeling mother at a moment of her convenience with the expectation of recalling the child, later, when it does suit her convenience.

But, of course, the babe is not here yet. Their appearance in the world has been known to convert the seemingly most hard boiled mothers into passionately courageous parents. Let's hope the miracle is effected in this case, for the child's sake, and for the mother's better interests and happier future life.

Perhaps we judge too hastily. A set of discouraging circumstances might throw the mother off balance temporarily, the kindest thing that might be said of one who plans to give her child away. With a husband out of a job, living with in-laws in crowded quarters where an addition to the family apparently is not welcomed, a woman might be distraught enough to think of her child's welfare in terms of rich adoption. She might, indeed, live to bitterly regret that decision. But, as said, such incidents lead to heartbreaking drama for all concerned, particularly for the child whose interests are of paramount importance.

-AND JANE YOUR HAIR LOOKED LOVELY LAST NIGHT—SO FULL OF LIFE AND LUSTRE. WHAT'S THE SECRET?

Gaze on Others for Cue to Own Better Grooming

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Not seeing ourselves as others see us, but seeing ourselves as we see others, is the suggestion proffered as a good beauty hint.

The friend, who makes the suggestion, had met an acquaintance on the street, and, noting the acquaintance's smudged and powderless face, was reminded that her own face had not been looked into since early morning. Thus developed the idea of not using the other person as a mirror, but keeping ourselves a spotless mirror for others to see themselves in.

When a body meets a body coming through the shopping district, and the respective bodies are female in persuasion, there does go on a good deal of analyzing and comparing. Isn't it true? Haven't you been guilty of peering into Madge's face and saying to yourself: "Goodness, I wonder if my face looks like that?" Perhaps it's wrinkles that Madge is showing, or a heavy brow pucker, or a smudged nose, or dented-in mouth corners, or maybe just the soil of the day. Anyway, Madge is serving as your mirror for the moment. Now, the idea is not to dwell on Madge's shortcomings, but to resolve that no one shall catch you shorthanded, pictorially speaking. Your face, as mirror for peering eyes, is going to be foolproof against criticism.

Or, it may be your hair. You and I have slumped on the hairdressing date, mayhap. We think we're getting by, curless, until we come upon a head that is painfully like our own at the moment. Then the full force of our shiftlessness strikes us.

Or it might be fingernails that we are trying to keep under cover, or out of sight of the other woman. Anyway, you get the idea of mirroring yourself in another's eyes, or being a mirror.

Good Morning!

A confused and confusing photoplay. You leave the theater conscious that there has been a great deal of to do—melodramatic, sophisticated and voluminously conversational Miss Hopkins accompanying Mr. March to Boulder dam, which, you gather, he expects to construct single handed. [Otherwise you feel unconscious.]

Miss Hopkins, as the enormously wealthy heroine, is very much afraid she doesn't love Mr. March enough. Mr. March becomes very much afraid of it, too.

It takes a gunman and his moll, who think nothing of leaping out of skyscraper windows for love of one another, to make Miss Hopkins and Mr. March realize WHAT LOVE REALLY IS. . . .

"Haven't they got the reels mixed?" I asked a theater official who paused by my seat during the first part of the show.

"No," he said, "It's that sort of a picture."

And, with all due respect to excellent acting contributed by a fine cast—it IS that sort of picture.

You can have it.

See you tomorrow.

weep no more my lady

Here's a triple-plated recipe for eliminating those breakfast brambles. Husbands—yes, even the maddest of the fellows—are astonishingly pliable to the rich and mellow soothings of a steaming cup of Hills Bros. Coffee. In fact, so are you. Try it and see. No human system yet designed can stand the terrible strain of getting out of a cozy bed without proper incentive. Ample Hills Bros. Coffee waiting on the breakfast table is incentive enough for anyone. So weep no more, dear lady. Ply that man across from you with freshly brewed Hills Bros. Coffee. He will leave the table as meek as a lamb and go to the office with the determination of twenty lions.

Parisiennes Wear Checked Linen Suits and Sailor Hats on Southern Beaches

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Checkered linen, gay and fresh in clear red and white, is being used to make simple suits to wear in Palm Beach and at Monte Carlo. Between ourselves, the linen is on the coarse side, and almost as heavy as the checkered stuff they use to make coats for horses who have run their race. That's the secret of its chic, of course.

The smart suit in our sketch is made of this material and it is worn with a hat stolen from the Spanish sailor silhouette, with the crown a lot shallower and the brim as big as a cartwheel. It is held on the head by a bandeau of red velvet around the back and left side and is trimmed with three velvet roses, also red.

The jacket of the suit is double breasted and fastens on red leather buttons. It has a single breast pocket with two buttoned flaps on it. Double buttoned flaps button on the sleeves and the lower edge of the jacket is notched at the seams, as is also the straight skirt.

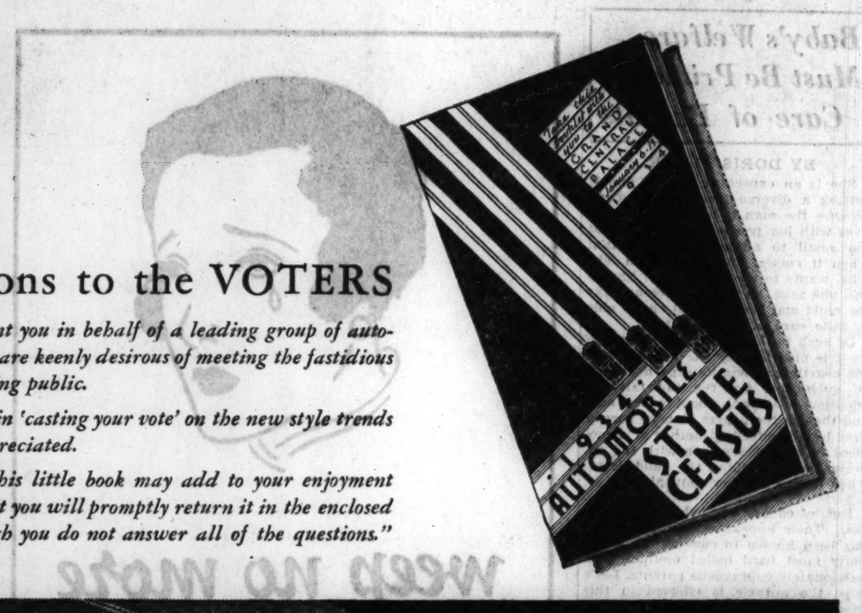
4,000 people voted ★ ..and PONTIAC won overwhelmingly!

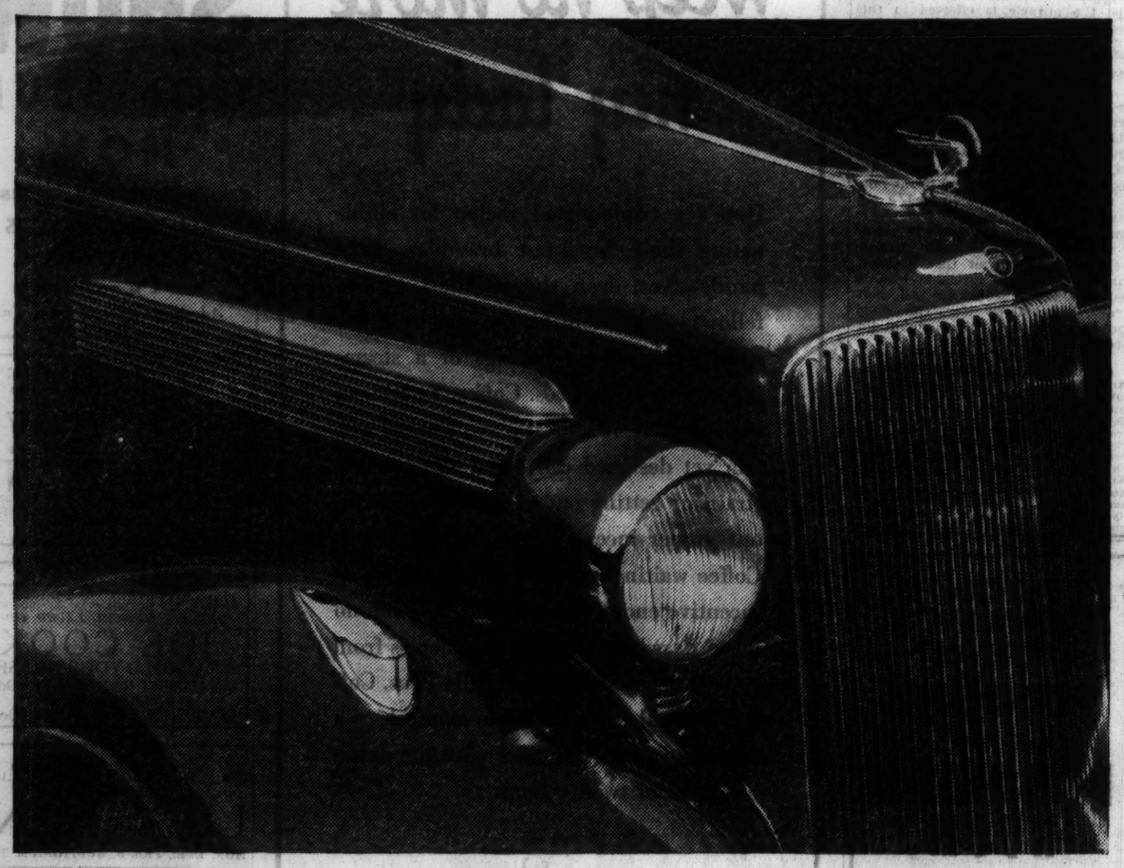


Instructions to the VOTERS

"This booklet is sent you in behalf of a leading group of automobile stylists who are keenly desirous of meeting the fastidious tastes of the motoring public.

"Your cooperation in 'casting your vote' on the new style trends will be greatly appreciated.

"It is hoped that this little book may add to your enjoyment of the show and that you will promptly return it in the enclosed envelope even though you do not answer all of the questions."



IN AN unprejudiced balloting—carried out at the New York Automobile Show by a Research Organization—4000 people, selected at random, recorded their impressions about the ten cars in Pontiac's general price group. Pontiac was the overwhelming favorite! . . . On the basis of beauty, Pontiac was almost a two to one choice over any other car in the group. . . . And on the general question, "What car would you buy, if you were buying in this group?" —Pontiac was again almost a two to one choice. No other car was even near it!

These people were not just guessing. They were at the Show—and they saw and studied all the ten cars in the group. And then—leisurely and with plenty of time to compare impressions about the different cars—they gave Pontiac a tremendous vote of approval.

Taken by and large, the people who participated in this balloting comprised a complete cross-section of American life—doctors, lawyers, mechanics, housewives, business men, secretaries, executives — all types of up-and-coming Americans.

And they saw in Pontiac what you will see in Pontiac!

They saw a big car, with that big-car "look" and big-car "impression" that everybody wants.

They saw a beautiful car—with the sweep and the flare to its lines that true beauty must have.

* * * *

Over on the mechanical side they saw a big Straight Eight engine, built with a precision they never expected to find in any car of such low cost!

They saw genuine Knee-Action front wheels—true "wheels with knees," not independent springing of the conventional type.

They saw powerful, equal-acting Bendix brakes—so trustworthy and safe that something would have to happen to all four cables to put them entirely out of commission.

* * * *

They saw a car with larger, finer Fisher bodies—and the latest development of Fisher No Draft Ventilation.

And, finally, they saw a General Motors car—and they knew that its exterior beauty was matched in every way by the soundness and progressiveness of its engineering.

* * * *

We'd like your vote on this, too. Either at the Auto Show here in Chicago, or at any Pontiac dealer's, look this car over—and tell us what you think.

Get a Straight Eight for your money!

SILVER SKATES AT LINCOLN PARK TOMORROW

FLORIDA BARS RAY, TRAINER, ON DOPE CHARGE

U. S. Presses Drive on Stimulating.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Government agents today continued their drive to rid American race tracks of turfmen who stimulate horses with narcotics. Another investigation resulted in the suspension of Nat Ray, Canadian trainer and a former steeplechase rider, who was charged with doping one of his horses.

Announcement of Ray's suspension was made late this afternoon by stewards at the Hialeah Park track. Ray is charged with stimulating Kiltamond, a 3 year old filly, which ran on the opening day program Thursday. Ray also trains two other horses, Stealingaway and Heroson.

Chemists Find Strychnine.

Chemists, employing the French system of testing the saliva from horses, reported that strychnine had been given Kiltamond. Ray denied the charges. Stewards referred his case to the Florida Racing commission for further action.

Ray is the third turfman to be barred by Florida tracks. Harry Cooper of Vancouver, B. C., and Edward Haughton, Kentucky trainer, who once trained the horses in Mrs. Payne Whitney's stable, were arrested by government agents at Tropical Park two weeks ago.

Cooper is Released.

Cooper was released on a $1,500 bond this afternoon in federal court where he was arraigned on a charge of possessing narcotics. He already has made bond of $2,500 in state court on a similar charge and has posted $500 with immigration officials. He is alleged to have illegally entered the United States.

Officials at Florida race tracks have been coöperating with the government in its drive to arrest dope users. The French system of testing the saliva of horses was employed at both Tropical Park and Hialeah, but it failed to meet with complete success.

Start Drive in Chicago.

The first of the series of arrests made on American tracks occurred at Arlington Park near Chicago last July. In this raid A. A. Baroni, owner and trainer, Jack Howard, Ben Creech, and Ivan Parke, once one of the leading jockeys in America, were seized.

The agents continued to work at other tracks. From the Chicago district the agents departed for the south. The winter tracks, where many "killings" have been made, were found to be free from the dope users.

Lock Up Cooper.

But two weeks ago the agents, working at Tropical Park, raided the apartment of Cooper, a well known trainer, and confiscated a strong box containing narcotics and needles. He was placed in jail on a charge of possessing dope and he was given a lifetime suspension from Florida's tracks.

It was believed that these dope giving horsemen had fled from Florida, but late this afternoon the stewards of Hialeah Park announced the arrest of Ray. Further action against Ray is expected soon by the racing commission.

Raced in Canada.

Ray lists himself as the trainer of the three horses, the owner of which is given as Mrs. Nat Ray, his wife. Ray has been racing his horses on the eastern and Canadian tracks.

Heroson and Kiltamond are 3 year olds, while Stealingaway is 4 years old. The latter is rated as the best of the trio, although all ran in claiming races. Stealingaway won several handicap races in Canada last summer.

MICKEY WALKER HELD TO DRAW BY BOB GODWIN

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Mickey Walker, resembling only in flashes the champion he was, fought to a draw with Bob Godwin of Adel, Ga., in the 10 round main event of the weekly fight card at the Dixie arena tonight.

Godwin, aggressive boxer, made an impressive showing against the former titleholder, but Mickey was catching most of the Georgia boy's punches on his elbows and gloves.

Canzoneri to Quit Ring if Locatelli Whips Him Friday

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Tony Canzoneri's 12 round battle with Cleto Locatelli, European lightweight champion, in Madison Square Garden, Friday night, will be his last, if he loses. Canzoneri authorized this statement today, following a workout in preparation for the return bout with Locatelli.

However, if he whips Locatelli, as he did in their first meeting, he will keep after Barney Ross, lightweight champion, until he gets another match with the Chicagoan.

Canzoneri could retire now without fear of future financial worry. He has made, conservatively, $250,000 in the ring, and his fortune has been wisely invested.

Winning Ping-Pong

BY COLEMAN CLARK.
[National Champion 1932.]

FUN AND GOOD EXERCISE.

MILLIONS are getting a big kick out of ping-pong. It's fun and good exercise poking the elusive little white ball back and forth across the net. But you have no idea what you are missing—no conception of the real thrill which can be yours—unless you know something about the technique of the present day style of play, which is as different from the pat-ball variety of the average player as day is from night.

COLEMAN CLARK.

If you will acquaint yourself with the rudiments of the game, such as the grips, strokes, spin shots, and serves, you will at once realize the absorbing interest of the game. Ping-pong is here to stay, as it is inherently interesting and never capable of complete mastery.

What I hope these articles will do for you is to open your eyes widely to the fascination of ping-pong so that it will give you the same measure of enduring pleasure it has given me.

In this series I shall endeavor to reveal to you in the simplest terms and diagrams the salt of the game and the many little secrets and mysteries that should give you a tremendous advantage over your rivals.

[Tomorrow—The Tennis Grip.]

English Squash Team Sweeps First Series

The squash racquets team representing the Jesters club of England came out on top in the first test of strength against Chicago players last night, winning seven straight matches with the loss of only three games in a series at the Racquet club and the Harvard-Yale-Princeton club.

The Chicago squad, however, withheld its seven best players. Its full strength will be sent against the English team this afternoon at the Chicago Athletic association.

English Captain Wins.

Edward Snell, captain of the English team, defeated R. L. Stevenson III, of the Harvard-Yale-Pinceton club, 17-15, 15-2, 15-8, in the first match played at the Racquet club. Then Guy O. M. Jameson, runner-up for the English championship, beat Richard Von Ungern-Sternberg of the Chicago Town and Tennis club, 15-8, 15-12, 13-15, 15-9. G. d'Oyley Sheppard concluded the program by defeating Henry L. Parker of the Harvard-Yale-Princeton club, 15-10, 5-15, 15-11, 15-8.

In the matches at the Harvard-Yale-Princeton club Derek Adams beat L. Olmstead of the Harvard-Yale-Princeton club, 16-14, 15-12, 15-12; John Gillies beat Joe Belden of the Racquet club, 15-8, 15-6, 15-7; Theodore Drysdals beat Ward Starrett of the Chicago Athletic association, 15-14, 15-11, 15-10, and Harry Mellor beat Richard Hummer, also of the C. A. A., 15-10, 15-8, 14-16, 15-7.

The Chicago team used players rated from No. 8 to No. 14. Today the seven top ranking men will be used.

Anderson to Oppose Snell.

This afternoon James E. Anderson, captain of the Chicago team, will be matched against Snell, the English leader. Other pairings follow:

Dudley Pope vs. Guy O. M. Jameson.
E. J. Hartney vs. G. d'Oyley Sheppard.
Joe Jannotta vs. Derek Adams.
Louis Hardin vs. John Gillies.
Jim Robinson vs. Theodore Drysdale.
C. Wallace Johnson vs. Harry Mellor.

The English team will leave tomorrow for a series in Detroit. They will play in the Canadian championship tournament at Montreal Feb. 2, 3 and 4, and in the United States title meet at Boston, Feb. 10, 11 and 12.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Minnesota's basketball team tied Indiana for fourth place and reached a .500 rating in the Big Ten tonight by defeating Chicago's Maroons, 36 to 18.

Chicago suffered a stunning blow at the start when Haarlow broke a toe in the preliminary warmup before the game when he bumped into the backboard platform. He tried to play for a few minutes, but he was forced to leave the game.

Even so, the Maroons made a great stand in the first half to stay even with Minnesota. The Maroons made four baskets and the Gophers three in the first half, and were tied at 9 to 9.

Minnesota snapped out of its lethargy in the second half and ran wild despite the use of six new men. Norman and Svendsen tied for scoring honors with 9 points each. Lang was Chicago's best with 7.

DE PAUL WINS, 30-24

De Paul university's basketball team won its seventh consecutive game of the season last night, defeating North Central college, 30 to 24, at Naperville.

Shortly after the start of the second half, with De Paul ahead, 16 to 9, Pete Barskis, De Paul scoring ace, was taken out, and North Central spurted to tie the score, 20 to 20. It was the first time any team had been on even terms with De Paul so late in a game all season.

Barskis was rushed back into the game and again dominated play. His total of four baskets and two free throws led De Paul scorers with eight points. Lineup:

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth, confined to his home with an attack of influenza, was showing a decided feeling of restlessness today. He wants to be up and about again.

However, he found both Mrs. Ruth and his physician in an unrelenting mood. The Babe, though reported resting comfortably, must resign himself to remaining in bed for several days. Then he expects to go to Florida to begin training.

In the Wake of the News

BOOKS RECEIVED.

THE WAKE seldom goes in for book reviewing and this comment is not that. However, we have received several little volumes of which, perhaps, Helpers would like to hear.

One of these is entitled "Poetry of the Insane." It was compiled by Dr. Charles E. Mayos of the East Moline State hospital, East Moline, Ill. The verse is collected, as a result of investigation of the subject, from institutions all over the country.

Of it Dr. Mayos says: "I am not offering this little volume as a contribution to American verse, but as a proof that the psychotic mind is not incapacitated along all lines of mental activity, and that it has many things in common with the normal mind. It will be remembered by those who have studied the old masters of English literature that some beautiful poetry was the product of psychotic minds."

Not all that has rhyme
Is poetry; shall I rate mine
Or console myself?
True poetry comes alone from the soul
Confessing of things untrue,
Has in its touch the better life,
That, too, gives life to you.
Not all that has rhyme
Is poetry; shall I rate mine
Or credit it to you?
True poetry comes from
The God of love
Manifesting things wise and true,
Has in its love one touch of God
And love of you.

In our rôle of Wake conductor we from time to time receive contributions, evidently the product of disordered minds. Please understand this does not refer to our usual contributors. The deduction is drawn from contents and the stationery used. Often these items are lucid; sometimes incoherent. Usually only a first name is signed. They start and then stop without our knowing the incentive or the finis.

Another interesting little volume of quite a different character is "The Little Pioneer," written by the late Mrs. Lena Evans, mother of Chick Evans, on her sick bed. It is a story of early homemaking in the middle west told in a personal vein that proves most intriguing.

Mrs. Evans, as all followers of golf know, furnished the encouragement which carried Chick to many golf titles. She attended all his more prominent matches. There was a close bond between Chick and his mother, which, he always declared, was the source of whatever success he met on the links.

Another is "Modern Ping-Pong and How to Play It," by Coleman Clark, national champion in 1932. As we are not an adept, we refer questioners to

HAWKS BATTLE OTTAWA TONIGHT; EYE FIRST PLACE

Victory May Place Them in Tie Again.

OTTAWA, Can., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A confident Chicago Blackhawk hocky team arrived here late today for its last appearance of the season in Ottawa tomorrow night.

Victory over the Senators will place the Blackhawks in a tie for first place with the New York Rangers if Boston wins from the Rangers at Boston. A Hawk victory would drop Detroit to third place as it is only a point ahead of the Chicago team.

Manager Tommy Gorman brought a full squad of fifteen men along for the two games on the present trip. The second game will be against the Canadiens at Montreal Thursday, after which the Hawks return to Chicago to meet Boston at the Chicago Stadium next Sunday.

The 2 to 0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs last night makes the Hawks a serious Stanley cup threat. They have defeated every club in the National Hocky league, and in only two games to date has the opposition been able to roll up a decisive score against what authorities rate as the best defensive machine in hocky today.

Ottawa has not been able to conquer the Hawks in four attempts this year.

CONACHER BOOSTS LEAD

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Charlie Conacher, Toronto right wing, increased his lead over scorers of National Hocky league, according to official averages released tonight by President Frank Calder.

Conacher now has 23 goals and 12 assists, leading his teammate, Joe Primeau, by five points. Only one point behind Primeau are Harvey Jackson, third member of the Toronto line, and Aurel Joliat of the Canadiens.

Frank C. Boucher, Ranger center, leads all opponents in the American section. Boucher scored six points in the seven days just ended, which brought his total to 30, eight ahead of his teammate, Creil Dilion. Dillon is one point ahead of Stewart and Bill Cook, who are tied for third place in the American division.

Red Horner, Leaf defense player, became the first in the league to pass the 100 minute penalty mark. His four minors during the week gave him a total of 103 minutes for the season.

A record was established during the week when Primeau, who went 29 games without a penalty, was penalized in his thirtieth game. He got two penalties during the week, which leaves Frank C. Boucher of the Rangers as the only regular with only one penalty. Ralph Cooney Weiland has not yet been penalized as a member of the Detroit club, which secured his services from Ottawa early in the season.

BRITISH HEAVY CHAMPION SCORES TEN SECOND K. O.

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Jack Peterson, British heavyweight champion, scored the quickest knockout in local boxing history tonight when he put Charles Smith down within ten seconds after the opening bell for their ten round match.

Time for the round was less than 20 seconds, including the knockout count.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The seventeenth annual Silver Skates Derbies sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE will be held tomorrow night on the outdoor rink at Waveland avenue east of Sheridan road. Arrangements were made yesterday with the officials of the Lincoln park district.

The extreme cold weather yesterday virtually assured excellent ice for the Derbies. Skaters were using many outdoor rinks and William C. Larson of Lincoln park said the Waveland avenue rink, which was flooded immediately upon the advent of the zero weather, would be ready this morning.

Skaters, Report Early!

Lincoln park officials, Supt. J. Frank Lyman, Harry O'Hare, director of recreation and small parks; Sam Cecoraro, and Mr. Larson are coöperating to offer all facilities for the contestants. In addition to the fieldhouse, where racing numbers will be distributed by the Silver Skates clerks, portable houses will be available for the comfort of the skaters.

Numbers for the younger boys and girls will be passed out starting at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and, while they will be distributed until 5:30, the boys who expect to compete in the lowest age divisions are urged to come as early as possible. The tournament committee expects to start the first preliminary not later than 5:30 and possibly a half hour earlier. This will assure completion of races for younger boys and girls shortly after dark. Numbers for the boys' intermediate, men's senior, and girls' senior classes will be passed out until 6:30.

2,344 File Entries.

Automobile traffic to the scene of the Derbies must turn east from Sheridan road at Addison street, 3600 north. Drive east one and a half blocks and then north one block. Sheridan avenue buses stop at Waveland avenue, 3700 north while the nearest street car line is Broadway and the stop, of course, is Waveland.

The list of eligible contestants in the seven Derbies totals 2,344 and is divided as follows:

Buttons for Every Contestant.

The corps of officials who will conduct the races are urged to report as early as possible so there may be no delay in passing out the racing numbers at 4 o'clock or getting the preliminaries under way.

Each contestant who reports tomorrow night will receive a souvenir bronze button, while there are five prizes in each of the seven Derbies in addition to the Walter Eckersall Memorial team trophy.

Hack Wilson Says He's in Fine Shape; Won't Take a Cut

Martinsburg, W. Va., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Hack Wilson, pudgy outfielder for the Brooklyn National league club, wants the world to know that he is in good condition; that he is going to have a great season and that he will not take a salary cut.

"They offered me a cut, but why should I take it? I haven't reached any agreement, but I guess everything will be all right before we get ready to leave for our Orlando, Fla., training camp," the former Chicago Cub star said.

"I'm feeling great. I've been playing golf, fishing and hunting in the hills. I expect to have as good a season as I did four years ago with the Chicago Cubs. I've taken several big cuts in salary and I don't see any reason for another."

Wilson, who won the National league home run championship in 1930 when he was with the Cubs, came to the Dodgers in 1932. That season he was reported to have received $18,000. The following year he was cut to $9,000.

Wilson said he talked with Bob Quinn, secretary of the Dodgers, yesterday. He said Quinn still insisted that he take a "little cut," and they ended their brief conversation without anything being settled.

NORMAL HUNTING SEASON ON DUCKS SEEN THIS YEAR

Game Conference Fails to Cut Shooting Period.

BY BOB BECKER.

Now that the annual wild game conference has been held in the east, Illinois waterfowl hunters have regained some confidence about the future of their sport. Instead of the conference going amuck and considering more regulations and less waterfowl hunting for the average shooter, the 600 delegates in attendance got down to business regarding "a new deal for the ducks."

It is confidently predicted that the waterfowl season for 1934 will be about the same as it was during 1933 in length and bag limits, providing that the coming nesting season is normal. Here in Illinois thousands of guides, hunters and owners of private shooting property have been expecting to see a much more curtailed season. Therefore the spirit of the recent game conference and the outlook for the 1934 hunting season should be encouraging to Illinois sportsmen and others interested in waterfowl hunting.

Action Seen on Duck Baiting.

From reports which have come to us regarding the attitude of conservationists, sportsmen and scientists who attended the game conference, there is, however, one factor in waterfowl hunting which may be acted upon before the opening of the 1934 season. That is the widely practiced system of baiting waterfowl. It looks very much as if we had not seen the end of discussion or action on this question. In fact, sportsmen need not be surprised to see steps taken by autumn either to eliminate the practice of shooting over areas where grain has been distributed, or else stringent regulations put into effect governing hunting near such areas.

Thomas Beck, chairman of the special committee on wild life restoration appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, brought elation to the game conference when he revealed part of the government's proposal to restore wild life to a large proportion of the 50,000,000 acres of marginal land the government expects to retire from agriculture. [The program of the committee was outlined in this department several weeks ago.] The three men who are working on the program expect to hand in their report on a nationwide plan within a short time.

Report Provides for Buying Areas.

It is known that part one of this report will provide for the purchase [one year lease with option to buy to hasten possession and against error] of a large number of migratory waterfowl nesting areas in such states where the birds naturally multiply if given proper environment and food supplies. Part two of the plan will be concerned with a nationwide upland game restoration program with specific projects and costs. It is not unlikely that Illinois may be considered as a suitable place for a 25,000 acre upland game demonstration area where all forms of desirable birdlife would be increased.

Kelner and Simko Star 24-20 Victory.

Marshall's lightweight basketball team dropped from its first place in the west section of the Chicago Public High School league yesterday losing to Tuley, 24 to 20, at Marshall gymnasium. It was the first league defeat for Marshall, which was tied with Crane Tech and Austin for the sectional lead.

Kelner, forward, and Simko, center, led Tuley to its second victory. Kelner scored three baskets and one free throw, while Simko contributed one basket and four penalty shots. Goldman and Witney starred for Marshall. Lineups:

Fourteen lightweight contests and one heavyweight game are on today's Chicago Public High School league schedule. The heavyweight game brings together Lake View and Waller on the latter's floor. Calumet, Roosevelt, Farragut, Crane, and Austin will be seeking their fourth consecutive victories in the lightweight division.

Irwin Blaha, captain of the Morton High school lightweight basketball team, ended his prep athletic career last Friday night when the Cicero quintet played Hirsch. Two weeks ago Blaha, after helping the Morton lights defeat Kankakee, 31 to 17, joined the heavyweight team, which won from Kankakee, 19 to 15.

Friday night's competition in the Chicago Catholic High School league will mark the final round of the sectional races. There will be eight games, four lightweight and four heavyweight, in the east division and eight in the west section.

The Oak Park lightweights and heavyweights will meet Proviso at Maywood Friday night. In another pair of Suburban league games Deerfield will meet Evanston's quintets at Evanston.

Sid Wolinsky, fast backstroke member of the Roosevelt swimming squad, will be unable to participate in any meets for the rest of the indoor season because of illness.

Michigan Will Meet Penn in 1935, 1936

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Pennsylvania, a frequent opponent of Michigan football teams two decades ago, has been added to the Wolverine schedule for the years 1935 and 1936. Booking of the games, which are to constitute a home and home series, settled Michigan's problem of an intersectional game for those years.

The first game will be played in Ann Arbor Nov. 2, 1935, and the second in Philadelphia on a date in 1936 not yet determined. It is possible also that the series may be prolonged beyond 1936, in view of the past rivalry of the teams and the fact that each still considers the other a logical intersectional opponent.

Chance Flight Wins Hialeah Feature Purse

Miami, Fla., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Coming through the stretch with a fine burst of speed, J. J. Bauer's Chance Flight courageously overcame a great early handicap to win by half a length in the six furlongs of the featured Granada purse at Hialeah park today.

The Greentree stable racer Nights End was second, another half length in front of Albert A. Baroni's Cash Surrender. A field of ten 3 year olds contested the event.

Fails to Show Early Foot.

Although he was well regarded in the betting, the Bauer gelding failed to display early foot and trailed the field for the first furlong after breaking fairly well. Wayne Wright sent Cash Surrender into the lead directly after the start, while J. R. Buchanan's Chiliad stayed close to the pace.

It was Chance Flight's second Florida victory. He ran the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5 and returned $4.70 straight, $3.70 to place and $3 to show. Somebody was next best regarded in the wagering, but dropped back after making a futile bid on the turn out of the backstretch and finished fifth.

Fair Joan Wins Opener.

The silks of Joseph E. Widener were carried to their first Florida victory in the opening race when Fair Joan led home a field of ten maiden 3 year olds over the six furlong stretch. Clonard was second, beaten by three lengths, and Curling was third.

Tug Wilson Is Named to U. S. Olympic Group

K. L. [Tug] Wilson, Northwestern athletic director, has been appointed a member of the American Olympic track committee for the 1936 games and will attend the first meeting of the committee which will be held in New York Saturday. The committee has charge of selecting the United States team and arranging for its transportation to the games.

While in New York Wilson will also attend a meeting of the executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association of which he is a member.

Hyatt scored four field goals and two free throws. Joe Reiff and Bob Gruenig starred for the Freighters, the former collecting three baskets and two free throws, while Gruenig contributed seven points. A capacity crowd of 2,300 saw the game. Score:

That Bear Story, Pooh! Here's a Tale of a Big Game Hunt

A story came from the Maine wilderness Sunday telling of an intrepid hunter, one John McEachern, riding a bear several miles through the spruce, and then neatly doing in his unwilling steed with a pocket knife. Johnny met the bear while he was inspecting his traps, and exhibited his attitude at once by discharging a load of bird shot at the creature and then taking to his heels. It appears that the bear deeply resented both acts and began to pursue Mr. McEachern. The hunter stumbled, the bear piled up over him, and then——well, Johnny found himself astride the bear and heading toward Canada at fifty miles an hour.

When it dawned on him that he was in a precarious position, he released one of the bear's ears, reached for his pocket knife, and opening the blade with his teeth [try that some time in zero weather], he plunged it into the bear's neck, thus ending his ride and the bear at one stroke.

Game Hunter Scoffs at It.

"That's the kind of stuff that discredits big game hunters!" he shouted. "People get so fed up on these lies they laugh up their sleeves when a ma ncomes along with true stories. Stabbing a bear in the back of the neck! Why didn't that Maine sissy stand up to the bear, face to face, and give it a break? Davy Crocket used to wade into bears with one hand tied behind his back and left their bones scattered knee deep all over Tennessee. Bah!"

Mr. Nichols is a lumber broker, timber-tract and mill owner, and when he isn't bounding about the mountains and deserts, tossing ammunition indiscriminately at birds and beasts, he spends his time in a suite of offices high in the Tribune Tower.

What's a Bear Among These?

Following his wrathful outburst, he leaned back and let his eyes wander over his taxidermal collection. A rhino peered at him over a formidable snout armed with two horns; a great moose that seemed on the very point of snorting, gazed vacantly out of the window. Lions, leopards, polar bears and other predatory carnivorae, reduced to mats, gazed up at their slayer.

"I tell you," repeated Mr. Nichols, "those tall stories make it tough for real hunters. You say you want a story that will beat the bear story? If you want something like that, you won't get it here." He scowled, and tapped his chin. "I'll tell you a true story, though; I'll tell you about the tenth biggest elephant ever killed in the world. I got him in Kenya colony, between Uganda protectorate and Abyssinia. We followed him for eleven days across a burning desert."

And Then They Found Him.

When Mr. Nichols first cut the spoor of this grandfather of all elephants he was accompanied by nine colored gentlemen, but as the merciless hunt went on they deserted one by one until only three were left.

The elephant, nine tons of him, covered nearly 400 miles, but Nichols and his three colored assistants finally caught up. The elephant had returned in a roundabout way to the jungle, where visibility is reduced to about 20 feet, and had passed near the edge to restore its tissues with a few trees, a ton of roots, and several dozen bales of assorted leaves. The sight of so much meat on the hoof dazzled the hungry, travel weary Nichols. Parting the vines and shaking a few butterflies out of his ears, he drew a careful bead.

"Then," said the lumberman, "I let him have both barrels between the eyes. He fell down, but got up again. I shot him again, this time in the spine, and his hind legs caved in, so I walked around and sent a bullet through the roof of his mouth into his brain."

Just a Little Sport.

During the pause that followed a tiny head on the wall seemed to catch Mr. Nichols' eye. He gazed at it absently.

"See that?" he asked. "That's a dik-dik — smallest antelope in the world. It weighs only seven or eight pounds soaking wet, with a rock tied to its neck. Well, I shot that with a shotgun, as you would a rabbit, not far from where I bagged the world's tenth biggest elephant. Quite a difference between eight pound and nine tons."

He was still muttering about hunting liars when he was asked what became of the elephant.

"I got the tusks home," he said, "but I gave the tail hairs away. They're supposed to be lucky, you know. The feet have become umbrella stands. Where are the ears? Why, we're standing on them right now."

TRADE RUMORS FLY AS OWNERS PLAN FOR MEET

Deals May Be Made Next Week in East.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Approach of the inter-league meetings next week, offering Major league owners a final chance to bolster their clubs, has revived trade rumors.

The 1933 champions, the Giants in the National league and the Senators in the American league, seem certain to stand pat on what they have, along with the Athletics. The Cubs, Cardinals and Pirates.

But aside from these six there isn't a club in either league that won't listen to reason. The Yanks lead today with rumors of a trade with the Browns, strengthened by the fact that Louis B. Von Weise, St. Louis president, spent last week-end here. The only logical reason for the visit seems to have been dickering with Ed Barrow, Yankee business manager.

Hurst May Go.

The Yanks still are after George Blaeholder, Browns right handed pitcher, who has spent almost an entire Major league career being sought by the New York management. In the Yankee side of the barter, which has been threatened all winter, the names of two shortstops, Lyn Lary and Frank Crosetti, have been mentioned, along with pitchers Red Ruffing and Danny MacFayden. All are considered trading material in the Yankee quest for a reliable right hander and an able bodied, hitting outfielder to aid Young Ben Chapman and the aging Babe Ruth and Earle Combs.

Jimmy Wilson, new manager of the Phillies, has indicated he'll listen to offers for his big first baseman, Don Hurst, and more offers will be made for Cincinnati's Chick Hafey, whether or not Larry McPhail wants to listen. The Red Sox have six able bodied left handed pitchers, headed by Robert Moses Grove and Rube Walberg, who are not on the market, but some of the others offer means whereby Boston's need for more punch in the infield can be satisfied.

Yankees Seek Averill.

If the Cleveland Indians trade, the Yankees probably will get Earl Averill, whom they crave, but the price in players and cash is certain to be high. Joe Stripp, Brooklyn third baseman, is reported on the block, and the Braves, needing infield batting strength to be dangerous this year, are interested in him, as well as Hurst of the Phillies.

Bob Quinn, Brooklyn business manager, was absent from his usual haunts today and he might have been talking to Bill McKechnie of the Braves. Boston could use several of the Dodgers, particularly First Baseman Sam Leslie, Second Baseman Tony Cuccinello to replace Rabbit Maranville, or the first holdouts of the year, Hackenschmidt Wilson and Al Lopez, the catcher.

Giants Sign Bill.

The man who traded all these out of Brooklyn might just as well go along with them for his own safety, however, the temper of the Brooklyn faithful being what it is.

One fan, wishing to be of assistance, wrote Quinn suggesting a solution of the Brooklyn problems would be to send Leslie and a second string catcher to Boston for 'Wally Berger and Ed Brandt, the one a great outfielder, the other a star southpaw, a deal in which McKechnie also would get apoplexy.

The Giants contributed their quota of daily information to the general situation, announcing the signing for 1934 of Herman Bell, right handed relief pitcher, and Fresco Thompson, infield replacement from Buffalo.

A. A. STAGG WILL ARRIVE TODAY TO VISIT HIS SON

A. A. Stagg will arrive today for his first visit to Chicago since he left the University of Chicago to become head football coach at the College of the Pacific at Stockton, Cal.

He will speak in Pittsburgh next week before returning to Chicago on his way back to the coast.

BEARS TO START WORK TODAY ON FOOTBALL MOVIE

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—George Halas, manager of the Chicago Bears, today signed a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film studio for the Bears to appear in a motion picture short. Work will commence tomorrow morning.

The players will be conveyed by bus to Loyola campus gridiron for their film "location."

A monologue expert from the studio will supply sound track explanations, descriptions, and biographies to accompany the introduction of Red Grange and other stars demonstrations of plays, methods of blocking, and points on defensive and offensive technique.

May Recruit Players.

All of the Bears will remain here to take part in the film, and Halas may recruit several other national pro league players, now on the coast, to supplement his squad in scenes showing two complete teams lining up.

The Bears probably will play their next game in San Diego, and may play a fifth California game at San Francisco later. The Bears have won all three of their California contests from teams made up of far west all-stars, by decisive scores.

Injured Players Recovering.

Dukelsky Is Given Permit for 2 Bouts

Solly Dukelsky, who signed to meet Johnny Phagan at Marigold Gardens Monday prior to a match with Kurt Ogren at Arcadia Gardens Thursday, was granted permission by the state boxing commission yesterday to go through with both bouts. There is a rule forbidding windup boxers to fight more than once every five days. The Ogren engagement is set for ten rounds and the Phagan match for eight.

Ogren and Dukelsky will finish sparring today. They are to do only light loosening up exercises tomorrow. Ogren was near the stipulated poundage of 161 yesterday. Dukelsky probably will scale a little over 157 pounds, the weight at which he whipped Jack King last week.

Nine bouts will comprise the amateur boxing card tonight at Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway. Contests already arranged follow:

Tony Zale vs. George Richardson, 160.
Stan Molarski vs. Mike O'Doul, 130.
Frank Schultz vs. Frank Agnes, 122.
Nestor Bruggman vs. Jimmy Doyle, 147.
Mike De Kovic vs. Nick Podlewski, 175.
Eldon Butler vs. Bill Koiny, 175.

Lou Terry, St. Louis lightweight, and Maxie Strub are matched for a 12 round bout Feb. 9 at Louisville, Ky. . . . Joe Coffey, promoter, has recovered from a serious illness of several weeks. . . . Tony Dalessio, amateur lightweight, has taken out a license to box pro as Tony Dello. . . . Billy Petrolle and his manager, Jack Hurley, passed through Chicago yesterday en route from New York to Duluth, Minn.

Nick Scalba, west side featherweight, will be ready to box again in a month after being idle since last September because of a broken right hand. . . . Seal Harris, south side heavyweight, and Manager Barney Abel, leave for Ypsilanti, Mich., tomorrow, where Harris faces Frankie Simms Thursday.

Champion Barney Ross will leave for Kansas City, Mo., Thursday or Friday for a match with Pete Nebo Feb. 7.

Frank Schultz, Phil Kearneally, and John Logan, C. Y. O. amateur boxing champions, will appear on the card Thursday at C. Y. O. center. Schultz will oppose Jack Sullivan. Judge Matthew D. Hartigan is sponsoring the program.

Chairman Joe Triner and Commissioner Packey McFarland of the Illinois athletic commission and Ald. Jacob Arvey wil present three of the championship trophies in the Jewish Organized Youths' amateur boxing tournament at the Jewish People's institute next Monday and Tuesday. Entrants will be able to train tonight at the Coulon and Franklin park gymnasiums.

New Mat Rules Laid Down for Londos Bout

Jim Londos and Joe Savoldi yesterday were given the rules, several of which are new since their last contest, at a meeting yesterday at the Illinois Athletic commission under which they must wrestle at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

The regulations stressed most follow:

1—The flying tackle is permissible, but the drop kick, its reverse, is barred.

2—Wrestlers must not throw each other over the ropes.

3—If a wrestler is thrown through the ropes he must return to the ring unassisted and assume a standing position before the count of 20.

4—In the event that either wrestler is injured, the commission physician will decide whether he is able to continue.

5—There will be a decision if neither scores the required one fall prior to the allotted 90 minutes' limit.

6—Londos' heavyweight title claim will be at stake.

7—The referee will count three aloud instead of silently as heretofore when either wrestler is pinned.

After the meeting Savoldi went to Trafton's gymnasium for a workout. Londos was scheduled to do the same, but refused to train at Trafton's so drilled at Postl's Health club. The procedure will be reversed today, Londos training at Trafton's and Savoldi at Postl's.

Judges may be appointed for the match, the commission indicated when it was pointed out by Ed White, manager of Londos, that the referee may not be able to score points accurately to arrive at a decision if the contest goes the limit.

CUNNINGHAM AND VENZKE RESUME FEUD SATURDAY

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The American attack on the world indoor mile record will be resumed Saturday night when Glenn Cunningham and Gene Venzke revive their 1933 board track feud in the Wanamaker mile at Madison Square Garden.

This Wanamaker classic, feature of the Millrose games, will be the first of a series of four big indoor races in which Cunningham, Kansas flyer, and Venzke, Pennsylvania sophomore, are to match strides.

Secretary Dan Ferris of the A. A. U. believes that Venzke's world mark of 4:10 for the indoor mile will be lowered before the season is over.

Golden Gloves Battles Open in Indiana with Lafayette Bouts

BY FRENCH LANE.

The first guns were fired in the Indiana Golden Gloves sector last night when the annual tournament conducted by the Lafayette Journal and Courier got under way.

Preliminary battles were fought in some of the divisions. Other first round scraps will take place Thursday night. The entry list for the Lafayette tournament was so large this year that it will require five nights of fighting to determine the championships.

After Thursday night's battles the Golden Gloves warriors at Lafayette will rest until Feb. 12, when they will see action again. The semi-final scraps will take place on Feb. 15 and the championship matches are down for decision on Feb. 20.

The shot and shell will start falling out in Iowa tomorrow night where the Davenport Times sectional tournament will open. There is a heavy entry list at Davenport also with four nights of boxing made necessary to determine the championships. The second session will be held Thursday night with the semi-finals and finals down for a decision on Feb. 7 and 8.

Davenport has always sent a strong team into THE TRIBUNE'S Tournament of Champions. Some of the great fighters representing the Davenport Times in other years were Henry Rothier, Farmer Miller and Johnny Balzer.

There will be Golden Gloves fighting in Michigan this week. The Bay City Times picks its eight champions on Friday night. On the same night the big tournament conducted by the Indianapolis Times gets started.

Reports from Indianapolis are to the effect that the best amateurs ever to enter an Indiana tournament are trained down to razor edge awaiting the first night scraps.

There will be three nights of fighting at Indianapolis before a team is picked to represent the Indiana metropolis in the Tournament of Champions. The Indianapolis boys will swing leather for the second time on Feb. 9 with the championship bouts scheduled for Feb. 16.

The South Bend News-Times tournament which opens next Monday night will bring out a spirited battle for team honors.

The Studebaker Athletic association has mustered the strongest team it has ever sent into the tournament.

Flyweights—Jimmy Taylor, Paul Nicodemus.
Bantamweight—Ray Harris.
Featherweight—Harold Hall.
Lightweights — Earl Wintrode, William Sipocz.
Welterweights—Art Harris, Hector Boudreau, Wilton Hamilton, Emery Suczs, Lewis Szabo, Charles Nemeth.
Middleweights — Charles Clements, Steve Keres.
Light heavyweight—Dave Clements.
Heavyweight—Mike Toth.

Under a new A. A. U. ruling, which permits five round bouts in amateur competition by special permission, the News-Times final bouts on Feb. 8 will all be five round battles. The preliminary bouts on the first two nights, Feb. 5 and 7, will be at three rounds.

Frain's Ushers to Play Hannin-Did-Its Quintet

Frain's Ushers basketball team will play the Hannin-Did-Its at Tuley gymnasium, Claremont and Potomac avenues, Friday evening.

50 Savoy A. C. Boxers Enter Golden Gloves

The scores of Golden Gloves entrants who appeared at Trafton's gymnasium last night for physical examinations and instructions included the Savoy Athletic club team. The Savoy entry numbers over 50 boxers, representing all the eight weight divisions.

The veteran Earl Watson will be in the welterweight class this year, his fourth attempt for a diamond studded Golden Glove. Watson was the runnerup in the lightweight division to Chauncey Crain in 1930 and to Danny Neenan in 1931. Last year he qualified for the Tournament of Champions at the Stadium, but he was eliminated by the welterweight representative from Nashville, Tenn. Earl is 22 years old and this is his sixth year in amateur boxing.

Russell Hagstrom, 23 year old boxer from the Allerton gymnasium, isn't taking any chances on weakening himself for his Golden Gloves test. Though Hagstrom only weighs 162 pounds, he plans to compete in the 175 pound division. He fears he could not take off two pounds to make the middleweight limit without losing strength. Hagstrom, an unemployed electrician, who was a guide at A Century of Progress last year, holds the 1933 World's Fair and Chicago Y. M. C. A. light heavyweight titles.

Arthur Brewer, Central A. A. U. featherweight runnerup to Jimmy Christy last year, expects to defeat Jimmy Dunnington for a community championship on the south side next Tuesday as a warmup for Golden Gloves. Brewer, 19 years old, already has won the Midwest Athletic association at the Arcadia Gardens. He qualified from the south side in last year's Golden Gloves tourney.

Erik Hanson, a messenger for the Western Union Telegraph company, expects to deliver his most important message to friends in the shape of the middleweight championship in the novice division. He lost to Johnny Phagan and Freddy Caserio in matches four years ago. He is 20 years old.

The Chicago Deaf Demons Athletic club will be represented by Herman Vanderplow Jr. who weighs 149 pounds, is 22 years old and has done most of his boxing at a neighborhood fire department gym.

You can't keep a good boy down, according to Emil Macias of Leon, Spain. He was rejected last week because of failure to bring along the written consent of his parents, who are in Leon. Last night he solved the problem by having his uncle, Ray Macias, give the required permission as his guardian. Emil is a spinner of tennis racquets for the E. P. Juneman corporation at 1100 West 47th place.

Chet Le Vere, 18 year old light heavyweight, is confident he will win a title, following his victory over Ambrose Geohagan, 1931 Golden Gloves runnerup, in a recent tournament on the south side. Le Vere, who has six straight matches, fights Ed Jones for the Savoy Athletic club championship tonight.

You know how it is. It was the wind. Then that whack-blanked trap. And the caddy sneezed. But when you get home for lunch or supper that hundred plus doesn't seem so ferocious. Not when you're relaxed. With a steaming fragrant cup of Hills Bros. Coffee before you. There's a friendly quality in the deep goodness of Hills Bros. Coffee that makes the end of the day more enjoyable. And helps to make the morning bearable. If you haven't tasted Hills Bros. Coffee, tear out this reminder. Give it to the little lady who manages your home and maybe beats you at golf. Tell her to always ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name. And tell her Hills Bros. Coffee is more economical to serve because of its rich abundance of flavor. It goes farther and tastes better than "bargain counter" coffees.

BERLIN REFUSES TO RECONSIDER DEBT PAYMENTS

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Hope for a successful conclusion to the conference on German transfer moratorium in the direction of immediate improvement for American creditors began to fade today when, after an all day session with American and British representatives, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht declined to reconsider his reduction of German cash payments to 30 per cent, beginning Jan. 1.

As a result the deadlock between Germany and her creditors is complete, since the German repudiation of the so-called discriminatory accord under which the Swiss and Dutch creditors get payment in full, and against which America and Britain protested, is held to be impossible.

Tomorrow the creditors' representatives will meet Dr. Schacht again. But little hope is entertained on either side that they will change the existing situation.

Western Roads Make Plans to Air Condition 300 Cars

The western railroads have decided to air condition 300 passenger cars, including club cars, dining cars, lounge and observation cars, according to H. G. Taylor, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives. Mr. Taylor stated that final plans have not been completed, but the new air conditioned cars will be available for use this spring. The western railroads agreed some time ago to announce installation of air conditioned cars collectively so as not to give one road a competitive advantage over another.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON EXPECTATIONS OF CROP DAMAGE

Upturn in Commodities Is Also an Influence.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A combination of bullish crop news and strength in stocks, cotton and other commodities sent wheat prices soaring yesterday to a new high since Nov. 21. May advanced 2⅝ cents to 92¾ cents at the close.

The trade construed the passage of the money bill as indicating inflation in some form would not be long postponed and this was a factor in stimulating speculative interest in all commodities.

Wheat gained 2⅛ to 2⅜ cents, corn ⅝ cent, oats ½ to ⅝ cent, rye ⅛ cent, and barley 1 cent. Cotton was marked up more than $1 a bale, silver about 1 cent an ounce, hides 13 to 15 points, coffee 12 to 17 points, cottonseed oil 16 to 18 points, and rubber 51 to 55 points.

Expect Damage to Wheat.

It was not until the last hour of the session that the grain markets became active when houses with eastern connections started to buy actively. Offerings were light on the way up in all grains.

A drop of 40 to 50 degrees in temperatures over the week-end over the winter wheat belt which caught the crop without snow protection led to crop damage expectations. Crop experts B. W. Snow, Nat C. Murray and R. O. Cromwell were in accord in expressing a belief damage might have occurred, especially in the states east of the Mississippi river.

Cromwell said damage will result in both the soft and hard wheat areas, especially the former.

Prices at Closing.

May wheat closed yesterday at 92⅝ to 92¾ cents and July at 90⅞ to 91 cents. Final trades in May corn were 52⅞ to 53 cents; oats, 38⅜ to 38½ cents; rye, 62⅞ cents, and barley, 52½ cents.

Winnipeg wheat was up 1⅛ to 1¼ cents for the day and Liverpool gained ½ to ¾ cent. Pressure from Argentina checked the advance in the latter market.

A decrease of 2,864,000 bushels was shown in the visible supply of wheat in the United States last week, or above trade expectations, and brought the total down to 112,335,000 bushels, a drop of 21,000,000 bushels in the last eight weeks. The supply is the smallest since July, 1930. A year ago stocks aggregated 153,694,000 bushels.

BURLINGTON LINE TO RUN SHORTER TRIP TO COAST

A new passenger service operating directly between Chicago and San Francisco will be opened June 1 when the new Moffat tunnel is placed in use and the so-called Dotsero cutoff is completed. Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington, announced yesterday that starting in June the "Aristocrat" will carry Pullmans which will be sent directly through to San Francisco, making use of the improvements in Colorado.

The "Aristocrat" will travel over the Burlington's own tracks to Denver, then over the line of the Moffat road—Denver and Salt Lake—and the Denver and Rio Grande Western to Salt Lake City, and over the Western Pacific to the coast.

The Dotsero cutoff is now 90 per cent completed and it is expected that the remainder of the line will be finished with the opening of spring. This cutoff is less than 40 miles long and it reduces the present route traveled by the Rio Grande line from Denver to Salt Lake City by 176 miles.

ILLINOIS RANKS THIRD IN LIFE INSURANCE SALES

Life insurance sales in Illinois totaled $504,546,000 in 1933, putting the state third among all states in sales, according to a statement issued yesterday by the research division of the Illinois chamber of commerce. New York and Pennsylvania sales were $1,151,605 and $528,158,000, respectively.

An analysis of monthly sales shows that the best insurance months in this state are July, November, and December, while the poorest are September, March, and April. The March figures, however, suffered from the bank moratorium.

SILVER FUTURES

Reports that additional legislation would be attempted at the present session of congress to attempt to restore silver closer to a parity with gold started a buying movement yesterday in the metal in New York that swept prices up over 1c per ounce at the extreme and the finish was about the top with net gains of 1 to 1.05c. Sales aggregated 8,025,000 ounces. Foreign bar silver was ⅝c higher at 44c, and new domestic unchanged at 64¼c. January and February closed at 44.60c; March, 44.70@44.80c; May, 45.20@45.25c; July, 45.70@45.80c, and September, 46.25@46.30c.

Western Union Telegraph.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly inform me if Western Union Telegraph company 5s, due 1951, are sound?—B. A.

Answer: Western Union Telegraph company accounts for about 80 per cent of the land telegraph business in the United States. It also has extensive cable connections, operates various securities quotation systems and conducts similar services.

Earnings increased steadily through 1929. Contraction of business activity, increased interest charges, and competition of telephone, radio and air mail resulted in a steady downward trend for the subsequent three years. A sharp reversal of the unfavorable trend of earnings was evident in 1933, due primarily to extraordinary demands on the system by the bank holiday, California earthquake and other unusual situations, increased activity in securities and commodities markets and quickening of business activity.

Gross for November, 1933, was $6,-565,000 and loss was $170,000. In November, 1932, gross was $6,110,000 and loss $550,000. For the first 11 months of last year gross was $74,965,000 and net income $4,205,000. During the corresponding 1932 period gross was $76,330,000 and loss $1,398,000.

	Gross rev.	Bond. int.	Times earned.
1932	$ 84,582,000	$5,357,000	0.84
1931	110,547,000	5,357,000	2.12
1930	133,236,000	5,048,000	2.83
1929	148,450,000	3,610,000	5.29

At the close of 1932 current assets of $23,876,000 compared with current liabilities of $12,722,000. Cash assets were $4,933,000 and bank loans were $1,500,000. There are no important debt maturities prior to the $15,000,000 6½ per cent issue due Aug. 1, 1936.

The company's obligations, all issues, are a business man's investment.

Press dispatches indicate that the administration at Washington is considering a plan seeking either to merge all communications companies or to place them under stricter government supervision. Sufficient information concerning this is not available to warrant comment.

Consumers Co.

Investors' Guide: I am the holder of a Consumers company first mortgage sinking fund bond, due Jan. 1, 1946, which defaulted on interest on Jan. 1, 1934. Kindly give me information as to procedure in this matter. I purchased this bond from a bank which is now closed and must handle my own interest, but lack the necessary information and ability.—V. V. W.

Answer.: According to Halsey, Stuart & Co., funds for payment of Jan. 1, 1934, interest coupons were deposited on Jan. 10. If you will send your coupon through again it will be honored.

PUBLIC SERVICE FINANCING COST HIGHER IN 1932

The cost of issuing its bonds and stocks by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois was 8.7 per cent in 1932, as against 4.85 per cent in 1931, while in 1932 such expense to the Detroit Edison company was only 5 per cent, it was brought out yesterday in the rate reduction hearing taking place before the Illinois commerce commission.

The admission was brought out in the cross-examination of Edward E. Hall, a vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings company, who a few weeks ago testified the utility company was entitled to a 7 or 7½ per cent return on its investment instead of the 6 per cent argued as fair by the commission. The utility recently was cited to show cause why its electricity rates should not be reduced.

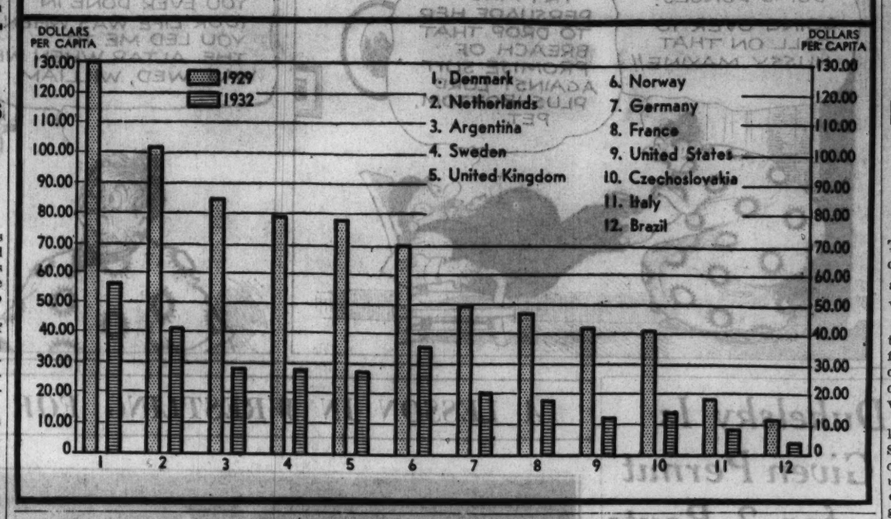
Under interrogation by Harry R. Booth, counsel for the commission, Mr. Hall admitted the high cost of financing the Public Service company was the result of "bad financial mistakes." He conceded that mismanagement during the Insull régime increased costs and that it was not altogether fair to saddle the results of those mistakes in rates charged to customers.

REFUTE CHARGE TAX RATE HERE IS UNDULY HIGH

The Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday attacked a bulletin issued by the New York municipal reference library in which the New Yorkers charged that Chicago has the highest tax rate of any large city in the country.

The New York bulletin, commenting on a study by C. E. Rightor of the Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research, fixed the Chicago rate at $73.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuations. The Chicago association pointed out that Mr. Rightor in his study had failed to take into account the varying levels of assessed valuations in different cities, and that in Chicago the assessed valuation is 37 per cent of the real value. On a basis of full valuations, it was pointed out, Chicago's tax rate is only $27.19 per $1,000.

"Baltimore, Detroit, Minneapolis, Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Boston, New Orleans, St. Paul and Seattle all have higher tax rates on a comparative basis than Chicago," the local association stated, "while Memphis, Philadelphia, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Denver, Rochester, Milwaukee and Louisville have rates not materially lower. The tax rate of New York is only 5.9 per cent lower than that of Chicago."



H. O. STONE & CO. BONDHOLDERS GET PROPERTIES

Liquidation Trust to Be Set Up.

BY AL CHASE.

Avery Brundage, chairman of the H. O. Stone & Co. bondholders' protective committee, yesterday announced that as the period of redemption had expired the bondholders of twenty Stone issues are now the sole owners of the twenty properties against which their bonds were issued. He said that letters giving complete information on all twenty issues would be mailed shortly to all of the bondholders.

Mr. Brundage said that out of ninety-four defaulted H. O. Stone & Co. bond issues which have been called for deposit [and which have had 90 to 95 per cent turned in by the bondholders] foreclosure sales have been held on forty-seven.

To Have Liquidation Trust.

"The reorganization now will be effected by means of a liquidation trust," he said. "We expect to set up a group of trust managers, probably three, who will operate the properties until they can be liquidated. The best method is to select business men who were bondholders.

"It's still a question whether the committee should be represented in the group of trust managers. We believe it's our duty to participate for a time. If we do, it will be a minority interest. The bondholders will control the future of their properties.

"We've already received half a dozen offers of ten to fifteen cents on the dollar for properties, but we believe it's better to wait until business conditions improve and they can be sold at much better figures."

Conditions Are Improved.

That conditions are much better are indicated by figures Mr. Brundage submitted. He told of buildings originally taken over by the committee which were completely filled with tenants who were not paying a cent of rent and hadn't for many months. All were given five days' notice and the committee began at zero occupancy.

During December, Mr. Brundage said, the average occupancy in properties operated by the Wenoso company [a subsidiary which manages the buildings for the committee without charge] was over 90 per cent.

URGE DEPOSITORS JOIN PLAN FOR WEST SIDE BANK

The depositors' committee for the closed West Side Trust and Savings bank has undertaken to obtain approval of its reorganization plans from persons representing at least $2,500,000 on deposit in the bank, it was announced yesterday.

If this condition is met, Judge Robert E. Gentzel has agreed to give the plan consideration, explained S. K. Stearn, secretary of the committee. Endorsers of the plan now represent close to $2,000,000 worth of deposits, he said. The committee is awaiting the decision of State Auditor Edward J. Barrett regarding the proposal. Offices have been opened in the First National bank building.

MARSHALL FIELD BACK ON PROFIT BASIS LAST YEAR

Sales and Earnings Rise Late in 1933.

With a substantial expansion in sales during the second half of 1933 Marshall Field & Co. was able to wipe out a $2,375,400 deficit incurred in the first six months and end the year with a profit of $97,600, according to a preliminary report made yesterday by John McKinlay, president.

After running 5 per cent behind in sales during the first half of the year the volume expanded sharply and for the last six months showed a gain of 30 per cent over the comparable 1932 period. Total sales volume for the year was $88,458,000 against $78,267,000 in 1932, an increase of 13 per cent.

The year marked the return of the company to a profit basis after operating at a large loss in 1932 and 1931. In 1932 the company reported a deficit of $7,987,200 and in 1931 a loss of $5,144,400.

Profit Rises Late in 1933.

Actual profit in the final half of 1933 was $2,473,000 of which all but $97,000 went to erase the loss of the preceding six months.

Each quarter in 1933 marked an improvement over the preceding quarter with respect both to total sales volume and profit. The following table gives net profit by quarters for the last two years:

	1933.	1932.
First quarter	*$2,073,500	*$2,294,100
Second quarter	*301,900	*4,107,000
Third quarter	955,000	*1,709,800
Fourth quarter	1,518,000	123,700
Net profit	$ 97,600	*$7,987,200

*Loss.

The improvement began in the second quarter, when large first quarter loss was succeeded by a much smaller deficit. Profits were shown in each of the last two quarters.

The following table shows sales by quarters for the two year period:

	1933.	1932.	Pct. Incr.
1st quarter	$15,433,200	$19,370,200	*20.3
2d quarter	20,561,300	18,646,000	10.3
3d quarter	24,745,000	16,357,700	51.3
4th quarter	27,717,000	23,893,900	16.0

*Decrease.

Comments on Recovery.

President McKinlay said he would allow others to decide for themselves whether the company's business had been benefitted by the NRA program. He was content to point out, he said, that the year of recovery coincided with the launching of the recovery program. The company shouldered considerable additional expense in order to comply with the program, he said.

Officials pointed out particularly to the showing made by the company in the final quarter of 1933 when the influence of the World's Fair was waning. In that period the company ceased adding the so-called sales tax as a separate item in its retail store as well as in its subsidiary, the Davis company.

The company ended the year with a current position of 7.4 to 1 as against 7.1 to 1 a year previous. Approximately 2 million dollars was provided for depreciation before calculating earnings. The figures reported are preliminary and are subject to later adjustment, it was stated.

Central Manufacturing District Plans Warehouse

A building permit was issued yesterday to the Central Manufacturing district for the construction of a one-story brick warehouse, costing $23,000, at 3501-29 West 47th street. The architect is A. Epstein. A permit for $3,000 was also issued yesterday.

Cummings Due Tomorrow on New Bank Job

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Walter J. Cummings, head of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, announced today that he will leave here tomorrow to take up active duties as chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company of Chicago.

Cummings was elected to the chairmanship of the bank early this month because of the intervention of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which holds a voting control in the bank through 50 million dollars of preferred stock.

Shakeup of Directors Expected.

While Cummings was preparing to leave his duties as head of the deposit corporation a shakeup of the directors of that body loomed. One other director, E. G. Bennett of Ogden, Utah, was apparently on the verge of resigning for some unknown reason.

Marriner Eccles, Bennett's business partner in Utah, was sworn in today as assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau on banking affairs. He revealed that Bennett is planning to return to private business in Ogden. Retirement of both Bennett and Cummings will leave the deposit corporation with only one director Controler of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor, who holds his directorship ex officio.

Roosevelt Has His Resignation.

President Roosevelt probably will announce his acceptance of Cummings' resignation tomorrow. The resignation has been at the White House for some time, but has not been acted upon. Employés of the Deposit Insurance corporation, of which Cummings was the first chairman, are understood to be planning a ceremony in his honor before he departs.

Cummings was brought to the treasury department by his friend, William H. Woodin, former treasury secretary, who put him to work as a special assistant untangling the wreckage of the banking holiday. Later he was made head of the deposit insurance venture.

U. S. STEEL ACTS ON PREFERRED DIVIDEND TODAY

New York, Jan. 29.—Interest in Wall street after the close of the market tomorrow will be centered on the quarterly meeting of the directors of the United States Steel corporation, at which action will be taken on the preferred dividend.

At the last four meetings, a dividend of 50 cents a share was ordered, or $1.25 less than the regular quarterly rate. Brokers believe that another 50 cent payment will be voted tomorrow.

The annual earnings report and the report for the fourth quarter will also be made public tomorrow.

Discussing "Bank of the Future"

Dollar Breaks on Passage of Monetary Bill

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—The dollar broke sharply in foreign exchange today on the passage of the monetary bill and the intimations from Washington that the President would promptly make use of his powers under the measure to devalue the currency. Falling steadily throughout the period of trading, the dollar declined to 62.28 cents in gold and closed there .73 cent below last Saturday's final price.

The depreciation of the currency in foreign exchange was the largest for any single day since Jan. 15, when the dollar fell 2.40 cents on the announcement by the President of the stabilization program which congress has just passed.

Today's closing price was the lowest since Jan. 17. The movement marked a decisive reversal of the trend of the last week when, despite heavy purchases of gold abroad by the Federal Reserve bank of New York, the dollar stubbornly advanced to reach a value, in terms of the franc, more than 3 cents higher than the 60 cent level set by the President as the upper range of devaluation.

The reversal of the dollar lifted sterling to $5.01⅛, a gain of 5⅞ cents above last week's final quotation and sent the franc up 7¼ points to 6.29 cents. The franc was apparently unaffected by the ministerial crisis in France. The Canadian dollar rose ¼ cent.

In Wall street the renewed weakness in the dollar was taken to reflect anticipation that the administration would announce devaluation within the next day or so, thereby making available the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

RISE IN STEEL OUTPUT IS ACCEPTED AS HINT OF MAJOR UPSWING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—Steel operations in the United States have expanded 1.9 points to 34.4 per cent of capacity in the last week, according to the weekly compilation made today by the American Iron and Steel institute, based on reports from mills representing 98 per cent of the nation's steel-making capacity. A month ago the operating rate was 29.3 per cent.

This is the highest level since the institute began publishing its weekly figures on Oct. 23. The previous high was 34.2 per cent established in mid-December. A low 25.2 per cent was reached on Nov. 6.

Although the industry is slow in getting into its seasonal stride, the gain in operations was taken as evidence that a spring upswing of considerable proportions is in the making, particularly since the motor industry is beginning to order more freely.

December bookings of structural steel were the largest recorded for any month last year, they were 39 per cent above of November's, the American Institute of Steel Construction reports. Bookings for 1933 were about 5 per cent less than those of 1932. Shipments were 12 per cent lower.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The average rate per year on a bank account basis is 0.72 per cent for the recent offering of 91 day treasury bills maturing May 2, 1934, for which tenders were opened today, announced Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. The total amount applied for was $381,422,000, of which $150,320,000 was accepted.

CENTRAL BANK FOR U. S. URGED BY VANDERLIP

Chicago Industrial Chiefs Hear Plan.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Radically new departures in the monetary and banking systems of the nation to take the place of the present "emergency" policies were envisioned by Frank A. Vanderlip, New York financier, in an address last night before a group of business men at the Union League club.

As outlined by Mr. Vanderlip, the program will include the creation of a new government agency which he dubbed the Federal Monetary Authority, to take over and perpetuate the emergency powers vested in the secretary of the treasury under the monetary bill approved last week by congress. It will further provide for a more "positive" segregation of commercial and investment banking than was called for under the banking act of 1933.

Present Action "Temporary."

While necessary and expedient, the steps taken in the President's monetary legislation are "obviously temporary," the speaker declared.

The meeting at which Mr. Vanderlip spoke was attended by about 400 bankers, business men, and industrialists. It was arranged by Gen. Robert E. Wood and Vincent Bendix, who have been ardent supporters of the New Deal monetary policies. Both men have been closely identified with Mr. Vanderlip in the Committee for the Nation, many of whose proposals for economic recovery have been adopted by the Roosevelt administration.

The new monetary authority pictured by the speaker would in reality supplant the federal reserve system as a central bank, although perpetuating the system to carry on some of its present functions. The new agency, however, would take over the all-important power of issuing currency, which is would hold exclusively. It would also act as a rediscount bank for the federal reserve system, which now acts as a rediscount bank for its members.

Urges Variable Gold Ratio.

There would be no fixed ratio between the currency which the authority could issue and its gold holdings. Mr. Vanderlip said. However, he said, as a matter of control the gold holdings and currency in circulation would be published weekly in accordance with the practice now followed by the Bank of England and the Bank of France.

"The present system of vesting large powers in the secretary of the treasury cannot be continued," he said. "It creates a one-man central bank, although in spite of its giving the largest financial powers ever centered in a single person it still lacks some of the essential powers of a central bank for controling credit, managing the currency and influencing the level of commodity prices."

Under the banking reforms advocated by Mr. Vanderlip commercial banks, segregated from investment banks, would be allowed to make no loans except on self liquidating paper such as short term government paper, bankers' acceptances and other automatically maturing collateral.

Bank Would Be Liquidated.

The commercial banks would pay no interest on deposits and would be under compulsion to keep its assets absolutely liquid. On the other hand, investment banks would pay substantial interest on deposits, would operate in the call loan and short term but its deposits would only be as liquid as the investment market permitted.

The speaker also suggested the creation of a new system of mutual commercial banks with no capital stock and in which the deposits of non-borrowers would have preference over the balances of borrowing customers.

"The borrowing customers," he explained, "would stand in the position of stockholders, and their deposits would be liable to be charged with losses."

The new deal does not contemplate the destruction of the profit system, as is advocated by some of the advisers to the administration, Mr. Vanderlip said.

"It is rather to reform some of the glaringly bad practices of the capitalistic system and improve its moral tone with the aid of the strong arm of the government, an improvement which capitalists admit is difficult, if not impossible, to bring about without force applied from outside," he said.

U. S. Ready to Drive Against High Salaries; Banks First

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—A government drive against high salaries, a part of President Roosevelt's program to redistribute wealth, will be launched this week when the senate banking and currency committee scrutinizes and perhaps makes public the salaries paid by virtually every bank in the country.

Each bank has been required to report its salaries either to the federal reserve board or the Reconstruction Finance corporation and these reports have now been sent to congress.

They will be followed by reports of salaries paid by every public utility corporation and by every business house having securities listed on important stock exchanges in the country. This information is now being assembled for congress by the federal trade and power commission.

Seeks U. S. Control of Salaries.

With this fnass of salary data before it, congress will be ready to receive recommendations for salary control from the President. Attorney General Homer S. Cummings has declared flatly that the President hopes for some law which will prevent corporation officers from voting themselves large salaries.

Attorney General Cummings has studied the President's plans for taxing salaries at a progressive rate which would discourage or confiscate big pay checks. Small salaries would be exempt.

The salary surveys now being handed over to congress were ordered by the senate at its last session, when it adopted a resolution introduced by Senator Edward Costigan [Dem., Colo.] one of the President's radical supporters.

Report On Bank Salaries.

The federal reserve board, instructed to report on the salaries paid by every one of the banks in the reserve system, and the RFC, required to report the salaries of every bank outside the reserve system which has borrowed from the government, have been the first to complete their tasks.

Their bulky reports are now before the committee, and, it is understood, will be considered at a meeting this week. Closely guarded until now, the reports may be made public by the committee.

Both the federal trade commission, listing the salaries of every important business house in the country, and the federal power commission, studying utility salaries, say they are almost ready to report.

MEMBER BANKS CUT LOANS BY 7 MILLION; BUY MORE U. S. BONDS

A moderate contraction in outstanding bank credit in the principal cities of the country was shown in the report issued last night giving the position as of last Wednesday of reserve member banks.

The report, covering member banks in the 90 principal cities, showed an aggregate shrinkage of 7 millions in total loans and discounts from the preceding week. Decreases were shown in all categories but collateral loans, which showed a moderate expansion of 12 millions. Purely commercial loans again declined and stood 19 millions below the preceding week's total. Holdings of government securities were up 22 millions and investments in "other" securities were down 66 millions.

The credit shrinkage was accompanied by a moderate upturn in deposits. Indicated gross deposits of the reporting banks were 51 millions higher. Member reserve balances at the "fed" climbed 73 millions.

Following are comparisons of the principal resources and liabilities of weekly reporting member banks as at the close of business Wednesday [last three ciphers omitted]:

STOCKS RESUME RISE TO HIGHEST IN MANY MONTHS

Commodity, Motor, Air Issues Lead.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—New high marks for a year or longer were posted by a wide variety of shares today as the stock market resumed the bull drive where it left off the middle of last week.

Resumption of buying on a broad scale was in tune with strength in commodities and more indications that business was bent on expansion. Standard pivotal issues were for the most part shoved into the background again as traders concentrated their attention on low priced industrials and special issues among the motors, motor accessories, oil, shipbuilding, aviation, chemical and rubber groups which are held to stand the best chance of profit from government recovery expenditures or natural industrial improvement.

Final Prices at Top.

The market warmed up to the advance after a slow opening and showed consistent strength to the close, final prices being close to top levels for the session. There was nothing spectacular about the advance, the market merely plodding along under the steady impetus of quiet, well distributed buying.

Gains on the day ranged up to 4 points, but price appreciations for the majority of the list were limited to the 2 point mark.

Some pieces of lively news came to hand over the week-end, the most interesting being passage of the gold bill in congress, the French cabinet crisis and a committee report on regulation of the stock exchange. Since it had been taken as a certainty that the dollar measure would go through congress without material alteration from its original form its passage had scant effect on market sentiment. The street is now left to cogitate over its operation.

Commodity Issues Strong.

Rising prices for wheat and other leading commodities spurred buying of stocks when the market showed signs of turning stale. In fact, the best play was among shares of commodity affiliations. Airplane issues again were turned over in good volume, but their net gains were small compared to leaders in the farm implement, tobacco, silver, gold, rubber, chemical, and automobile groups.

Tobaccos had one of their occasional bursts of strength, their advances ranging from 1 to 6 points at best levels with Liggett & Myers pacing the group.

Aviation stocks were inclined to flat

New York, Jan. 29.—All classifications of bonds averaged higher today in trading approximating $15,000,000. United States government bonds spurted 1-32d to 11-32ds of a point on a turnover of $1,747,000, which is the largest for several days. Many domestic corporation issues were up a point or more, and leading foreign loans finished irregularly higher.

Today's rise in the corporation issues carried many well above their best prices in more than a year. In general, the best levels for the day were reached at the close.

Bonds of Western Road Drop.

Decision of the directors of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railway to pass the interest due on Feb. 1 on the road's 5s, due 1955, resulted in heavy selling. The issue opened at 19, off 3 points from the close on Saturday, subsequently going as low as 18½, and closing at 20, off 2 points. Other obligations of the road were generally weak.

In the foreign group, German bonds exhibited considerable strength on the belief that the present debt conference in Berlin might be productive of better interest terms for the bondholders. A number of the German issues were up 1 to 3 points.

French Bonds Higher.

French government loans gained fractionally to 1⅝ points as the work was begun to form a new cabinet. Latin-American bonds were irregularly higher, with the lower priced issues showing the best gains.

In the over the counter market, short term obligations of the United States government were higher. The new 1½ per cent certificats, due Sept. 15, 1934, closed at 100 3-32ds bid and 100 5-32ds asked, or an indicated yield of 1.25 per cent, and the new 2½ per cent notes, due March 15, 1935, finished at 100 14-32ds bid, 100 16-32ds asked, a yield of 2.04 per cent.

Commodity, Motor, Air Issues Strongest.

ten out after their sensational bulge of Saturday. Wright Aero was tame in comparison with its wild gyrations Saturday when an apparently lusty corner in the stock was defiated suddenly. This morning the opening sale of Wright was 5 points higher. There followed some rather sharp fluctuations, but with no repetition of Saturday's excitement. Wright closed up 1 point today, and several other aviation shares finished fractionally to a point or so higher.

General Motors Hits 40.

Among the automobile stocks, General Motors sold at the best price since 1931, when it touched 40. Chrysler stood about 2 points better at the day's high level. Hudson and Nash were other leaders.

Emboldened by the success of the play in Wright Aero, professional operators tried their hand with fair results in other stocks with small capitalization, as for instance McKeesport, Vulcan and Case. Case had the help of a buoyant wheat market and closed up 3¼, followed by other farm machinery shares like Deere, Harvester, and by the mail order twins, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck.

The bulge in automobile sales brought buying into auto accessories shares. Motor Products stepping out with a 4-point accumulation on the day in active trading.

Only scattered improvement was shown by rails.

Steel Shares Advance.

Steels were given a whirl on late afternoon reports of improvement in steel production. Bethlehem and U. S. Steel both scored net gains of more than 2 points.

American Telephone vindicated a lagging utility section with a rise of nearly two points.

Oils were churned around with fair results, some of the low-priced issues, including Vacuum reaching their best in more than two years.

Gold and silver shares were well supported for gain of 1 to 2 points, but coppers were only fractionally better.

SHORT COVERING PUSHES UP EGGS; BUTTER HIGHER

A firm tone prevailed in butter and egg furtures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Butter closed ¼ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, eggs unchanged to ⅝ cent higher, and potatoes, 7 cents higher.

Short covering in January eggs pushed the price up ⅝ cent near the opening, followed by a reaction of ⅜ cent. Deliveries after the close were extremely heavy.

Sales: Butter, 103 cars; eggs, 125 cars; potatoes, 2 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 1 car; eggs, 110 cars. Prices:

PACKERS AND U.S. DECLARE TRUCE IN PROCESS WAR

Firms Complain Bureaus' Purposes Conflict.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The packers and the government today reached an armistice in their war over processing charges on relief pork. Both sides joined in an effort to devise a new and satisfactory mechanism for handling hogs purchased for federal distribution to the idle.

After a morning conference with Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and other officials of the farm administration, a subcommittee consisting of government representatives and spokesmen for the industry sat down to iron out the difficulties which led Mr. Wallace several days ago to suspend all AAA negotiations with the meat packing industry.

Wallace Sees President.

The secretary, it was learned, was so impressed by the position of the packers that he personally carried their arguments to the White House.

The gist of these representations, it was understood, was that the packing industry is confronted by opposite intentions on the part of the government. On the one hand, it was pointed out, the Federal Surplus Relief corporation, backed by Mr. Wallace, is insisting that the price of hogs bought for relief distribution be kept down. The AAA, on the other hand, demands that the packers pay the highest possible price for hogs.

Packers Say Bureaus Conflict.

The packers declared themselves confounded by the inconsistency of these government positions and asked that steps be taken to devise a harmonious program.

The committee is composed of Howard C. Greer and John Holmes of Chicago, J. C. Stentz of Ottumwa, Ia., and W. R. Sinclair of Indianapolis, Ind., representing the packers; L. H. Bean and G. B. Thorne representing the farm administration, and A. B. Clark and W. A. Nielander of the Federal Surplus Relief corporation.

While today's meeting failed to bring the long-promised showdown between Wallace and the packing industry, some friction may develop when the subject of the proposed federal marketing agreement for the industry is brought up.

CATTLE AND HOG PRICES RISE ON COLD WEATHER

Meat Demand Increases; Lambs Steady.

Cold weather yesterday gave impetus of the upward swing of cattle and hog prices which began late last week. Further gains of 5 to 10 cents were scored by hogs against the pressure of rather liberal receipts, and new high marks for the last two months were made in various weights. Advances in fresh pork loins to the highest level since Jan. 10 stimulated action among the local city butchers, who deal almost entirely in fresh meats.

Prospects of having an increase of 50 cents in the processing tax Feb. 1 brought smaller packers into the market for tonnage, resulting in a clearance of supplies.

Hogs Highest in 61 Days.

The hog market has advanced 30 to 35 cents since last Thursday and was highest yesterday in 61 days. Numerous loads of selected light topped the list at $3.85, while the bulk of 175 to 300 pound averages sold within a range of $3.50 to $3.80. The general average at $3.60 compared with $3.20 a year ago, but, including the processing tax, the hog price yesterday showed a gain of 43 per cent, or $1.40 per hundredweight, over the corresponding day in 1933.

Cattle ruled strong to 25 cents higher yesterday, with the top at $7.35 equal to the highest price paid for full carloads since last August, and only 25 cents under the highest mark in the trade since December, 1932. A year ago yesterday top steers sold at $6.70.

Light Receipts Helpful.

Light receipts helped to bolster cattle prices. The run at Chicago, 12,000, was the second lightest for a Monday since Dec. 4. Light and medium weight steers fared best on the rise, while big weights slowed down late and part of the early gains was erased. A consignment of 1,085 pound long yearlings topped the market at $7.35. The bulk sold at $4.50 to $6.75, against $4 to $6 a year ago.

Butcher stock ruled strong to 25 cents higher, with federal buying helping the plainer classes of cows. Calves were mostly steady.

Lamb prices were a shade lower at the opening yesterday, but closed active and about in line with the average of last Friday. All interests were paying up to $9 for wooled stock. Old sheep were slightly higher, with top old ewes up to $4.50, a new two-year high mark in this branch.
